Preface xi

PART ONE • Basic Research Methods 1

1 General Research Strategies 1

The Field of Lifespan Development 2
  Influences on Development 3 • The Field of Lifespan Development: A Summary 4

General Research Methods 4
  Initial Planning: The Importance of Theory 4 • Research Designs 6
    BOX 1.1 • Using Analog Methods to Study Difficult-to-Manipulate Variables 12
  Critiquing Designs 13

Controlling Validity Threats 14
  The Participants: Today’s Problems 14 • The Participants: Tomorrow’s Problems 16
  The Experimenter 18 • Controlling Threats to External Validity 18
  Summary of Validity Threats 19

Developmental Designs 19
  Cross-Sectional Designs 19 • Longitudinal Designs 21
  Time-Lag Designs 23 • Modified Developmental Designs 23
  Developmental Designs and Methods 25 • Summary of Developmental Designs 25

Methods of Data Collection 26
  Data-Collection Strategies I: Addressing “How” 26 • Data-Collection Strategies II:
    Addressing “Good” 29 • Summary of Data-Collection Methods 30

Chapter Summary 30
  Research Navigator™ Exercise 1: Identifying Introductory Terms 31
  Research Navigator™ Exercise 2: The Scientific, Applied, and Collaborative
    Nature of the Field 32
2 Participants, Researchers, and Research Settings 33

Sampling and Recruitment 34
- Sampling 34 • Sampling Different Age Groups 36
  - BOX 2.1 • Using Multiple Sampling Strategies to Obtain Sample Diversity 37
- Recruitment 38 • Summary of Sampling and Recruitment Methods 39

Ethical Issues in Human Development Research 40
- The Institutional Review Board (IRB) 40 • Informed Consent 41 • Risks and Benefits 43 • Confidentiality 44 • Vulnerable Populations 44
- Summary of Ethical Issues 45
  - BOX 2.2 • The Effects of Peer-Reputation Measures 46

The Experimenter 46
- Standardization 47 • Experimenter Bias 48 • Additional Sources of Subject Reactivity 48

Research Settings 49
- Common Research Settings 50 • Obtaining Parental Permission 52
  - BOX 2.3 • The Neighborhood Walk 55
  - BOX 2.4 • Emerging Rules for Internet Research 57
- Summary of Research Settings 58

Chapter Summary 59
- Research Navigator™ Exercise: Identifying Sampling, Recruiting, and Consent Procedures 60

PART TWO • Research Methods in Infant Development 61

3 Newborn and Biobehavioral Assessment 61

Major Methodological Issues 62
- Sampling and Recruitment 62 • The Importance of Infant State 64
- Working with Vulnerable Infants 64 • Summary of Methodological Issues 68

Neonatal Assessment 68
- Common Perinatal Screening Strategies 69 • Neonatal Behavioral Assessment Scale (NBAS) 70 • Additional Behavioral-Assessment Scales 72
  - BOX 3.1 • NBAS Training as an Intervention 73
- Summary of Newborn Assessment 74

State Regulation and Arousal 74
- Infant State Assessment 75
Assessing Infant Mental Abilities  90

Assessment of Infant Learning and Information Processing  90
Habituation  91 • Expectancy Formation  92
BOX 4.1 • Physiological Measures to Tap Infant Learning  93
Instrumental Conditioning  95 • Object-Hiding and Deferred-Imitation
Paradigms  96 • Summary of Infant Learning/Information-Processing
Assessment  97

Infant Sensation and Perception  97
Touch  97
BOX 4.2 • When's a Touch Too Much? Infant Massage Therapy  98
Chemical Sensation: Olfaction and Taste  99 • Visual Perception  102
Auditory Perception  106 • Cross-Modal Transfer  108 • Summary of Infant
Sensation and Perception  108

Cognition  108
Object Concept Formation  109 • Categorization  111 • Space, Time, and Number  113 • Summary of Infant Cognition Methods  115

Testing Infant Mental Development  116
Bayley Scales of Infant Development  116 • Battelle Developmental Inventory (BDI)  118 • Summary of Infant Tests of Mental Development  119

Play Assessment  119
Methodological Considerations  119 • Infant Free-Play Assessments  120
Elicited-Play Assessments  122 • Summary of Play Assessment  123

Chapter Summary  123
Research Navigator™ Exercise: Object Permanence Methods  124
5  Assessing Infant Socioemotional Development  125

Capturing Early Emotional Development  125

Assessing Basic Infant Emotions  126
  Cognitive Maturity  126 • Emotional Elicitors  128 • Measuring Emotional
  Expression and States  129
  BOX 5.1 • Facial Expressions in Infants Across Three Cultures  133

Summary of Early Emotional Development  136

Assessing Emotion Regulation  136
  Definition and Basic Measurement Strategies  136 • Predictors of Emotion
  Regulation  137 • Summary of Emotion-Regulation Assessment  142

Assessing Infant Attachment  142
  Definitional and Theoretical Issues  142 • The Strange Situation  144
  BOX 5.2 • Modifying the Strange Situation  145
  Attachment Behavior Q-Set  148 • Variables that Predict Attachment Security or Insecurity  150

The Adult Attachment Interview  150
  BOX 5.3 • Is Attachment Security Universally Valued?  151

Adult Attachment Interview: A Brief Overview  151

Associations with Infant Attachment and Caregiver Sensitivity  152

Frightening or Frightened Caregiver Behavior  154

Summary of Adult Attachment Interview  155

Chapter Summary  155

Research Navigator™ Exercise: Infant Attachment  156

PART THREE • Research Methods in Child Development  157

6  Assessing Cognitive Processes in Children  157

Assessing Cognition I: Piagetian Techniques  158
  Piaget’s Theory: A Brief Overview  158 • An Introduction to Piagetian Methods
  160
  Summary of Piagetian Theory and Tasks  164

