Contents

For Publication .............................................. iii
EXPLANATORY NOTES ..................................... vii

Part 1 The Nakatsu Period

Chapter 1 Childhood

Section 1 Birth .............................................. 3
  Born Amid the Dynamic Currents of the Meiji Restoration ...... 3
  Hometown Nakatsu ........................................ 5

Section 2 The Hiroike Family ............................... 7
  Hanroku, the Father ........................................ 7
  Rie, the Mother ............................................ 12
  The Brothers .............................................. 13

Section 3 Primary School: The Rigors of Bullying .......... 14
  The Education-Minded Hanroku .............................. 14
  The Envy of His Classmates ................................ 15

Section 4 Transfer to Nakatsu City School .................. 18
  His Father’s Understanding ................................ 18
  The History of Nakatsu City School ........................ 19

Section 5 Tenure as Assistant Teacher ...................... 20
  A New Assistant Teacher .................................. 20
  His Decision to Enter a Normal School ...................... 22
Chapter 2  Student Days at Reitaku-Kan

Section 1  Encounter with Gansho Ogawa

Hiroike’s Failure of the Normal School Entrance
Gansho Ogawa, Hiroike’s Mentor
A Plan to Study in Tokyo
Failing the Entrance Examination for the Second Time
Fighting Chronic Illness

Section 2  Reitaku-kan: Working on Chinese Poetry and Prose

Hiroike’s Setting of a Goal
His Thoughts on the Relations between Sovereign and Subject

Section 3  Normal School Equivalency Examination

A New Challenge
The Pain of Youth
His Wish Is Granted

Chapter 3  A Young Teacher

Section 1  The State of Education

The Birth of Modern Education
Low Attendance Rates

Section 2  Katada Primary School

A Challenging Start
Establishing a Night School
Traveling Classroom
A Farewell Party

Section 3  Mada Primary School

Educational Reform
Climbing Hikosan Mountain
Chapter 6  The Publication of A History of Nakatsu (Nakatsu Rekishi)

Section 1  The Ideological and Cultural Background of Nakatsu, and Hiroike's Study .............................................75
  The Condition of Learning .............................................75
  Studying Far and Wide ..................................................78

Section 2  The Beginning of Hiroike's Study of History ..........81
  His Interest in History ..................................................81
  Perusing the Collection at Shinshu Gokkan .........................81

Section 3  The Academic Condition of Historical Science ........83
  Historical Views Based on the Meiji Doctrine of Enlightenment ..............................................................83
  The Independence of Historical Science ................................85

Section 4  The Unique Style of Hiroike's Historical Research ......86
  An Authentic History .....................................................86
  A Scientific Study of History ...........................................87

Section 5  Writing A History of Nakatsu .........................89
  An Agonizing Period of Creativity ...................................89
  The Completion of the Book ............................................90

Section 6  The Contents of A History of Nakatsu ...............91
  Nakatsu during the Edo Period .......................................91
  Nakatsu During the Meiji Period ......................................92

Section 7  Pioneering the Study of Local History ..............94
  Enthusiastic Reviews of A History of Nakatsu ....................94
  The Publication that Marked a Starting Point .....................97

Chapter 7  Hiroike's Charitable Deeds and Married Life

Section 1  His Charitable Deeds .........................................99
Honoring His Benefactors
Section 2 Hiroike’s Marriage to Haruko
- Hiroike’s Resolution
- Propagation of History Education
- Hiroike’s Ideology
- Financial Challenges

Helping Disaster-Stricken People
Section 3 Hardships in the Home
- Haruko’s Pains
- Separated from Her Family

Part 2 Rising as a Historian

Chapter 1 The Launching of History for the Layman

Section 1 Going to Kyoto

Section 2 Propagation of History Education

Section 3 Hiroike’s Ideology

Section 4 Financial Challenges
Chapter 2  The Results of Historical Research

Section 1  The Publication of An Unofficial History of the Imperial Household (Koshitsu Yashi) ..........127
Scientific Investigation into Imperial History ..........127
The Imperial Household and the Warrior Families ..........129
New Theories on the History of Japan, etc. ................132

