

The Move to COMMUNITY POLICING

Making Change Happen

MERRY MORASH EDITORS
Michigan State University

J. KEVIN FORD
Michigan State University

Sage Publications

International Educational and Professional Publisher
Thousand Oaks ■ London ■ New Delhi

Contents

Preface	xiii
Acknowledgments	xvii
1. Transforming Police Organizations	1
J. Kevin Ford, Merry Morash
Stage Model of Change	2
Exploration and Commitment	2
Planning and Implementation	3
Monitoring and Institutionalization	4
Organization of the Book	6
Developing Data-Driven Approaches	6
Changing the Police Culture	7
Creating Partnerships for Community Policing	8
Dealing With Ongoing Challenges in the Shift to Community Policing	10
References	11

PART I Developing Data-Driven Systems

2. Using Assessment Tools to Jump-Start the Move to Community Policing	15
Cori A. Davis, J. Kevin Ford
Data Gathering as a Process	16
A Data-Driven Model	17
Characteristics of Effective Data	18

Strategies for Collecting Qualitative Data	18
Strategies for Collecting Quantitative Data	21
Facilitated Assessment	24
Open Discussion	25
Structured Self-Assessment	27
Developing an Action Plan	29
Community-Policing Organizational Survey	32
Survey Results: A Case Example	34
Organizational Survey Feedback Process	35
Implications for Planning and Implementing a Change Effort	37
Benefits of Using Both Assessment Tools	37
Impact of Assessment Tool Data	39
Next Steps	40
References	41
3. Citizen Input and Police Service: Moving Beyond the "Feel Good" Community Survey	43
Michael D. Reisig
Citizen Satisfaction as Feedback in the Police Context	45
Police Encounters and Citizen Satisfaction	46
Quality of Life and Citizen Satisfaction	47
Reviving Encounter-Level Satisfaction Research	48
An Integrative Strategy for Acquiring Citizen Input	50
The Middletown Police Department: A Hypothetical Case	50
Conclusion	55
References	59
4. Using Multiple Methods in Community Crime Prevention and Community-Policing Research: The Case of Project ROAR	61
Andrew L. Giacomazzi, Edmund F. McGarrell
Project ROAR Overview	62
Research Questions and Design	63
Key Findings	64
Discussion of Research Methods and Implementation	66
Process Evaluation	66
Survey Research	69
Offenses Known and Arrest Data	71

Physical and Social Inventory of Neighborhoods	72
Quasi-Experimental Design	75
Conclusion	76
References	78

PART II Changing the Police Culture

5. Styles of Patrol in a Community Policing Context	81
Stephen D. Mastrofski, James J. Willis, Jeffrey B. Snipes
Research on Patrol Styles	82
Richmond and Its Community-Policing Program	84
Data and Methods	85
Styles of Policing	87
The Professional	88
The Reactor	94
The Tough Cop	98
The Avoider	100
Styles of Policing in a Community-Policing Context	102
Shift Work and Police Style	103
Community Policing and Police Styles: A New Paradigm?	105
Conclusion	106
Notes	109
References	110
6. Dual Responsibilities: A Model for Immersing Midlevel Managers in Community Policing	112
Mark E. Alley, Elizabeth M. Bonello, Joseph A. Schafer
The Role of Midlevel Managers	113
Traditional Roles	113
New Roles for Cultural Change	114
Engaging Midlevel Managers in Community Policing	115
Geographic Accountability	116
The Move to Dual Responsibilities	117
The Challenges of Dual Responsibility	119
Handling Shift and Geographic Responsibilities	119
Strategies for Meeting the Challenges	120
Conclusion	123
References	124

7. Organizational Change and Development: Fundamental Principles, Core Dilemmas, and Leadership Challenges in the Move Toward a Community-Policing Strategy	126
J. Kevin Ford
Fundamental Principles of Organizational Change and Development	127
Viewing Organizations as Integrated Systems	128
High Involvement	130
A Continuous Learning Perspective	131
Implications for the Transformation to Community Policing	133
Dealing With the Dilemmas of Change	133
Organizational Change Dilemmas	135
Leadership Challenges for Transforming Police Agencies	140
Preparing the Organization: Creating a Sense of Urgency for the Change	141
Planning for the Change: Creating a Powerful Guidance Team for Change	142
Implementing Change: Creating Opportunities for Innovation	144
Monitoring the Change Effort: Showing Constancy of Purpose	146
Institutionalizing the Change: Building on Successes	147
Conclusion	149
References	149

