At the Confluence of Two Rivers

Muslims and Hindus in South India

JACKIE ASSAYAG

MANOHAR
2004
Contents

List of Illustrations 11
List of Tables 13
List of Stories and Songs 15
Preface to the English Edition 19
Preface to the French Edition 21

Introduction: Muslims in South India 29
   A Historical Overview 35
   Sociogeneses and Dynamic Acculturation 41
   Separatism, Revivalism and Nationalism 45

1. Society: Hindus and Muslims in the Village 55
   Shahabandar Village 58
      The Controversy about the Foundation 60
      The Village Layout 63
      Eating, Drinking and Marriage Customs 65
   Religious Buildings 72
   Festivals 75
      Muharram 76
      The Saint’s Death Anniversary 81
   Adjustment, Reformism and Modernization 84
      Ugadi 87
      Two Festivals Held Around a Pit 89
      Basava Jayanti 90
      Infectious Disease or Sorcery? 91

2. Demonology: Power versus ‘Powers’ 95
   Demonology in North Karnataka 97
      Demonic Nature 97
      The Demonic Continuum 99
      The Demon’s Name 102
Saint and Demon 104
   The Space of the Dargah 104
   The Actors and the Exchanges in the Dargah 108
Possession 112
   Attack and Exorcism 116
Power versus ‘Powers’ 118
   Goddess and Saint 120

3. Devotion: Sufism and the Fakirs 125
   Islam and Sufism 126
      Sufism in North India 128
      Sufism in the Deccan 129
   The Rifa'i or Jalali Fakirs of Belgaum 132
      A ‘Night of Ordeals’ 134
      The Seating Arrangement 134
   The Ritual Instruments 135
   The Invocations 137
   Music 140
   Dance 141
   Offerings 142
   Islamic Piety 142
      Annihilation in God (fana) 144
      jihad 145
   The Powers of Metaphor 147

4. Mythology: Let us Pray to Allah in the Name of Vishnu 152
   Rivers, Village and Temple of Yamanur 154
   Changadev or Rajabag Savar 159
   The Temple Staff 164
      Hindu Servants 165
      Muslim Servants 166
   Rituals 167
   The Annual Festival 171
   Some More Rituals 172
   Eclectic Cults in the Neighbourhood 173
   Power, Conflict and Symbolization 180

5. Cult: The Goddess and the Saint 188
   The Centrality of Hinduism and the Off-Centre Position of Muslims 189
CONTENTS

The Saint 191
Festivals and Rituals in the Dargah 198
Exclusion and Accommodation 201
   Traditional Rights and Conflicts 201
   Power and Acculturation 203
Tradition and Modernity 205

6. Politics: The Border, Communalism and Remembrance 209
   Border Dispute to Communal Conflict 210
      Muslims in the Midst of Hindus 218
      The Growing Intensity of the Communal Conflict 223
      Belgaum: 1984  226
      Belgaum 1991, 1992 and 1993  228
      Communal Clashes in Karnataka 230
      Muslim Memorials in the Communal Conflict 234
      Memory, History and Violence 244

Conclusion: At the Confluence of Two Oceans 250

Appendix I: Socio-economic Differences between various Religious Communities in India (1987-1988) 265
Appendix II: The Underrepresentation of Muslims in some Socio-economic Sectors in Karnataka 268
Appendix III: Hindu-Muslim Riots 271
Appendix IV: Differences in Socio-economic Development between the various taluks of Karnataka (1981) 275

Glossary 277
Bibliography 285
Index 303