CORRUPTION IN INTERNATIONAL TRADE AND COMMERCIAL ARBITRATION

by

ABDULHAY SAYED
LL.B. (Damascus), LL.M (Harvard)
DES, Ph.D. (IUHEI – Geneva)

KLUWER LAW INTERNATIONAL
THE HAGUE / LONDON / NEW YORK
Table of Contents

Foreword – Georges Abi-Saab xvii
Preface xxi
Introduction xxiii

Chapter 1: Judging Corruption in Arbitration 1
I. A Brief Outline of the Underlying Paradigm of Arbitral Decision-Making 1
II. The Main Attitudes In Evaluating Corruption 8
   A. The Repressive Tendency 9
      i. The Conception on The Role of Arbitrators 9
      ii. Condemning Corruption: A hypothesis on the Moral Basis 11
         a. Awkward Disruption of Trade 13
         b. Privation to the National Community 15
   B. The Indifferent Tendency 19
      i. The Point of View of the Scientific Observer of Corruption 19
      ii. The Point of View of the Arbitrator in Matters Involving Corruption 22
III. Concluding Remarks 24

Chapter 2: Arbitrability of Public Procurement-Related Matters 27
I. Overview 27
II. Arbitrability of Public Procurement-Related Matters 29
   A. The Legal Basis of the Non-Arbitrability of Public Procurement-Related Matters 29
      i. Nature of Public Procurement Laws 29
      ii. Basis of Non-Arbitrability of Public Procurement-Related Matters 31
   B. The Arbitrator’s Initiative In Raising The Non-Arbitrability of Public Procurement-Related Matters 33
      i. Arbitrability Contested by One Party 34
      ii. Arbitrability Discarded by the Parties 34
   C. Applicable Law on the Question of Arbitrability of Public Procurement-Related Matters 36
      i. The Mandatory Nature of Public Procurement Laws 37
         a. A first Approximation of the Notion of Mandatory Laws 37
         b. An Inquiry Into the Mandatory Nature of Public Procurement Laws 39
Table of Contents

Chapter 3: Corruption and the Validity of the Arbitration Agreement

I. Overview
II. Contract of Corruption and the Validity of the Arbitration Agreement
   A. The Westacre Case
   B. The Historical Context of Westacre
   C. Measuring The Degree of Offensiveness of Corruption
   D. The Quality of the Award
   E. Separability Between Indifference to Corruption and Repression
III. Validity of an Agreement to Arbitrate Corruption Matters
   A. ICC Case No. 1110 of 1963: The Lagergren Award
   B. Arbitral Disengagement from Adjudicating Corruption Contracts
      i. The Lagergren Solution: Immoral Contracts are "Non-Arbitrable"
      ii. The Immoral Mission of the Arbitrator
IV. Public Procurement Contracts Obtained by Bribery
   A. Arbitrability of Corruption Matters in Public Procurement Contracts
      i. Arbitrability from the Perspective of the National Judge
      ii. Arbitrability from the Perspective of the Arbitrator
   B. Corruption as Defect of Consent to the Public Procurement Contract
      i. The Westinghouse Case
      ii. Corruption as an Independent Defect of Consent
      iii. Corruption as a Case of Fraudulent Representation
      iv. Effect of the Defect of Consent on The Agreement
      v. Effect of Avoidance on the Arbitration Clause
V. Concluding Remarks

Chapter 4: Evidence of Corruption

I. Evidence in Arbitration
   A. Arbitral Freedom in Determining Rules of Evidence
   B. Burden and Standard of Proof
   C. Direct and Circumstantial Evidence
   D. Presumptions
      i. Presumptions and Circumstantial Evidence

Chapter 4: Evidence of Corruption

I. Evidence in Arbitration
   A. Arbitral Freedom in Determining Rules of Evidence
   B. Burden and Standard of Proof
   C. Direct and Circumstantial Evidence
   D. Presumptions
      i. Presumptions and Circumstantial Evidence
TABLE OF CONTENTS

ii. Where Presumptions Are Found? 94
iii. Simple and Conclusive Presumption 95
E. Witness Testimony 96
   i. Discretion to Weigh Testimony 96
   ii. False Testimony 96
F. Documentary Evidence 97
G. The Arbitration Evidentiary Predicament 98