Section 2  The Editing of A General History of the Heian Era ..........................................................133
Hiroike's Involvement in a Commemorative Project ..........133
A Guide Is Published .................................................135
Field Study .........................................................136

Section 3  A Shift of Interest to the Study of Legal History ..........137
From General History to Legal History .......................137

Chapter 3  Life in Kyoto

Section 1  Hiroike's Encounter with Tessai Tomioka ..........141
Tessai Tomioka .................................................141
Hiroike and Tomioka ...........................................143

Section 2  Hiroike's Economic Distress and Academic Hopes ..........145
Poverty and Hope ...........................................145
Hiroike's Passion for Study ....................................149
His Circle of Friends ..........................................150

Section 3  A Promise at Sumiyoshi Shrine ..................152
The Period of the Sino-Japanese War .......................152
Hiroike's Five-Point Promise ..................................154

Section 4  Hiroike's Meeting with Yorikuni Inoue ..........158
A Master Visits His Disciple ..................................158
Master Yorikuni Inoue ........................................161

Section 5  His Parents' Visit to Kyoto .......................162
Part 3 Editing the Encyclopedia of Ancient Things Japanese and Studying the History of Oriental Law

Chapter 1 Editing the Encyclopedia of Ancient Things Japanese

Section 1 Hiroike’s Move to Tokyo

The Russo-Japanese War

Moving to Tokyo at Last

Section 2 Editing the Encyclopedia of Ancient Things Japanese

The Purpose of Publishing the Encyclopedia of Ancient Things Japanese

Hiroike’s Contribution

Jojitsu Sato, Editor-in-Chief

Hiroike’s Self-Examination

Returning Sato’s Kindness

Benefits Brought by Participating in Editing the Encyclopedia of Ancient Things Japanese

The Editing Project’s Closing Ceremony

Chapter 2 Hiroike’s Study of the History of Oriental Law

Section 1 An Introduction to the History of Far Eastern Law

An Original Theory

The Respected Teacher Nobushige Hozumi
Chapter 3 Hiroike's Study of Grammar and Pursuit of Diverse Interests

Section 1 An Outline of Classical Chinese Grammar  ...........................................207
His Study of Classical Chinese Grammar .........................................................207
The Significance of An Outline of Classical Chinese Grammar  .........................210

Section 2 The Teneiwoha: A Study of Japanese Grammar  ..................................211
The Aim of the Argument for Abolishing "Te," "Ni," "Wo" and "Ha"  .....................211
An Argument Ahead of Its Time .................................................................213

Section 3 Hiroike's Study of the Imperial Household .........................................214
Encouragement by Yorikuni Inoue .................................................................214
Compiling A Chronicle of Japanese Emperors .................................................215

Section 4 Risshi Unsho and Hiroike's Study of Buddhism ................................217
The "Four Kindnesses" and Morals ...............................................................217
The Essence of Sakyamuni's Teachings .........................................................218

Section 5 Collating and Editing .................................................................219
The Collation of A Compilation of Japanese History, A Classified Collection of Japanese Classics and Others .........................................................219
Editing A Textbook for Girls' High Schools ..................................................220
The Publication of Ariwara no Narihira ........................................... 222
Hiroike's Pseudonyms ................................................................. 223

Chapter 4  Hiroike’s Family Life and a Major Illness

Section 1  His Life in Tokyo ......................................................... 225
A Simple Life .............................................................................. 225
The State of Hiroike’s Family ...................................................... 227
Lulls and Heavy Waves in the Hiroikes’ Life ................................. 229
Hiroike’s Filial Piety .................................................................... 231

Section 2  Hiroike’s Social Service ................................................ 235
A Series of Donations .................................................................. 235
His Sympathy for People in Need ................................................ 236

