

Controlling --- Voices ---

*Intellectual Property, Humanistic
Studies, and the Internet*

With a Foreword by Jay David Bolter

TyAnna K. Herrington

Southern Illinois University Press
Carbondale and Edwardsville

Contents

Foreword	ix
Jay David Bolter
Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction	1
Part One: The Law
1. Protective Control for Intellectual Products	27
2. Copyrights and Duties	35
3. Fair Use, Access, and Cultural Construction	59
4. Law and Policy: The Balance in Cyberspace	77
Part Two: Ideology and Power
5. Controlling Construction: The Internet, Law, and Humanistic Studies	87
6. Controlling Ideologies: The Internet, Law, and Humanistic Studies	112
7. The New Millennium and Controlling Voices	129
Notes	157
Works Cited	159
Index	167