

Liberalism and Crime

The British Experience

Robert R. Sullivan

LEXINGTON BOOKS

Lanham • Boulder • New York • Oxford

Contents

Preface	ix
Introduction: What Question Is This Book the Answer To?	1
One: A Thumbnail Sketch of Recent British Criminal Justice	17
Part One: The Autonomous Individual
Two: The Revolt of British Criminology in the 1970s	43
Three: The Autonomous Individual as the Reasoning Criminal	61
Part Two: The Power of the State
Four: The “Nothing Works” Argument as a Program for Change	83
Five: The Police and the Birmingham Centre’s Critique	101
Six: The Multiagency Approach to Implementation	119
Seven: The Persistence of the State in British Policing and Prisons	139
Part Three: The Rule of Law
Eight: The Warwick School’s Challenge and the Rule of Law	161
Nine: Radzinowicz’s Empire and the Rule of Law	177
Conclusions	199

Selected Bibliography	215
Index	221
About the Author	227