

A HISTORY
OF
ICELANDIC LITERATURE

BY

Stefán Einarsson

THE JOHNS HOPKINS PRESS
for
The American-Scandinavian Foundation

NEW YORK

1957

Contents

Introduction . . . . .	3
Icelandic origins clear — Twelfth-century history — Viking literature — Origin of Eddic poetry — Origin of skaldic poetry — Western influence — East Norse origins — Baltic theory — Norwegian origin — Viking heathendom — Viking ideals — Aims of settlers — Creation of the Commonwealth and the Althing (Alþingi) — Landmarks in law — Introduction of Christianity — Noble families as carriers of literature — Appetite for news and the role of the Althing — Icelandic globetrotters and court poets — Ex Boreale Lux
Eddic Poetry . . . . .	14
Codex Regius — Edda Sæmundi Multiscii — The name Edda — Age of the manuscript — Sources of the manuscript — Sources of the collector — Eddic poems in the Codex Regius and outside of it — Names of the poems — Editorial principle — Scholarly opinions of age and place — Criteria of age and origin — Mythical poetry: heathendom and Christianity — Hávamál , Viking wisdom — Heroic poetry — Types of poetry — Metrics and form — Style
Skaldic Poetry . . . . .	44
Skaldic poetry originating in Scandinavia — Origin as court poetry — Origin in magic or epitaphs — Comparison of Eddic and skaldic poetry — Skaldic poetry actual: historical value — Uses of skaldic poetry: long court poems, occasional verse — Saga verse: conventional mixing of prose and poetry — Form: meters — Form: poetical diction and style — Development of skaldic poetry 900–1300 — Egill Skalla-Grímsson — Kormákr Ögmundarson and other love poets — Court poets — Sighvatr Þórðarson — Court poetry after Sighvatr — Háttalykill and Háttatal — Epic praise poems
Sacred Poetry . . . . .	69
Introduction — Twelfth-century drápur — Thirteenth-century drápur — Didactic poetry and Sólarljóð — Fourteenth-century drápur — Eysteinn Ásgrímsson and Lilja — Fifteenth-century poems and authors — The subject matter of the poetry — Meters old and new — Skáld-Sveinn and heimsósómar — Jón Arason
Secular Poetry of the Later Middle Ages . . . . .	84
Introduction — Danzar : dances — Rímur : metrical romances — Skiða ríma — Ballads: fornkvæði, sagnadanzar — Other popular forms — Loptr ríki Guttormsson: Háttalykill

Literature of the Clergy . . . . .	96
Latin alphabet introduced — Icelandic bishops — Schools and learning in the sees — Astronomy and computus — First Grammatical Treatise — Málskrúðsfræði (rhetoric) — Other centers of learning — Monasteries: The Church militant — Homilies, books of instruction, saints' lives — Íslensk Æfintýri (exempla) — Legendary kings' sagas — Jóns saga helga — Hungrvaka — Pörláks saga helga — Jarteinabær (miracles) — Páls saga — Style of the Church militant — Guðmundar saga Lambkárs — Árna saga — New style — Laurentius saga — Guðmundar saga Arngríms
The Earliest Historiographers . . . . .	106
Sæmundr inn fróði and Ari inn fróði — Landnámabók
The Kings' Sagas . . . . .	110
The origins and Eiríkr Oddsson — Oldest Ólafs saga helga — Karl Jónsson: Sverris saga — Oddr Snorrason and Gunnlaugr Leifsson — Norwegian works — Other works from ca. 1200 — Morkinskinna — Fagrskinna and Böglunga sögur — Snorri Sturluson — Sturla Þórðarson: Hákonar saga
The Sagas . . . . .	122
Definition of saga — Origin of types — Fornaldar sögur are oldest — Conditions favoring oral tradition — The free-prose theory — The book-prose theory — The spirit of the sagas — Style and composition of the sagas
The Family Sagas . . . . .	136
The oldest family sagas — The early classical saga period — Egils saga — Laxdæla saga — Eyrbyggja saga — Gisla saga — Bandamanna saga — Spreading of saga-writing — The late-classical period — Gunnlaugs saga — Njáls saga — Hrafnkels saga — Grettis saga — Post-classical sagas
Sturlunga Saga . . . . .	152
The compilation — Porgils saga ok Hafliða — Sturlu saga — Guðmundar saga dýra — Hrafns saga Sveinbjarnarsonar — Íslendinga saga — Svínfellinga saga — Arons saga — The style
Fornaldar Sögur . . . . .	157
Name and definition — Origins and oral tradition — Sagas in Saxo Grammaticus — The scene — The chief sagas