Section 3  Returning the Kindness of Yorikuni Inoue ....................... 238
Establishing a Memorial Library .................................................. 238
Inoue Conferred with a Doctoral Degree ...................................... 239

Section 4  Hiroike’s Serious Illness, 1904 ....................................... 240
Preparing for Death ..................................................................... 240
Letters to Haruko ....................................................................... 242
A Wavering Heart ....................................................................... 243

Section 5  Hiroike’s Religious Awakening ...................................... 245
His Past Religious Studies ............................................................ 245
Zen Meditation ........................................................................... 248

Part 4  A Doctoral Degree and the Search for Truth

Chapter 1  Jingukogakkan College

Section 1  Hiroike’s Relocation to Ise .......................................... 255
Taking up a Professorship ........................................255
Burgeoning Hopes ..................................................257

Section 2  Hardship at Jingukogakkan College ..............260
Ideals and Realities ...............................................260
Numerous Plans ....................................................261

Chapter 2  A Research Trip to China

Section 1  Hiroike’s Decision to Travel to China ..........263
Towering Obstacles .................................................263
The Purpose of the Trip ...........................................264

Section 2  Hiroike’s Tour of China ..............................265
The Travel Route ....................................................265
Outcomes of the Trip ..............................................267

Chapter 3  Hiroike’s Doctorate

Section 1  The Challenge of an Academic Degree ..........271
The Submission of his Doctoral Dissertation ..........271
Receiving His Doctorate ........................................272
Celebrating the Degree ..........................................274

Section 2  Publication of The Main Discourse of the History of Far Eastern Law ..........276
Unprecedented Research .......................................276

Chapter 4  Hiroike’s Study of Shintoism

Section 1  The Publication of The Shrines of Ise ..........281
Revealing the National Polity ..................................281
The Virtue of Purity ...............................................283
High Praise for The Shrines of Ise ..........................284
Chapter 5 Hiroike’s Devotion to Religious Faith

Section 1 Hiroike’s Conversion to Tenrikyo
- His Self-Examination regarding Mental Attitude
- Hiroike’s Encounter with Kokichi Yanou

Section 2 Hiroike’s Experience at Futami Imaishiki
- His Experience of Sincerity
- Hiroike’s Argument with a Ferryman

Section 3 Hiroike’s Encounter with Shinnosuke Nakayama
- Sankyo Kaido (A Meeting of Three Religions)
- Hiroike’s Move to Tenrikyo Headquarters
- Teaching at Tenri Middle School

Chapter 6 Important Spiritual Crossroads

Section 1 Hiroike’s Serious Illness of 1912
- Last Extremities
- Praying for Twenty More Years
- Deeper Self-Examination

Section 2 Hiroike’s Great Trouble of 1915
- Memorial Lecture and Its Repercussions
- Leaving Quietly
- Hiroike’s Lone Departure

Section 3 Cultivating a Mindset for “Benevolence, Tolerance and Self-Examination”
- Attaining Great Wisdom
- Nurturing the Seeds of Moral Science
Chapter 7  The Trials and Tribulations of Chikuro and Haruko Hiroike

Section 1  Hiroike’s Sojourn at Jingukogakkan College
\hspace{1cm} Taking a Position Apart from the Family \hspace{0.3cm} 327
\hspace{1cm} Another Side of Hiroike \hspace{0.3cm} 328
\hspace{1cm} The Hiroikes’ Love and Agony \hspace{0.3cm} 329
\hspace{1cm} The Demise of Emperor Meiji \hspace{0.3cm} 332

Section 2  Concerning the Conferment of Hiroike’s Doctoral Degree
\hspace{1cm} Haruko’s Torment \hspace{0.3cm} 334
\hspace{1cm} Hiroike’s Ambition \hspace{0.3cm} 337

Section 3  The Family Situation up to 1915
\hspace{1cm} Unbridged Gaps \hspace{0.3cm} 339
\hspace{1cm} The Deaths of Three of Hiroike’s Benefactors \hspace{0.3cm} 341