II. Evidence of Corruption in Arbitration 100
A. Outline of the Potentially Relevant Elements of Facts in a Corrupt Scheme 101
B. Standard of Proof in Corruption Matters 102
   i. High Standard of Proof: The Westinghouse Case 103
   ii. The Normal Weighing of Probabilities: ICC Case No. 6497 105
C. Extent of Proof in Bribery Matters 106
   i. Nature of Evidence to Prove a Case of Bribery 106
   ii. Facts Required to Be Proved in Bribery Matters 107
      a. The Case of Bribery Affecting a Public Procurement Contract 107
      b. Proof of Bribery in an Intermediation Relation 109
         1. Proof of Common Corrupt Intention 110
         2. Proof of One Corrupt Intention is Sufficient 111
         3. Proof of the Intermediary’s Corrupt Intent is Sufficient 114
D. The Arbitration Evidentiary Predicament and the Struggle Against Secrecy 116
   i. The Struggle Against Secrecy in Evidence-Gathering 116
      a. The Effect of Party Refusal to Bring Evidence 116
      b. The Effect of Party Reluctance to Bring Evidence 118
         1. The Case of a Resisting Intermediary 118
         2. The Case of a Resisting Principal 119
      c. Arbitral Activism and Impartiality 124
   ii. Use of Presumptions and Circumstantial Evidence in Bribery Matters 125
      a. The Nature of Services to be Rendered by the Intermediary 125
         1. Absence of Proof of Services 126
         2. The Way Services Are Performed 129
      b. The Nature of Remuneration 135
         1. Remuneration on a Percentage Basis 136
         2. Disproportion Between The Percentage Promised and Services Rendered 138
         3. High Commission Rates 140
      c. The Identity and Status of the Intermediary 145
1. Intermediary is an Acting or Former Public Official \[145\]
2. Ambiguities About the Intermediary’s Internal Organization and Mode of Operation \[148\]
d. Circumstances Surrounding the Granting of a Favorable Official Decision \[151\]
   1. Increase of the Awarded Public Procurement Contract Price \[151\]
   2. Stringent Public Procurement Procedures \[152\]
   3. Impact of Commissions on the Public Purchasing Party’s Resources \[154\]

III. Concluding Remarks \[157\]

Chapter 5: Choice-of-Law Problems and Corruption \[159\]

I. Overview of the Doctrine of Party Autonomy \[159\]
   A. Party Autonomy in National Law \[160\]
   B. Party Autonomy in International Arbitration \[162\]
      i. Freedom of Choice \[163\]
      ii. Choice-of-law Constrained \[164\]
      iii. Conceptualizing The Relation Between the Choice-of-Law and its Limits \[166\]

II. Corruption and the a priori Limits on the Choice of the Applicable Law \[167\]
   A. The Choice of a Neutralizing Law \[168\]
      i. Overview \[168\]
      ii. Between Fraude à la Loi and Application of Mandatory Rules \[169\]
      iii. Choice-of-law Made by The parties \[171\]
      iv. Choice-of-law Determined by the Arbitrator \[173\]
         a. ICC Case No. 8113 of 1996 \[173\]
         b. The Westinghouse Case \[175\]
         c. Avoiding Prejudgment: Reserving Mandatory Laws to the Substance \[177\]
   B. The Rule of Validation Requirement \[178\]
      i. The Rule of Validation and the Parties’ Choice-of-Law \[180\]
         a. Overview \[180\]
         b. Application on Corruption Relations \[181\]
      ii. The Rule of Validation and the Arbitrator’s Determination of the Applicable Law \[181\]
         a. Overview \[181\]
         b. ICC Arbitration Case No. 4145 \[182\]
         c. Falling in the Prejudgment Trap \[184\]

III. Concluding Remarks \[186\]
Chapter 6: Application of Mandatory Laws Prohibiting Corruption

I. Describing Anti-corruption Laws

A. Anti-Corruption Laws Enacted by Importing Countries

- i. Prevention Laws
  - a. General Definition of Intermediation
  - b. Regulation or Prohibition of Intermediation in Government Procurement
  - c. Sanctions

- ii. Sanctioning Laws
  - a. Active and Passive Corruption
  - b. Influence Peddling

B. Anti-Corruption Laws Enacted by Exporting Countries

- i. The US Foreign Corrupt Practices Act
  - a. Events Leading to the Enactment of the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act
  - b. Analysis of The US Foreign Corrupt Practices Act
  - c. Implementation and Efforts to Export the FCPA Model

- ii. OECD Convention and Implementing National Legislations
  - a. Events Leading to the Signing of the OECD Convention
  - b. The OECD Convention on Combating Bribery of Foreign Public Officials in International Business Transactions
  - c. National Implementing Legislations

- iii. The Council of Europe's Conventions on Corruption
  - a. The Criminal Law Convention on Corruption
  - b. The Civil Law Convention on Corruption

- iv. The Inter-American Convention Against Corruption

C. An Inquiry Into The Mandatory Nature of Anti-Corruption Laws

- i. Anti-Corruption Laws Enacted by Importing Countries
  - a. The Penal Nature of Anti-Corruption Laws
  - b. The Public Law Nature of Anti-Corruption Laws
  - c. The Mandatory Nature of Anti-Corruption Laws

- ii. Anti-Corruption Laws Enacted by Exporting Countries

II. Applicability of Anti-Corruption laws In International Commercial Arbitration

A. The Taking Into Consideration of Foreign Mandatory Anti-Corruption Laws

- i. The Hilmarton Case
a. The Agreement and the Development of the Proceedings 235
b. The First Arbitral Award 236
c. The Second Arbitration Award 242
d. The Hilmarton Case in England 243

ii. Two Swiss Arbitral Awards Refusing to Take Into Consideration Foreign Mandatory laws 244

iii. The Northrop v. Triad Case 246

iv. The Two Forms of the Taking Into Consideration of Anti-corruption laws 250
   a. Impossibility of Performance 250
   b. Illegality Under Foreign Law 250

v. Critique of the Technique of the Taking Into Consideration of Foreign Mandatory Anti-Corruption Laws 252

