Management Under Differing Labour Market and Employment Systems

Editors
Günter Dlugos, Wolfgang Dorow, Klaus Weiermair
in collaboration with Frank C. Danesy
Contents

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contributors</th>
<th>XIX</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>XXI</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A. The Future of the Working Society

The Future of the Working Society

Friedrich Fürstenberg

Abstract .................................................................................................................. 3

1. The Image of a “Working Society” .................................................................. 3

2. Indicators of Structural Change ................................................................... 4

3. Alternative Interpretation Patterns .............................................................. 6

4. Perspectives for Management ........................................................................ 8

References .............................................................................................................. 10

Labour as Factor of Production or Yardstick for Distribution

Reinhard Blum

Abstract .................................................................................................................. 11

Introduction .............................................................................................................. 11

1. Production and Distribution in Traditional Economic Theory ................. 12
   1.1 Mercantilism, Labourism, and Capitalism ............................................. 12
   1.2 Socialism, Social Liberalism, and Democracy .................................... 13
   1.3 From Microeconomics to Macroeconomic Revolution ........................ 14

2. New Theoretical Foundations for an Old Paradigm ........................................ 15
   2.1 New Capitalism by Counter-Revolution .................................................. 15
   2.2 In Search of Microfoundations of Macroeconomics ........................... 15
   2.3 From Political Economy to Economic Theory of Policy ...................... 16

3. New Theories for Man Instead of a New Man for Theories ....................... 17
   3.1 Bad Fruits of Traditional Economic Thinking ........................................ 17
   3.2 Arrogance of Knowledge by “Strange Slopes” of Logic ...................... 19

4. Liberalism or Economic Liberalism as Ruling Paradigm ............................. 21
   4.1 “Ultimate Economic Truths” or Arrogance of Knowledge ..................... 21
   4.2 Social Costs of Man ................................................................................. 21
   4.3 Right Ways as “Third Ways” and Right Decisions on the Way .......... 22
   4.4 Public Wealth Through Markets and Democracy .................................. 23

References .............................................................................................................. 24

B. Theoretical Approaches to the Analysis of Management

Employee Relations

The Employment Relation from the Transaction Cost Perspective ............ 29

Arnold Picot and Ekkehard Wenger

Abstract .................................................................................................................. 29

1. The Transactions Cost Perspective as a Ramification of Neoclassical Economics .......... 29
Asset Specificity, Governance, and the Employment Relation

Louis Putterman

Abstract

Introduction

1. Theories of the Firm and the Employment Relationship

2. Williamson on Asset Specificity and the 'Hold-up' Problem

3. A Comparison of Williamson's and Knight's Theories

4. Asymmetry of Risk or of Ability to Bear It?

5. Teams, Quasi-Rents, Profit-Sharing, and Control

Notes

References

---

An Evolutionary View on Changes in Employment Relationships:
The Evolution of Organizational Control in the United States

Udo Staber and Howard Aldrich

Abstract

1. Introduction

2. The Concept of Organizational Form

   2.1 Labor Process

   2.2 Labor Markets

3. An Evolutionary Framework

   3.1 Four Basic Processes

   3.2 Environmental Characteristics

4. The Evolution of Labor Control Structures

   4.1 Handicraft to Factory Production

   4.2 The Rise of Large Firms

   4.3 The Rise of Managed Labor Markets

   4.4 A Decade of Change: After the “Oil Shock”

5. Conclusion

References

---

X-Efficiency, Managerial Discretion, and the Nature of Employment-Relations: A Game-Theoretical Approach

Harvey Leibenstein and Klaus Weiermair

Abstract

1. Introduction

2. Comparative Management Systems: A Game and Convention Theoretical Analysis

4. Norms, Conventions, and Motivational Consequences
Contents

5. Summary and Conclusions ................................................................. 90
Notes .................................................................................................. 91
References ......................................................................................... 92

Management from an Institutional/Biological Perspective ......................... 95
Hoyt N. Wheeler
1. Introduction ................................................................................. 95
2. What Is “Management”? ................................................................. 95
3. “Human Nature” and Management ................................................. 97
   3.1 Does Human Nature Exist? ...................................................... 98
   3.2 Relevance of Human Nature .................................................... 100
4. Management Response to Varying Conditions and Constraints ............... 102
5. Conclusions .................................................................................. 104
References ......................................................................................... 105

