THE LANGUAGES OF POLITICAL ISLAM IN INDIA

c. 1200–1800

MUZAFFAR ALAM
Contents

Preface ix

1 Introduction 1

2 Sharī‘a, Akhlāq and Governance 26
   Sharī‘a in Early Ādāb Writings 27
   Fakhr-i Mudabbir’s Ādāb al-Harb 29
   Barani’s Fatāwā-i Jahāndārī: The Construction of a Past 31
   Barani on Dīndāri and Jahāndārī 35
   The Zakhirat al-Mulūk of Mir Sayyid ‘Ali Hamadani (d. 1384) 43
   Sharī‘a in Nasirean Akhlāq 46
   Political Norms in Akhlāq Literature 54
   Ethical Norms in Mughal Politics 61
   Religion and Mughal Political Culture 69

3 The Sufi Intervention 81
   Another Vision of Power: The Sufis of North India 82
   The Doctrine of Waḥdat al-Wujūd 91
   Integration and Identity: A Sufi Trajectory 98

4 Language and Power 115
   Persian in Medieval India 115
   Persian under the Mughals 122
   The Language of Empire 128
   Persian and Political Culture 133

5 Opposition and Reaffirmation 141
   The Problems of Persian and Akhlāq Texts 141
   The Limits of Sufi Assimilation 151
Contents

Towards a Reaffirmation 168

Concluding Remarks 190

Bibliography 196

Index 225