Romances of Chivalry and Lygi Sögur . . . . .	162
French romances and chansons de geste in Norway — Sources of romances in Iceland — Development of romances in Iceland — A bibliographical note on the lygi sögur — Lygi sögur and rimur — The literary motifs of lygi sögur — Supernatural elements and magic — French influence — Latin influence — Difference in spirit between saga and lygi saga
The Reformation . . . . .	170
Political-economic effects — Bible translations — Sermons and service books — The Lutheran hymns — The spirit before and after the Reformation
The Icelandic Renaissance . . . . .	179
Interest in learning — Arngrímur inn lærði — Ole Worm — Icelandic studies, 1600–1750 — Árni Magnússon
Secular Poetry, 1550–1750 . . . . .	185
Introductory remarks — Rímur (1550–1750) metrical romances — Vikivakar — Lyric poetry — Topsy-turvy style — Jón Guðmundsson lærði — Jón Ólafsson Indíafari — Jón Magnússon — Páll Jónsson — Einar Sigurðsson — Ólafur Einarsson — Bjarni Jónsson skáldi — Guðmundur Bergþórsson — Hallgrímur Pétursson — Stefán Ólafsson — Bjarni Gissurarson — Jón Vídalín — Páll Vídalín
Enlightenment (Neo-Classicism), 1750–1830. . . . .	206
Foreign influence — The leaders — Periodicals — Icelandic studies — Literature — Eggert Ólafsson — Jón Steingrímsson — Benedikt Jónsson Gröndal — Jón Þorláksson — Sigurður Pétursson — Jón Espólín — Sveinbjörn Egilsson
National Romanticism, 1830–1874 . . . . .	220
Foreign influence — The leaders — Icelandic studies — Literary genres — Sigurður Breiðfjörð — Hjálmar Jónsson frá Bólu (Bólu-Hjálmar) — Bjarni Thorarensen — Jónas Hallgrímsson — Jón Thoroddsen — Grímur Thomsen — Benedikt Sveinbjarnarson Gröndal — Gísli Brynjúlfsson — Páll Ólafsson — Steingrímur Thorsteinsson — Matthías Jochumsson — Kristján Jónsson — Indriði Einarsson
Realism to Neo-Romanticism, 1874–1918 . . . . .	249
Historical background — Origin of Realism — The Realists in Iceland — Progressive nationalism and idealism — Symbolism and decadence — The Danish-Icelandic Writers — Literary genres — Icelandic studies —

Gestur Pálsson — Jón Stefánsson (Porgiils Gjallandi) — Jónas Jónasson — Jón Svensson — Þorsteinn Erlingsson — Einar Kvaran — Jón Þorkelsson (Fornólfur) — Hannes Hafstein — Einar Benediktsson — Þorsteinn Gíslason — Sigurjón Friðjónsson — Guðmundur Friðjónsson — Helgi Péturss(on) — Guðmundur Magnússon (Jón Trausti) — Guðmundur Finnþogason — Guðmundur Guðmundsson — Sigfús Blöndal — Theódór Friðriksson — Sigurður Jónsson — Sigurður Sigurðsson (frá Arnarholti) — Unnur Benediktsdóttir Bjarklind (Hulda) — Jóhann Gunnar Sigurðsson — Jóhann Sigurjónsson — Jónas Guðlaugsson — Guðmundur Kambar — Gunnar Gunnarsson — Friðrik Á. Brekkan

Tradition and Revolt Between the World Wars, 1918–1940 . . . . . 288

Historical background — Traditional literary tendencies — Revolters in style and thought — Icelandic studies — Sigurður Eggerz — Magnús Stefánsson (Örn Arnarsson) — Þorsteinn Jónsson (Pórir Bergsson) — Jakob Thorarensen — Sigurður Nordal — Stefán Sigurðsson frá Hvítadal — Sigurjón Jónsson — Jakob J. Smári — Pórbergur Þórðarson — Gunnar Benediktsson — Halldór Stefánsson — Davíð Stefánsson — Jón Magnússon — Jóhann Jónsson — Sigurður Einarsson — Guðmundur G. Hagalín — Jóhannes Jónasson úr Kötłum (Anonymous) — Jón Helgason — Magnús Ásgeirsson — Tómas Guðmundsson — Davíð Þorvaldsson — Halldór Kiljan Laxness — Kristmann Guðmundsson — Guðmundur Frímann — Lárus Sigurbjörnsson — Guðmundur Böðvars-son — Guðmundur Ingi Kristjánsson — Bjarni M. Gíslason — Aðalsteinn Kristmundsson (Steinn Steinnarr) — Guðmundur Danielsson — Ólafur Jóhann Sigurðsson

After World War II, 1940–1956 . . . . . 328

Historical background — Boom in books — Special war themes — Other tendencies — Poets, novelists, and playwrights after 1940 — Icelandic studies—1940 and after — Þóroddur Guðmundsson — Jakob Jónsson — Snorri Hjartarson — Jón Björnsson — Jón Jónsson úr Vör

American-Icelandic Writers . . . . . 340

Introduction — Stephan G. Stephansson — Kristinn Stefánsson — Þorbjörn Bjarnason — Kristján Níels Július Jónsson (K. N. or Káinn) — Jónas A. Sigurðsson — Gunnsteinn Eyjólfsson — Jóhann Magnús Bjarnason — Sigurður Július Jóhannesson — Gísli Jónsson — Guttormur J. Guttormsson — Þorsteinn Þ. Þorsteinsson — Einar Páll Jónsson — Páll Bjarnason — Jakobína Johnson — Guðrún Helga Finnsdóttir

Bibliography . . . . . 355

On Pronunciation . . . . . 363

Index . . . . . 365