The Analysis of the Employer Employee Relationship from the Perspective of the Business Politics Approach ........................................... 107
Günter Dlugos, Wolfgang Dorow, and Frank C. Danesy
Abstract ............................................................................................ 107
1. The Enterprise and its Members .................................................... 107
2. Employers and Employees as Opponents in Individual and Collective Exchange Relationships ......................................................... 108
3. Non-Conflictive and Conflictive Interaction ...................................... 110
4. The Two Causes of Conflict-Emergence ......................................... 110
5. The Revision of Primary Goals vs. the Handling of Conflict ............... 112
6. The Two Basic Methods of Conflict Handling ................................. 113
7. The Determinants of Employer Discretion ....................................... 115
Notes ................................................................................................ 116
References ......................................................................................... 117

C. Management and Labour Market Systems ...........................................

Work Ethics in Transition ................................................................. 121
Burkhard Strümpel
Abstract ............................................................................................ 121
Introduction ....................................................................................... 121
1. Hypotheses .................................................................................. 122
2. Findings ....................................................................................... 123
3. Interpretation ............................................................................... 127
4. Consequences ............................................................................. 129
References ......................................................................................... 132

The Inflexibility of Labour Market Related Institutions – Some Observations for Germany .......................................................... 133
Norbert Walter
Abstract ............................................................................................ 133
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contents</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Introductory Remarks</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Causes of Unemployment</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. The Trends in the German Labour Market</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Excessively High Wage Costs – At the Root of the Employment Problem</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Cartelized Labour Market</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Social Boundaries of Labor Markets | 143

_Günter Endruweit_

Abstract | 143

1. Markets and Labor Markets | 143
2. The Stuttgart Labor Market as an Example | 144
3. Inadequacies of the Traditional Labor Market Concept | 144
4. A Social Science Concept of Labor Market | 145
   4.1 Local Labor Markets | 146
   4.2 Interlocal Labor Markets | 146
      4.2.1 Labor Markets with Migration Mobility | 146
      4.2.2 Labor Markets with Commutation Mobility | 147
5. Management’s Chances in the Definition of Labor Markets | 148
Notes | 150
References | 151

Labour Market Rigidities: Economic Analysis of Alternative Work Schedules Including Overtime Restrictions | 153

_Morley Gunderson and Klaus Weiermair_

Abstract | 153

1. Introduction | 153
2. Economic Determinants of Hours of Work Schedules | 154
3. Non Wage Quasi-Fixed Labour Costs | 156
4. Fixed Time and Money Costs for Workers | 158
5. Voluntary Overtime | 158
6. Restrictions on Overtime to Create Employment | 159
7. Efficiency Rationale for Some Labour Market Rigidities | 162
References | 163

The Impact of Environmental Trends on the Legitimacy of Trade Unions in Canada | 165

_Daniel Ondrack_

Abstract | 165

Introduction | 165
1. Legislative Trends | 167
2. Sophistication of Personnel Management | 169
3. Quality of Work Life | 171
4. Substitution of Technology for Labour | 172
5. International Competition | 173
6. The Outlook for Union Legitimacy | 174
References | 175
The Role of Management in a Political Conception of Industrial Relations at the Level of the Enterprise ................................................. 177
Roy J. Adams

Abstract ......................................................... 177
1. Introduction ................................................. 177
2. The Enterprise as Polity .................................... 178
   2.1 Autocracy .................................................. 178
   2.2 Constitutionalism ....................................... 180
   2.3 Democracy ............................................... 182
3. Why the Discontinuity? .................................... 186
4. Conclusion .................................................. 187
Notes ........................................................... 188
References ..................................................... 189

Management Between “Old” and “New” Production Concepts and Its Dependence on Factors in the System of Vocational Training and Employment ........................................ 193
Margit Osterloh

Abstract ......................................................... 193
1. Introduction ................................................. 193
2. Technological and Market-Related Prerequisites for New Production Concepts .......... 194
3. Qualification-Related Prerequisites for the Introduction of New Production Concepts ........................................ 196
4. Factors in the Vocational Training System and Employment System Which Influence Decisions in Favor of Old or New Production Concepts ........................................ 198
Notes ........................................................... 202
References ..................................................... 204

The Changing Nature of Industrial Relations in the UK and its Impact on Management Behaviour ............................................. 207
Mick Marchington

Abstract ......................................................... 207
1. Introduction ................................................. 207
2. The National Context ...................................... 208
3. Macho Management ....................................... 210
4. The Corporate Context .................................... 212
5. Variations in Management Style ......................... 214
6. Conclusions .................................................. 218
References ..................................................... 219

Trends in the Development of Industrial Democracy in Greece and Their Impact on Management Discretion ........................................... 221
Andreas Nikolopoulos

