Contents

Preface
List of Contributors

1 An Introduction to Justice, Political Liberalism, and Utilitarianism
Marc Fleurbay, Maurice Salles, and John A. Weymark

PART ONE THEMES FROM RAWLS

2 John Rawls's Theory of Justice: Some Critical Comments
John C. Harsanyi

3 Rawls, Responsibility, and Distributive Justice
Richard Arneson

4 Improving Our Ethical Beliefs
James Griffin

PART TWO HARSANYI'S IMPARTIAL OBSERVER AND SOCIAL AGGREGATION THEOREMS

5 Harsanyi's Impartial Observer Is Not a Utilitarian
John E. Roemer

6 Social Aggregation and the Expected Utility Hypothesis
Charles Blackorby, David Donaldson, and John A. Weymark

7 A Welfarist Version of Harsanyi's Aggregation Theorem
Claude d'Aspremont and Philippe Mongin

8 Preference Aggregation after Harsanyi
Matthias Hild, Richard Jeffrey, and Mathias Risse
PART THREE  GOODNESS AND WELL-BEING

9  Can There Be a Preference-Based Utilitarianism?
    John Broome
221

10  Harsanyi, Rawls, and the Search for a Common
    Currency of Advantage
    Robert Sugden
239

11  Utilitarianism versus Fairness in Welfare Economics
    Marc Fleurbaey and François Maniquet
263

12  Rationality and Want-Satisfaction
    Brian Barry
281

PART FOUR  SHARING THE GAINS FROM SOCIAL COOPERATION

13  Naturalizing Harsanyi and Rawls
    Ken Binmore
303

14  The Social Contract Naturalized
    Brian Skyrms
334

15  An Alternative Model of Rational Cooperation
    Edward F. McClennen
351

PART FIVE  RIGHTS AND LIBERTIES

16  Republican Political Theory
    Philip Pettit
389

17  Rule Utilitarianism and Liberal Priorities
    Jonathan Riley
411

Index
435