Part 5  Establishing Moralogy as a New Science

Chapter 1  Hiroike’s Days of Active Lecturing

Section 1  Living within the Dramatic Tide of the Times
\hspace{1cm} World War I Begins \hspace{0.3cm} 349
\hspace{1cm} Instability at Home \hspace{0.3cm} 349

Section 2  Moral Solutions to Labor Issues
\hspace{1cm} Seeking Solutions for Workers and Capitalists \hspace{0.3cm} 351
\hspace{1cm} Sounding the Alarm for Proprietors \hspace{0.3cm} 353

Section 3  Hiroike’s Lecture at the Society for Unification
\hspace{1cm} (Kiitsu Kyokai) \hspace{0.3cm} 355
\hspace{1cm} The Society for Unification \hspace{0.3cm} 355
\hspace{1cm} Presenting the Concept of “Precedence of Duty” \hspace{0.3cm} 356
Chapter 2  A Guidepost for World Peace

Section 1  Rapid Changes in the International Situation
   The End of World War I                          365
   Deteriorating U.S.-Japanese Relations          366

Section 2  The Writing of The Origin of the Japanese
   Constitution                                    367
   A Sense of Apprehension                          367
   The Foundation of Peace and Happiness           368

Section 3  Hiroike's Theory of Peace
   A Theory of Peace Transcendent of "Knowledge"   370
   Adopting Cosmism and Cosmopolitanism            371

Section 4  Hiroike's Approaches to Key Politicians and Government Officials                             373
   Aritomo Yamagata and Masayoshi Matsukata        373
   The True Heart of Shigenobu Okuma                374

Chapter 3  Hiroike's Writing of the Treatise on Moral Science

Section 1  From Moral Science to Moralogy
   The Scientific Study of Morality                 377
   The Process of Writing His Treatise on Moral Science  378

Section 2  Writing at Hatake Onsen                381
Chapter 4  What Is Moralogy?

Section 1  The Aim of Moralogy ..............................................399
  The Motives for Studying Moralogy ......................................399
  A Definition of Moralogy ...............................................400
  An Outline of A Treatise on Moral Science .........................401
  The Characteristics of A Treatise on Moral Science .................403
  New Themes of Research Following Publication ....................404

Section 2  Reviews of A Treatise on Moral Science ..................405
  The Preface by Inazo Nitobe ............................................405
  Prefaces by Kurakichi Shiratori and Yoshiro Sakatani ...............407

Section 3  Plans to Disseminate Moralogy Overseas and to Establish an Institute of Moralogy ..................................409
  An Aborted Translation Project .......................................409
  Planning an Overseas Tour ............................................411
  A Plan to Establish an Institute of Moralogy .......................413

Chapter 5  Developments in and around the Lives of Hiroike's Family Members

Section 1  Family's Joys and Sorrows ..................................415
  Moving House .......................................................415
Part 6  The Development of Social Education

Chapter 1  The Organization and Development of the Moralogy Movement

Section 1  The Pro-Duty Society ......................................... 427

Section 2  Organizing Lectures ............................................. 428
  Lectures Sponsored by Financial Circles ................................ 428
  Propagating Moralogy in Regional Areas .............................. 430

Section 3  The Publication of Instruction Materials ................. 432
  A Scientific Study of Filial Piety ..................................... 432
  The Characteristics of Moralogy and Supreme Morality .......... 433

Section 4  Hiroike's Serious Illness in Tochiomata ................. 438
  His Health Setbacks of 1930 and 1931 ............................ 438
  Ready to Die .............................................................. 440
  The Suffering that Became a Turning Point ....................... 442

Section 5  The Founding of the Institute of Moralogy ............. 444
  Kirizumi Onsen and the Leadership Seminar ....................... 444
  Establishing the Head Institute of Moralogy ..................... 446

Section 6  Osaka Mainichi Newspaper Sponsors a Lecture .......... 449
  The Historical Background and Preparations for the Lecture .... 449
  Due Recognition from Inazo Nitobe .................................. 451
Section 7 The Development of Moralogy Activities

