Contents

Contributors xi

Foreword xv

Preface xvii

1. Douglas L. Medin, His Life, and His Intellectual Heritage 3
   Woo-kyoung Ahn, Robert L. Goldstone, Bradley C. Love,
   Arthur B. Markman, and Phillip Wolff

Part I. Language, Culture, Categories, and Induction 13

2. “We Are All Flowering”: A Cultural Account of the Naming of Plants Among the Tzotzil Maya 15
   Norbert Ross

3. Expressing Causation in English and Other Languages 29
   Phillip Wolff, Bianca Klettke, Tatyana Ventura, and Grace Song

4. Why Is the Concept “Living Thing” So Elusive?
   Concepts, Languages, and the Development of Folkbiology 49
   Sandra Waxman

5. Knowledge and Category-Based Induction 69
   John Coley, Patrick Shafto, Olga Stepanova, and Elizabeth Baraff

6. Defending Diversity 87
   Evan Heit, Ulrike Hahn, and Aidan Feeney

Part II. Types of Categories 101

7. On Different Types of Categories 103
   Edward J. Wisniewski, Emily J. Clancy, and Richard N. Tillman

8. Individuals and Their Concepts 127
   Sergey Blok, George Newman, and Lance J. Rips

9. Relational Categories 151
   Dedre Gentner and Kenneth J. Kurtz
Part III. Category Learning and Category Use .......................... 177

10. The Study of Concepts Inside and Outside the Laboratory: Medin Versus Medin ......................... 179
   Gregory L. Murphy

11. Beyond Classification Learning ........................................... 197
   Brian H. Ross, Seth Chin-Parker, and Michael Diaz

12. What Are Categories and Why Are They Coherent? .................. 215
   Arthur B. Markman

   Bradley C. Love and Todd M. Gureckis

14. Multimodal Simulation in Conceptual Processing .................... 249
   Lawrence W. Barsalou, Diane Pecker, René Zeelenberg, W. Kyle Simmons, and Stephan B. Hamann

Part IV. Concepts and Theories .............................................. 271

15. The Effect of Causal Theories on Mental Disorder Diagnosis .... 273
   Woo-kyoung Ahn and Nancy S. Kim

16. The Cradle of Categorization: Supporting Fragile Internal Knowledge Through Commerce With Culture and the World .... 289
   Frank C. Keil

Author Index ................................................................. 303

Subject Index ................................................................. 311

About the Editors ............................................................ 317