CONTENTS

Foreword viii
Laura L. Carstensen

Preface x

PART I. Introduction
1. Opportunities and Challenges for Interdisciplinary Research 2
Duane F. Alwin and Scott M. Hofer

PART II. Integrative Theoretical Perspectives
2. Theoretical Approaches to the Study of Cognitive Aging: An Individual-Differences Perspective 34
Christopher Hertzog
3. Integrative Perspectives on Cognitive Aging: Measurement and Modeling With Mixtures of Psychological and Biological Variables 50
Keith F. Widaman
4. Population Processes and Cognitive Aging 69
Duane F. Alwin, Ryan J. McCammon, Linda A. Wray, and Willard L. Rodgers
5. Consequences of the Ergodic Theorems for Classical Test Theory, Factor Analysis, and the Analysis of Developmental Processes 90
Peter C. M. Molenaar
6. The Missing Person: Some Limitations in the Contemporary Study of Cognitive Aging 105
Dale Dannefer and Robin Shura Patterson

PART III. Dimensions of Cognitive Aging
7. Challenges in Attention: Measures, Methods, and Applications 122
Joan M. McDowd and Lesa Hoffman
8. Everything We Know About Aging and Response Times: A Meta-Analytic Integration 134
Paul Verhaeghen and John Cerella
9. Age-Related Changes in Memory: Experimental Approaches 151
Susan R. Old and Moshe Naveh-Benjamin

28. Time-Based and Process-Based Approaches to Analysis of Longitudinal Data
   Martin Sliwinski and Jacqueline Mogle 477

29. Considerations for Sampling Time in Research on Aging:
   Examples From Research on Stress and Cognition
   Shevaun D. Neupert, Robert S. Stawski, and David M. Almeida 492

30. Cognitive Testing in Large-Scale Surveys: Assessment by Telephone
   Margie E. Lachman and Patricia A. Tun 506

31. Continuous, Unobtrusive Monitoring for the Assessment of Cognitive Function
   Misha Pavel, Holly Jimison, Tamara Hayes, Jeffrey Kaye, Eric Dishman,
   Katherine Wild, and Devin Williams 524

PART VII. Integrative Perspectives on Cognitive Aging

32. Animal Models of Human Cognitive Aging
   Gerald E. McClearn and David A. Blizard 544

33. Genetic and Environmental Influences on Cognitive Change
   Chandra A. Reynolds 557

34. Does Participation in Cognitive Activities Buffer Age-Related Cognitive Decline?
   Brent J. Small and Cathy L. McEvoy 575

35. The Added Value of an Applied Perspective in Cognitive Gerontology
   Matthias Kliegel, Peter Rendell, and Mareike Altgassen 587

36. Social Resources and Cognitive Function in Older Persons
   Lisa L. Barnes, Kathleen A. Cagney, and Carlos F. Mendes de Leon 603

37. Social Context and Cognition
   Fredda Blanchard-Fields, Michelle Horhota, and Andrew Mienaltowski 614

38. Dyadic Cognition in Old Age: Paradigms, Findings, and Directions
   Mike Martin and Melanie Wight 629

    of Cognitive Impairment
   Sherry L. Willis and Julie Blaskewicz Boron 647

PART VIII. Future Directions for Research on Cognitive Aging

40. The Future of Cognitive Aging Research: Interdisciplinary Perspectives and Integrative Science
   Scott M. Hofer and Duane F. Alwin 662