PART III Creating Partnerships

8. Focus on Internal Partnerships: A Framework for Implementing Community Policing in a Unionized Department	155
Michael J. Polzin, Julie L. Brockman
Partnerships	156
Working With a Unionized Police Force	158
Chapter Focus	160
The Context for Partnership	161
Union-Management Partnerships	162

Characteristics of Effective Union-Management Partnerships	165
Scope of Authority of the Union-Management Partnership	166
Reducing Resistance	168
A Framework for Building a Union-Management Partnership	169
Stage One: Getting Started	171
Stage Two: Preparing to Change	173
Stage Three: Working Cooperatively	174
Stage Four: Sustaining the Change	176
Ongoing Concerns	176
Conclusion	177
References	179
9. The Nexus of Community Policing and Domestic Violence	180
Merry Morash, Amanda L. Robinson
An Examination of the Nexus	181
Federal Efforts	181
Community Policing and the Nexus With Domestic Violence	182
Potential for Cooperation at the Nexus	184
Challenges to Cooperation	185
Contemporary Police Practices and Domestic Violence	189
Efforts to Create a Cooperative Nexus of Community Policing and Domestic Violence	190
Community Police Interacting With Parties Involved in Domestic Violence	190
Problem Solving Applied to Domestic Violence	192
Police-Public Partnerships	194
Conclusions and Recommendations	197
Notes	200
References	200
10. Action Research for Community-Oriented Policing and Comprehensive School Safety Planning	204
Audrey Z. Martini, Monique Fields, Tracey Goss McGinley, Amanda L. Robinson, Merry Morash
Research Methodology	206

Identifying the Components of a Safety Plan	207
Action Research	208
Survey Results	210
Importance of Key Aspects of a Comprehensive School Safety Plan	210
Social Capital to Promote School Safety	212
County-Specific Results	212
Conclusion	214
Appendix: School Safety Summit Survey	216
References	222

11. Social Capital, Collective Action, and Community

Policing: A Case Study in Sioux City, Iowa	223
Mark E. Correia
Overview of Recent Sioux City History	224
Changing Demographics and Economic Base	224
Policing in Sioux City: An Example of Community Policing	225
CAST: Successes and Problems	227
Collective Action	227
Social Capital	229
Social Capital and Social Responsibility	230
Research Focus	231
Data Collection and Methods	231
Measurement	232
Analysis of Community Cohesion	233
Discussion	236
Notes	237
References	238

PART IV Dealing With Ongoing Challenges

12. The Challenge of Effective Organizational Change: Lessons Learned in Community-Policing

Implementation	243
Joseph A. Schafer
Impediments to Organizational Change	244
Organizational Issues	245

Human Issues	249
A Case Study of Community Policing in Motor City	251
Historical Perspective	252
Evaluating the MCPD Model	254
Lessons Learned	257
Conclusion	261
Notes	262
References	262
13. Reflections on the Move to Community Policing	264
David L. Carter
Developing a Perspective	264
The Past as Future	266
Project STAR	268
Integrated Criminal Apprehension Program (ICAP)	269
Problem-Oriented and Community Policing:
Development and Integration	269
Breaking the Bonds of Tradition	271
Quality Management and Change to
Community Policing	272
Final Thoughts	273
Note	275
References	275
14. Directing the Future of Community-Policing Initiatives	277
Merry Morash, J. Kevin Ford,
Jane P. White, Jerome G. Boles III
The Core Elements of Community Policing	278
Key Challenges	279
A Customer-Based Organizational
Transformation	279
Unlimited Partnerships	283
Unified Effort to Solve Problems	286
Decision Points	287
Index	289
About the Editors	293
About the Contributors	295