The Media Studies Reader

Edited by

Tim O’Sullivan
Reader in Media Education and Cultural Studies, School of Humanities, De Montfort University, Leicester, UK

and

Yvonne Jewkes
Associate lecturer in Media and Cultural Studies, Open University, UK
Contents

Acknowledgements  viii
Introduction  1

Section 1: The Media and Modern Life

1. The Invasion from Mars
   Hadley Cantril  6
2. Mass and Masses
   Raymond Williams  18
3. Mass Communication and Modern Culture
   John B. Thompson  28
4. The Separation of Social Space from Physical Place
   Joshua Meyrowitz  42
5. Communications and the Constitution of Modernity
   Graham Murdock  52
6. Public Service Broadcasting and Modern Public Life
   Paddy Scannell  60

Section 2: Stereotypes and Representations

7. Rethinking Stereotypes
   Tessa Perkins  75
8. The Lost World of Stereotypes
   Martin Barker  86
9. The Power of Popular Television: The Case of Cosby
   Justin Lewis  91
10. Mapping the Mythical: A Geopolitics of National Sporting Stereotypes
    Hugh O'Donnell  101
11. Approaches to 'the North': Common Myths and Assumptions
    Esther Adams  110
12 Crippling Images
   ANNE KARPF
13 Moral Panics
   SIMON WATNEY
14 The Most Repeated, Most Read Messages of the Cult: 1949–74
   MARJORIE FERGUSON
15 The Social Role of Advertising
   T. H. QUALTER
16 Television’s ‘Personality System’
   JOHN LANGER

Section 3: Audiences and Reception

17 On Alcohol and the Mystique of Media Effects
   ANDREW TUDOR
18 The Television and Delinquency Debate
   GRAHAM MURDOCK AND ROBIN MCCRON
19 In Defence of ‘Video Nasties’
   JULIAN PETLEY
20 Looking at The Sun: Into the Nineties with a Tabloid and its Readers
   MARK PURSEHOUSE
21 Technology in the Domestic Environment
   ANN GRAY
22 Satellite TV as Cultural Sign
   SHAUN MOORES
23 Critical Perspectives within Audience Research
   NICK STEVENSON

Section 4: Producers and Production

   PETER GOLDBING
25 The Problems of Making Political Television: A Practitioner’s Perspective
   ROGER BOLTON
26 Keepers of the Castle: Producers, Programmers and Music Selection
   STEPHEN BARNARD
27 Priorities and Prejudice: ‘Artist and Repertoire’ and the Acquisition of Artists
   KEITH NEGUS
28 How Are Television Soaps Produced?
   RICHARD KILBORN
Section 5: Global Media and New Media

32 The Poisoned Chalice? International Television and the Idea of Dominance
MICHAEL TRACEY 345

33 Not Yet the Post-Imperialist Era
HERBERT SCHILLER 360

34 Where the Global Meets the Local: Notes from the Sitting Room
DAVID MORLEY 372

35 The Roots of the Information Society Idea
DAVID LYON 384

36 Disinformocracy
HOWARD RHEINGOLD 402

37 Postmodernism and Popular Culture
DOMINIC STRINATI 421

38 Higher Education, Training and Cultural Industries: A Working Partnership
IAN CONNELL AND GEOFF HURD 433

39 Media Studies and the 'Knowledge Problem'
JOHN CORNER 445

Index 457