Abstract ......................................................... 221
1. Introduction ................................................. 221
2. Typical Features .......................................... 221
3. Relations in the Field of Companies .................... 223
   3.1 Legal Settlements ...................................... 223
   3.2 Factors Which Determine Bargaining Behaviour ........................................ 224
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contents</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>3.3 Criticism</td>
<td>225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Limitations in the Management’s Bargaining Ability</td>
<td>225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Politics for the Settlement of Conflicts</td>
<td>228</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notes</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>230</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Future Trends in the Greek Labour Market</td>
<td>233</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Athanasios N. Stathopoulos</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abstract</td>
<td>233</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1. Introduction</td>
<td>233</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. The Greek Labour Market as a Demographic Problem Before and After World War II</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.1 Historical Evolution of the Greek Labour Force Profile</td>
<td>234</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.2 Main Factors Contributing to the Changes in the Labour Force Profile</td>
<td>236</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.2.1 Industrialization of Greece</td>
<td>236</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.2.2 Tourist Development</td>
<td>236</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.2.3 Development of Merchant Marine</td>
<td>237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.2.4 Emigration and Repatriation</td>
<td>237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.2.5 Evolution of Education</td>
<td>238</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. The Present Situation in the Labour Market</td>
<td>238</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.1 Problematic Redistribution of Income to the Labour Force</td>
<td>238</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.2 The General Change of the Climate in the Private Sector</td>
<td>241</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.3 The Increase of the Production Cost and Increase of Unemployment</td>
<td>242</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.4 The Promotion of Small Industry</td>
<td>242</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.5 The Continuous Pressures Exercised by the Labour Force</td>
<td>242</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. The Perspective in the Labour Market</td>
<td>243</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.1 First Alternative</td>
<td>243</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.2 Second Alternative</td>
<td>244</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Conclusions</td>
<td>245</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>245</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Employment Policy in the USSR – Limitations on Enterprises’ Personnel and Wage Policies</td>
<td>247</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hans-Erich Gramatzki</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abstract</td>
<td>247</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1. Introductory Remarks</td>
<td>247</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Central Planning and Enterprise Powers</td>
<td>249</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Central Planning and Regulation of Labor and Wages</td>
<td>250</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. The Soviet Labor Market</td>
<td>252</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Enterprise Labor and Wage Policy</td>
<td>254</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6. Reforms and Experiments</td>
<td>255</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7. Concluding Remarks</td>
<td>258</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>258</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Development of the Labour Market in Poland – Restrictions for</td>
<td>261</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Management</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jerzy Kortan</td>
<td>261</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abstract</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>271</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
The Changing Industrial Relations Scene in Japan and its Impact on Managerial Behavior .......................... 273
Robert M. Marsh and Hiroshi Mannari

Abstract ........................................................................................................... 273
1. The Japanese Economy in the 1970s and Early 1980s ................................. 273
2. Managerial Response .................................................................................. 274
3. Data and Methods ....................................................................................... 275
4. Management Discretion Concerning the Size of the Work Force ............... 276
5. Causes of Changes in Factory Size Between 1976 and 1983 ....................... 278
6. Managerial Decisions Concerning Technology and Size ......................... 282
7. Does Unionization Constrain Managerial Decisions Concerning Technology and Size? ........................................... 284
8. Conclusion .................................................................................................. 285
Notes ............................................................................................................... 286
References ....................................................................................................... 286

The Flexibility of Labor Market in Japan ......................................................... 289
Minoru Murata

Abstract ........................................................................................................... 289
Notes ............................................................................................................... 296
References ....................................................................................................... 297

D. Management and Employment Systems

Employee Participation by Codetermination, Labor Law, and Collective Bargaining .................................................. 301
Hans G. Nutzinger

Abstract ........................................................................................................... 301
1. Introduction .................................................................................................. 301
2. Limitations of Managerial Discretion by Means of Employee Participation in the Federal Republic? ........................................... 302
3. Some Basic Theoretical Problems ................................................................ 303
4. Attempts at Empirical Evaluations of Employee Participation in West Germany .................................................. 305
5. Participation and Managerial Discretion in the Federal Republic of Germany .................................................. 307
6. Concluding Remarks .................................................................................. 310
Notes ............................................................................................................... 311
References ....................................................................................................... 311

Predicting Austrian Leader Behavior from a Measure of Behavioral Intent: A Cross-Cultural Replication ......................... 313
Wolf Böhnisch, James W. Ragan, Gerhard Reber, and Arthur G. Jago

Abstract ........................................................................................................... 313
1. Introduction .................................................................................................. 313
2. Method .......................................................................................................... 315
3. Results .......................................................................................................... 316
4. Discussion ..................................................................................................... 318
References ....................................................................................................... 321
Anti-Discrimination Legislation and Its Impact on the Employment Relationship: The Case of Affirmative Action and Equal Pay

