Contents

Acknowledgments vi

Introduction 1

1 A Passive Audience?
Structuralist and Effects Studies 7

2 The Active Audience:
Speaking Subjects 29

3 Perceiving is Believing:
From Phenomenology to Media User Theory 46

4 Meanings Are Ours:
Reader Response and Audience Studies 59

5 The Projecting Audience:
From Cinema to Cellphone 74

6 A Phenomenology of Phone Use:
Pervasive Play and the Ludification of Culture 94

7 Selling on Screen:
From Media Hermeneutics to Marketing Communication 112

8 Buying Brandscapes:
A Phenomenology of Perception and Purchase 130

9 Consumer-Citizens:
Crossing Cultures in Cyberspace 146

Conclusion: Media User Theory:
Going Beyond Accumulation of Audiences 173

References 176

Index 204