HARRI ENGLUND & FRANCIS
B. NYAMNJOH | editors

Rights and the Politics of Recognition in Africa

Zed Books
LONDON • NEW YORK
Contents

Figure, tables and boxes | viii
Acknowledgements | ix
Abbreviations | x
Notes on contributors | xi

Introduction: recognizing identities, imagining alternatives 1

HARRI ENGLUND
Beyond liberalism? | 4 Difference-blind rights and the communitarian critique | 6 Liberal revisions of citizenship | 8 The aesthetics of recognition | 9 The spectre of discrete identities | 11 Towards an alternative aesthetic of recognition | 13 Understanding African specificity | 15 Democracy and the legacies of colonialism | 19 The way(s) forward | 23

PART 1 The Rhetoric of Rights

1 Reconciling ‘the rhetoric of rights’ with competing notions of personhood and agency in Botswana 33

FRANCIS B. NYAMNJOH
On the rhetoric of rights | 33 Lessons from Africa on the reality of rights | 35 A closer look at citizenship and belonging in Botswana | 41 Changing attitudes towards foreigners in Botswana | 47 Implications for democracy in Africa | 53

2 The rhetoric of human rights in Malawi: individualization and judicialization 64

FIDELIS EDGE KANYONGOLO
The rhetoric | 65 Human rights and the political economy | 68 Human rights and the legal expansion of political space | 74 Neoliberal jurisprudence: the judicialization and individualization of social struggles | 75 Individualization of rights and the cauterization of communitarian struggles | 76 Judicialization and the realities of social struggles | 77 Conclusion | 79
Democratization and the rhetoric of rights: contradictions and debate in post-apartheid South Africa

KRISTA JOHNSON AND SEAN JACOBS

The new politics of rights and South Africa’s transition to democracy | 86 The SAHRC inquiry into racism in the media | 90 Liberalism versus nationalism | 94 Conclusion | 98

Taking rights talk seriously: reflections on Ugandan political discourse

ULRIK HALSTEEN

The constitutional debates: context and background | 104 Museveni’s argument | 107 The exigency of securing peace | 109 An inalienable right | 111 Ugandan versus Western (imperialist) thinking | 113 Human rights and popular sovereignty | 117 Three main discourses on rights | 119 Conclusion | 121

PART II Disadvantage, Misrecognition, Subjection

Deaf culture: problems of recognition in contemporary Kenyan politics

MARIANNE SØGAARD ANDERSEN

The political quest for unity and equality | 127 Perceiving deafness | 128 The ideology of unification in the context of formal education | 130 Remaking the incompetent | 133 Deafness as a socio-cultural phenomenon | 134 The political story | 137 The politicization of deafness | 138 Paradoxes of equality | 140 Conclusion | 143

Neoliberal ideologies, identity and gender: managing diversity in Mauritius

SHEILA BUNWAREE

Mauritius: accommodation and exclusion | 150 Inventing a nation | 154 The best loser system: a gender-blind democracy | 156 Ethnic struggles and the invisibility of women | 157 Export processing zones and the feminization of poverty | 159 Politics of employment and the male bias | 161 Joblessness and testimonies from women | 162 Conclusion | 165

‘It will rain until we are in power!’ Floods, elections and memory in Mozambique

BJØRN ENGE BERTELSSEN
Elections, voters' 'rights' and the rhetoric of regionalism and autochthony | 170
A fractured national unity: political demonization and a tense past | 173
Elections, politics and rights as seen from Honde | 176
Come elections, come rain, come Dhlakama | 178
Tension, ambivalence and memory | 182

PART III Elites and Communities

8 Ethnic identification in voluntary associations: the politics of development and culture in Burkina Faso | 195
STEN HAGBERG
Civil society and ethnicity | 196
Voluntary associations in Burkina Faso | 200
'The ethnic question' | 203
The case of the Association de Développement Tiefo Amoro | 207
The legitimizing process | 211

9 Perilous dualisms: language, religion and identity in poly-ethnic Eritrea | 219
REDIE BEREKETEAB
Eritrean state formation in history | 220
Essentialism versus constructionism | 224
The religion—language—identity nexus | 226
Beyond dualisms | 229
Conclusion | 232

10 Ecology, belonging and xenophobia: the 1994 forest law in Cameroon and the issue of 'community' | 237
PETER GESCHIERE
The 1994 forest law: 'participation' as a precondition for 'sustainable exploitation' | 240
The elusive community | 243
The community as stakeholder: belonging and exclusion | 245
External elites and belonging to the village community | 246
Confronting interfering elites | 251
Conclusion | 253

Epilogue: the new dialogue with post-liberalism | 261
RICHARD WERBNER
Equal dignity, difference and the turn in Africanist debate | 263
Permeable ethnicities and elites | 266
The global and the post-colonial | 268
Cosmopolitans and relatedness | 270

Index | 275