Assessing Cognition II: Recent Techniques  164
  Alteration of Task Requirements and Training  165

Assessing Domain-Specific Knowledge  167 • Assessing Theory of Mind
  168

Assessment of Sociodramatic Play  169 • Conclusions and Piaget’s Legacy
  171
  BOX 6.1 • The Museum as a Research Context  173

Assessing Information Processing in Children  174

Major Components of the Information-Processing System  174

Assessing Information-Processing Components and Capabilities  175
Contents

Information-Processing Speed 176 • Episodic Buffer "Space" 178
Assessing the Efficiency of Working Memory 178 • Assessing Retrieval Strategies 184
Summary of Information-Processing Methods 186
BOX 6.2 • Assessing Eyewitness Recall in Children 187

Chapter Summary 188
Research Navigator™ Exercise: Working Memory in Children 189

7 Assessing Child Intellect and Language 190

Assessing Child Intellect 190
Group-Administered Intelligence Tests 191 • Individual Tests of Intelligence 192
Reliability and Validity of Intelligence Tests 197 • Assessing "Total" Intelligence 198
Assessing Child Intellect: A Summary 200
BOX 7.1 • Does Television-Viewing Warp Thinking? 200

Language Assessment 202
Types of Language Assessments 202 • Language Development: A Very Brief
Landscape 203 • Major Considerations Regarding Language Assessment 205
BOX 7.2 • Talking to Myself: The Assessment of Private Speech 207
Screening Infants and Children for Communicative Abilities 207 • Comprehensive, Standardized Language Tests 208 • Comprehensive Assessment of Language in Naturalistic Settings 211 • Summary of Language Assessment 217 • Assessing the Cognitive and Linguistic Environments of Children 217

Assessing Adult Mentorship Behavior 218
Beyond the Parent-Child Dyad 219 • Assessing Learning and Cognitive Environments:
A Summary 220

Chapter Summary 220
Research Navigator™ Exercise: Intelligence in Children 221

8 Assessing Social Development in Children 222

Obtaining Consistent, Accurate Data from Children 222
Are Children Good Informants? 223
BOX 8.1 • How to Interview Children 224
The Use of Child Informants: A Summary 225

Assessing Self-Representation and Self-Esteem 225
Assessing Self-Representation 225 • Assessing Self-Esteem 228 • Summary of Self-Assessment 230

Assessing Gender-Related Thinking and Behavior in Children 230
Gender-Schema Theory 231 • Sex As an Independent Variable 231 • Assessing
Gender-Related Attitudes and Preferences 232 • Assessing Gender Constancy and Gender
10 Assessing Adolescent Development II: The Developmental Outcomes 291

Attachment and Intimacy 292
Attachment 292 • Intimacy 296 • Some Remaining Questions 297
Assessing Attachment and Intimacy: A Summary 298

Autonomy 298
Emotional Autonomy 299 • Behavioral Autonomy 300 • Value Autonomy 301
Some Conclusions About Autonomy Assessment 305

Identity 306
Erikson’s Theory: A Brief Overview 306 • Identity: Additional Methodological and Theoretical Issues 307
BOX 10.1 • Is Erikson’s Theory Developmentally Valid? 308
Some Conclusions Regarding Identity Assessment 311

Achievement 311
Assessing Educational Achievement 311 • Assessing Occupational Aspirations 316
Achievement: A Summary 318

Sexuality 319
Locating Research Contexts and Samples 319 • What to Assess? 320 • Some Remaining Methodological and Theoretical Issues 321 • Assessing Sexuality: Some Concluding Thoughts 322

Chapter Summary 322
Research Navigator™ Exercise: Adolescents and Sex 323

PART FIVE • Research Methods in Adult Development and Aging 325

11 Methodological Issues in Adult Development Research I: Biological and Cognitive Changes 325

Methodological Issues Facing Adult Developmentalists 326
What Influences Development? 326 • Sampling 327 • Maximizing Data Quality 328 • Summary 329

Assessing Biological and Health Ramifications of Aging 330
The Biology of Aging: Methodological Considerations 330 • Health, Disease, and Health Risk 332 • Summary 336

Stress and Coping: Methodological Issues 337
Stress: Definitional and Methodological Issues 337
Stress Outcomes 341 • The Assessment of Coping 341
BOX 11.1 • Parents are Hassled: No Kidding Around 341
Summary 344
12 Methodological Issues in Adult Development Research II:
Personality and Social Processes 361

Methodological Approaches to Personality Development 361
Trait Theory and Research 362
BOX 12.1 • Assessing the Personalities of Children 364
Stage Theories of Personality 364
Summary 366

Assessing the Context of Marriage 366
Marital Behavior 367 • Marital Cognitions 370
Marital Quality 372 • Summary 372

Methodological Issues in Parenting Research 373
What Child Outcomes Should I Predict? 374 • Parental Emotional Functioning 374
Parental Cognitions 377 • Parenting Styles and Practices 381 • Summary 385

Grandparenting and Intergenerational Relationships 385
The Theoretical Influence of Grandparents 385
BOX 12.2 • The Intergenerational Effects of Parenting and Attachment 387
Variables That Influence Grandparent–Grandchild Relationships 387 • Methodological Issues in Caregiving 389 • Summary 391

Career Development: Methodological and Assessment Issues 391
The Adult Worker: Methodological Issues 391 • Theories of Career Development 393
Assessing Career Development 394 • Assessing Career-Development Outcomes 395 • Summary 396

Chapter Summary 396
Research Navigator™ Exercise: Marital Satisfaction 397