H. T. Wilson

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Abstract</th>
<th>383</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Discretion and the Manager's Non-Economic Functions</td>
<td>383</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Differential Gendering in the Workplace: The Impact of Affirmative Action Legislation</td>
<td>387</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Differential Gendering in the Workplace: The Impact of Equal Pay Legislation</td>
<td>390</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Conclusion</td>
<td>394</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>394</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Employee Severance – Regulations and Procedures

Walter A. Oechsler

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Abstract</th>
<th>397</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Employee Separation Procedures</td>
<td>397</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.1 Ordinary Dismissal (§ 622 BGB)</td>
<td>398</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.2 Extraordinary Dismissal (§ 626 BGB)</td>
<td>398</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.3 Limited Contracts (§ 620 BGB) and Resignations (§ 305 BGB)</td>
<td>398</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Regulations for the Protection of Employees in the Dismissal Process</td>
<td>399</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.1 General Protection Principles for Employees</td>
<td>399</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.1.1 Ordinary Dismissals (§ 1 KSchG)</td>
<td>399</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.1.2 Mass Dismissals (§ 17 KSchG) and Takeovers (§ 613a BGB)</td>
<td>401</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.2 Special Protection Regulations for Certain Groups of Employees</td>
<td>401</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.2.1 Workers' Representatives (§ 15 KSchG)</td>
<td>401</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.2.2 Other Groups</td>
<td>401</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.3 Participation of Workers' Representatives in the Dismissal Process</td>
<td>401</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.3.1 Participation in the Process of Ordinary and Extraordinary Dismissals (§§ 102, 103 BetrVG)</td>
<td>401</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.3.2 Participation in the Process of Mass Dismissal (§§ 111, 112, 112a BetrVG)</td>
<td>403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.4 Claims for Further Employment</td>
<td>403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.4.1 Companies with Workers' Representatives (§ 102 BetrVG)</td>
<td>403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.4.2 Companies without Workers' Representatives</td>
<td>403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Empirical Findings</td>
<td>403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.1 Frequency of Dismissals</td>
<td>403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.2 Reaction of the Worker's Representatives</td>
<td>407</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.3 Further Employment after Dismissals</td>
<td>407</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.4 Compensation Payments</td>
<td>408</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Theoretical Assumptions</td>
<td>409</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>409</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Measures for the Activation of Employees in Poland and the Limitations of These Measures. Leslaw Martan

Abstract

1. The Labour Market in the Eighties
2. Central Interference in Labour and Wage Processes
3. Final Remarks
References

Forms of Employment and Payment Under Conditions of Manpower Shortage in Poland. Ber Haus

Abstract

1. The Labour Market and Employment Situation in Industrial Enterprises
2. Forms of Employment in State-Owned Industry
3. Payment Methods in Manufacturing Industry

Abstract

1. The Fundamental Characteristics of Microelectronic Technology
2. The Impact of Increased Utilisation of Microelectronics in Enterprises
3. The Measures Taken for Spared Workers
4. The Impact of the Utilisation of Microelectronics on Job Structure
5. Microelectronisation and the Labour Union
References

E. Comparisons and Possibilities in the Development of Labour Market and Employment Systems

A Comparative Analysis of Worker Participation in the United States and Europe. Bikki Jaggi

Abstract

Introduction
1. Historical Perspective of Worker Participation in US Industries
2. Worker Participation in US Industries Through Collective Bargaining
3. Emergence of Participative Management
   3.1 Nature of Participative Management
   3.2 Critical Evaluation of Participative Management
4. Comparison of US Participative System With Plant-Level Worker Participation in Europe
   4.1 Worker Participation through Works Councils in Europe
4.2 Divergence in US and European Approaches to Worker Participation

4.2.1 Divergence in the Nature of Worker Participation

4.2.2 Divergence in the Goals of Worker Participation

4.2.3 Divergence in the Scope of Worker Participation

5. US Experience With Worker Participation at the Board-Level

5.1 Board-Level Worker Participation in Europe

5.2 Relevance of European Type Board-Level Participation to US Industries

6. Environments and Worker Participation

6.1 Impact of US Environment on Worker Participation Approach

6.2 Impact of European Environments on Worker Participation

7. Conclusion

References

Potential Constraints Upon Management Action as a Function of National Work Meanings and Patterns – Germany, Japan, and the USA

George W. England

Abstract

1. Introduction

2. The Meaning of Working Study

2.1 Samples

2.2 Work Centrality

2.3 Societal Norms About Working

2.4 Work Goals

2.5 Work Meaning Patterns

3. Summary

Notes

References

Chances for Flexibility in Cooperation Between Company Management and Works Councils

Ernst Zander

Abstract

References

Reconciling Efficiency and Equity in the Employment Relationship

John Crispo

Abstract

1. The Competitive Challenge

2. The Employment Relationship

3. Employer Responses to These Developments

4. Lessons to Be Learned

5. Conclusion

Index