GLOBALISATION, HUMAN RIGHTS AND LABOUR LAW IN PACIFIC ASIA

Anthony Woodiwiss
CONTENTS

List of figures
Acknowledgements

Introduction: the ‘clash of civilisations’ and the problem of human rights

PART ONE Against absolutism and relativism: towards a globally enforceable concept of human rights
1. Transnational sociality, sociological theory and human rights
2. The challenge of Pacific capitalism: from Pax Americana to the Japanese Way?

PART TWO Human rights, labour law and patriarchalism in Pacific Asia
3. The Philippines and mendicant patriarchalism
4. Hong Kong and patriarchalist individualism
5. Malaysia and authoritarian patriarchalism
6. Singapore and the possibility of enforceable benevolence

Conclusion

Notes
References
Index