RHETORIC AND REPRESENTATION IN NONFICTION FILM

CARL R. PLANTINGA
Hollins College
Acknowledgments

Introduction

1. What Is a Nonfiction Film?
   Why Categories, Definitions, and Distinctions?
   Fiction and Nonfiction: Notes on a Distinction
   Past Attempts at Definition
   Why Traditional Definitions Fail
   Indexing and the Assertive Stance
   Ambiguity and Indexing
   Showing and Asserting in Nonfiction

2. Exemplars and Expression
   The Griersonian Documentary
   Objectivity and the Journalistic Documentary
   Nonfictions as Photographic Records
   Robert Flaherty and Arranging Scenes
   Expression, Not Imitation; Rhetoric, Not Re-presentation

3. Moving Image Icons
   Icons, Anti-Art, and Bourgeois Ideology
   The Referent and the “Ideology of the Visible”
   The Iconic Image
   Perceiving Pictures: Empirical Evidence
   Icons and Veridical Information

4. Indices and the Uses of Images
   Images and Evidence
   Digital Imaging and Photographic Evidence
   Doing Things with Photographs
   Making Claims with Photographs
   The Soundtrack and Sonic Information
   Images and Sounds in Context
5. Nonfiction Discourse 83
   - Discourse and Projected World 83
   - Selection 86
   - Order 88
   - Emphasis 97
   - Voice 98

6. Voice and Authority 101
   - Modes of Documentary 101
   - Narrative, Argument, and Categorical Form 104
   - Textual Authority and Voice 105
   - The Formal Voice 110
   - The Open Voice 115

7. Structure 120
   - Rhetorical and Other Structures 120
   - Formal Narrative Structure 124
   - Beginnings 125
   - Endings 130
   - Dramatic Structure and Representation 132
   - Open Structure 135

8. Style and Technique 147
   - Discourse Coherence and Editing 149
   - Image and Profilmic Event 154
   - Voice-Over Narration and the Interview 158
   - Musical Accompaniment 165
   - The Formal Voice Returns 169

9. The Poetic Voice 171
   - The Poetic Documentary 172
   - Avant-Garde Nonfiction Film 175
   - Metadocumentary 179
   - Mondo Cane and Documentary Parody 188

10. Nonfiction Pragmatics and the Limits of Theory 191
    - Questioning the Three Voices 192
    - Objectivity and The Twentieth Century 200
    - Illusion and Reflexivity 214
    - Truth-telling: A Conclusion 219

Notes 223
References 243
Index 251