India’s New Capitalists
Caste, Business, and Industry in a Modern Nation

Harish Damodaran

Foreword by Nandan Nilekani

palgrave macmillan
Contents

Preface xiii
Note on Numbers and Spellings xv
Glossary xvii

1 Introduction 1

2 The Old Merchant Communities 8
   General Trajectories of the Traditional Merchant Communities 10
   Post-Independence Trends 23

3 Brahmins, Khatriis, and Babus 48
   Business Brahmins 50
   Tamil Brahmins (Tambrams), Gowd Saraswat Brahmins (GSBs), and Others 55
   Khatri Capital 65
   Bhadralok and Babus 76

4 Kammas, Reddys, and Rajus 92
   Beholden to Cotton 94
   The First Wave of Kamma Entrepreneurs 98
   Telugu Desam Party (TDP) and After 105
   Reddys et al. 113
   The Telangana Dimension 121
   Case Studies from the Kamma Community 122
Contents

5 Kongunad Naidus and Gounders 138
   Antecedents of Commerce in the Region 139
   The Naidu Entry 142
   New Vistas 147
   The Gounders 152
   Case Studies 161

6 Nadars and Ezhavas 175
   Degraded Pasts 176
   The Nadars: How They Rose 180
   From Bazaar to Factory 183
   Emerging Fissures in the Nadar Community 192
   The Ezhava Route 196
   Case Studies 203

7 Patidars and Marathas 216
   The Backdrop 219
   Co-operative Capitalists 223
   Private Enterprise 230
   Case Studies 240

8 The Paradox of Northern Farming Communities 259
   Jatland Capitalists 259
   Prior Legacy 262
   The Incomplete Transition from Agriculture to Industry 266
   Plausible Explanations for Tepid Business Inclinations 272
   A New Dawn for Punjab? 277
   The Ramgarhias 280
   Case Studies 284

9 A Note on the Minorities 297

10 Conclusion 311

Bibliography 319

Index 331