Establishing Local Branches of the Pro-Duty Society
The First Seminar in Osaka
The Opening of the Tokyo Auditorium and the First Seminar in Tokyo
An Expanding Network of Seminars in Japan
The Second Sermon Given on the Bank of the Isuzu River

Section 8 The Publication of the Second Edition of A Treatise on Moral Science
A Self-Composed Preface

Chapter 2 Precursors of the Second World War

Section 1 Hiroike’s Theory of Peace
The Growing Tension
Skewed Patriotism
An Ideal Diplomatic Policy

Section 2 Proposals to Key Figures
Propositions to Grand Chamberlain Kantaro Suzuki
Recommendations to Prime Minister Makoto Saito

Chapter 3 Hiroike and Hot Springs

Section 1 Spa Treatments
Cutaneous Nervous Hyposthenia
Traveling from One Spa to Another
Life at the Spas

Section 2 Enlightenment and Salvation
Recuperation and Enlightenment
Daily Efforts on Behalf of Enlightenment

Section 3 Hiroike’s Love for his Family
A Gift to Haruko
Part 7 Hiroike’s Devotion to Lifelong Education

Chapter 1 The Opening of Moralogy College

Section 1 Establishing Moralogy College

The Organization of the Institute of Moralogy
The Background of the Establishment

Section 2 The Faculty and Facilities

Selecting a Site
Constructing the Buildings
The Faculty

Section 3 The Opening Ceremony

Speeches by Distinguished Guests
Hiroike’s Address

Section 4 Education at Moralogy College

The Regular Course and the Special Course
The Educational Ideal of Moralogy College
A Unique Educational Methodology
Life in the Dormitory

Section 5 A Vision for Moralogy Research
Hiroike's Ideals .......................................................... 529
The Economics of Moralogy ................................. 530
Lessons for the Key Management Staff ................. 531

Section 6  A Visit by a Descendant of Confucius ............ 533
Descendants of the Sages ........................................... 533
"Maintaining Daily Assiduity" .............................. 537

Chapter 2  The Opening of the Tanigawa Auditorium

Section 1  The Significance of the Opening of the Tanigawa Auditorium ................................. 539
Reasons for the Opening ........................................... 539
Purchasing Land at Tanigawa Onsen ......................... 540
The Construction of the Tanigawa Auditorium .............. 542
The First Leadership Seminar in Tanigawa ................. 546

Section 2  O-oana Onsen and Fugaku-so in Hatake Onsen .... 547
Purchasing Land in O-oana Onsen ........................... 547
The Construction of Fugaku-so ............................... 549

Chapter 3  Visits by Prince Kaya and Prominent Figures

Section 1  The Looming Second World War ..................... 553
Tensions between Japan and China ......................... 553
The Global Situation ............................................... 555

Section 2  The Hope for Peace .................................. 555
True Patriotism ...................................................... 555
A Visit by Former Prime Minister Makoto Saito .......... 557
The Visit by Former Prime Minister Reijiro Wakatsuki .... 559
Visits by Dr. J. Anton de Haas and Others ................ 561

Section 3  Visits by Prince Kaya and Lectures in the Presence
Chapter 4  The Setting of a Great Sun

Section 1  Golden Wedding Anniversary
- Happiness, Wealth and Longevity
- Haruko's Final Years

Section 2  An Indestructible Spirit
- The Last Lectures for Prince Kaya
- The Last Poem

Section 3  The Last Lesson
- The Fist That Conveyed Hiroike's Wishes after Death
- Three Standards of Practice

Section 4  On his Deathbed
- The Last Writing
- The Last Bath

Section 5  An Eternal Farewell
- The Farewell Service
- A Great Spirit

GENERAL INDEX
INDEX OF NAMES OF PERSONS
INDEX OF BOOK TITLES
A Selected Bibliography
Brief History of Chikuro Hiroike
Editorial Note
Committees