ASSISTANCE AT SEA AND IN PORTS

OVERVIEW

13 SALVAGE

1 Introduction

2 The Concept of Salvage under maritime law

3 Salvage under contract

4 The Salvage Conventions

5 Preconditions of salvage

5.1 The relevant waters for salvage prior to the Salvage Convention 1989

5.2 The law under the Salvage Convention 1989

5.3 What is a recognised subject of salvage

5.3.1 The law prior to the Convention

5.3.2 The law after the Convention

5.3.3 Hovercrafts/aircraft

5.3.4 Bunkers

5.3.5 Cargo

5.3.6 Freight

5.3.7 Life salvage

4 Assessment of damages

4.1 General principle: restitutio in integrum

4.2 Total loss of a ship

4.2.1 Value of the ship (how is it ascertained)

4.2.2 Loss of a profitable charterparty

4.3 Partial loss of the ship and incidental losses

4.3.1 Cost of repairs

4.3.2 Loss of profit

4.3.3 Out of pocket expenses and financial loss

4.3.4 Detention time and dock charges

4.4 Pollution damage

4.5 Damages in foreign currency

5 Limitation of liability

6 Limitation periods for commencement of claims

7 Insurance issues and risks arising from collisions
6 Elements of salvage

6.1 Danger
   6.1.1 General principles
   6.1.2 Future or contingent danger
   6.1.3 Effect of danger on a towage contract
   6.1.4 Threat or danger to the environment

6.2 Voluntary services
   6.2.1 Pre-existing agreement preventing salvage
   6.2.2 Exemptions
      6.2.2.1 When would the services of the master and crew qualify for salvage award?
      6.2.2.2 When would the services of tugs under towage qualify for salvage award?
      6.2.2.3 When would the services of pilots qualify for salvage award?
      6.2.2.4 Would cargo-owners be able to claim a salvage award for services rendered?
   6.2.3 Could performance of duties arising under statute or official duty be a bar to salvage award?
      6.2.3.1 Duty to assist after a collision
      6.2.3.2 Duty to assist others in distress
      6.2.3.3 Salvage by officers under orders of a naval commander of the Royal Navy
      6.2.3.4 Salvage operations controlled by public authorities
      6.2.3.5 Salvage operations and HM coastguards
      6.2.3.6 Salvage by lifeboat crews of the RNLI

6.3 Success
   6.3.1 Meritorious services
   6.3.2 Salvage services by standing by a vessel in danger
   6.3.3 Salvage and engaged services

7 Salvage Agreements

7.1 General

7.2 Court's intervention
   7.2.1 When the agreement is reached by extortion or overbearing conduct
   7.2.2 Misrepresentation and non-disclosure

8 The Master's authority to enter into salvage agreements

8.1 Master's authority at common law
   8.1.1 The basis of the master's authority to bind his principal to a salvage contract
   8.1.2 The basis of the master's authority to bind cargo interests to a salvage contract
17 Jurisdiction 744
18 Time limits 745

14 TOWAGE 747

1 Introduction 747
2 Definitions 747
3 Towage versus salvage 749
4 The making of a binding contract 753
   4.1 Authority of the master to bind the shipowners 753
   4.2 Authority of the master to bind the cargo-owners 755
   4.3 Authority of the tugmaster 756
   4.4 Pre-contractual duties 757

   5.1 Commencement 759
   5.2 Interruption of towing 763
   5.3 Termination of towing 765
6 Duties of the tugowner 766
   6.1 Fitness of the tug for the purpose for which she is required 766
      6.1.1 Cases in favour of an absolute warranty of fitness 767
      6.1.2 The view that there is no absolute warranty of fitness of the tug 772
      6.1.3 What do the contractual terms of standard towage contracts provide? 774
   6.2 The position of fitness when a specific tug is requested 775
      6.2.1 One school of thought: no absolute warranty of fitness 775
      6.2.2 Second school of thought: there can be no general rule about absence of a warranty of fitness 778
      6.2.3 Tug fitness and risk management 779
   6.3 To use best endeavours to complete the towage 779
   6.4 The duty to exercise proper skill and diligence throughout 780
7 Duties of the tow 781
   7.1 Duty to specify what is required and to disclose the condition of the tow 781
   7.2 The tow to exercise due care and skill during the towage 783
   7.3 To pay remuneration to the tug 783
8 Relationship between tug and tow and their liabilities to third parties 784

8.1 Tug and tow 784

8.2 Tug, tow and third parties 785

8.2.1 Tug in control of a particular manoeuvre 786

8.2.2 Contrast between the ‘unit’ and the ‘control’ theories 787

8.2.2.1 The unit theory (the notion of identity) 787

8.2.2.2 The control theory 789

8.2.2.3 Application of the control theory for risk management 791

8.2.3 Joint tortfeasors (the common law rule) 792

8.2.4 Contribution between joint tortfeasors by statute 795

9 Exclusion from liability and indemnity clauses (risk management issues) 797

9.1 The ambit of the exception from liability clauses 798

9.2 Indemnity clause 802

9.3 Limitations to exclusion and indemnity clauses 804

10 The substitution and Himalaya Clause of the UKSTC 808

10.1 Substitution 808

10.2 The Himalaya provision and the Contracts (Rights of Third Parties) Act 1999 809

11 Limitation of Liability 812

15 HARBOURS AND PILOTAGE 815