B. The Direct Application of Foreign Mandatory Anti-Corruption Laws 254
   i. Foreign Mandatory Law in National Legal Systems 254
      a. Legal Authorization of the Direct Applicability of Foreign Mandatory Law 254
      b. Consideration of Direct Application of Foreign Anti-Corruption Laws by National Judges 255
   ii. Application of “Foreign” Anti-Corruption Mandatory Laws in International Commercial Arbitration 258
      a. The Scholarly Debate 258
         1. Arguments Favoring The Application of “Foreign” Mandatory Anti-Corruption Laws 258
         2. Arguments Against the Application of Foreign Mandatory Anti-Corruption Laws 264
      b. The Arbitral Practice 265
         1. Application of a “Foreign” Mandatory Anti-Corruption Law Is a Violation of Party Autonomy 265
         2. “Foreign” Mandatory Laws Are not Applicable in Arbitration 268
         3. The Anti-Corruption Law Invoked is Not Mandatory 270
         4. The Mandatory Anti-Corruption Law Does not Exhibit Preponderant Interest 271
         5. Examination of the Foreign Mandatory Anti-Corruption Law Despite Declaration of Inapplicability 273

III. Concluding Remarks 275
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chapter 7: Application of Universal Values Prohibiting Corruption</th>
<th>277</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I. “Transnational” Public Policy</td>
<td>278</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. Origins: The Notion of Societas Mercatorum</td>
<td>278</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B. Definition of Transnational Public Policy</td>
<td>281</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C. Function of Transnational Public Policy</td>
<td>282</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D. Critiques</td>
<td>283</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>E. The Application of the Universal Moral Rule</td>
<td>285</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F. The Homology of the Moral Rule and Transnational Public Policy</td>
<td>286</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>G. Identifying Transnational Public Policy</td>
<td>287</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>II. The Foundation of the Universal Prohibition of Corruption</td>
<td>289</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. The Prohibition of Corruption is Essential</td>
<td>289</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B. Prohibition of Corruption is Widely Shared</td>
<td>290</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C. The Role of the Global Effort to Combat Corruption in Establishing Large Consensus</td>
<td>291</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>i. The Role of International Conventions</td>
<td>291</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ii. The Work of International Financial Institutions</td>
<td>292</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>iii. The Work of the World Trade Organization</td>
<td>295</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>iv. The Work of the United Nations</td>
<td>296</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>v. The Work of Non-Governmental Organizations</td>
<td>299</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>vi. International Conferences and the Media</td>
<td>303</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>vii. Reference to a So-Called Consensus in Arbitration</td>
<td>306</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>III. The Prohibition of corruption and the Practice of Dual Intentionality</td>
<td>310</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. Describing The Underlying Dynamics of Corrupt Relations</td>
<td>310</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>i. The Underlying System of Values Governing Corrupt Relations</td>
<td>310</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ii. Techniques of Preserving Secrecy</td>
<td>313</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>iii. The Guardians of Corrupt Practices</td>
<td>315</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>a. The Central Role of Intermediaries in Corrupt Schemes</td>
<td>315</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>b. The Origin of Intermediaries’ Knowledge and Experience of Corrupt Practices</td>
<td>318</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>iv. The Enforcement Predicament of Corrupt Structures</td>
<td>319</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B. Definition of Dual Intentionality</td>
<td>320</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>i. The Apparent and Hidden Intentions</td>
<td>320</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ii. Situations of Dual Intentionality</td>
<td>322</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>iii. Dual Intentionality and Simulation</td>
<td>324</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C. The Legal Effect of the Practice of Dual Intentionality on the Prohibition of corruption</td>
<td>325</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>i. Dual Intentionality as a Problem of Effectiveness of the Prohibition of Corruption</td>
<td>326</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>a. Rule Effectiveness in Legal Theory</td>
<td>326</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>b. The Impact of Dual Intentionality on the Effectiveness of the Prohibition of corruption</td>
<td>328</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Section</td>
<td>Pages</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>-------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ii. Dual Intentionality as a Contra Legem Customary Rule</td>
<td>329</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>a. Dual Intentionality as a Usage of International Trade</td>
<td>329</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>b. The Usage of Dual Intentionality Transformed to a Full Fledged Rule</td>
<td>330</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>c. The Legal Validity of Dual Intentionality and the Imperativeness of</td>
<td>334</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>the Prohibition of Corruption</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>d. The Rule of Dual Intentionality and the Prohibition of Corruption</td>
<td>336</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>iii. Dual Intentionality as a Rule in the Legal Order of the Social</td>
<td>337</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Space of Corrupt Relations</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>a. For What Group the Prohibition of Corruption is Essential?</td>
<td>337</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>b. Introducing the Concept of Legal Pluralism</td>
<td>338</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>c. The Relativity of Public Policy</td>
<td>341</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>d. Towards a Pluralist Study of the Social Landscape of</td>
<td>341</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International Trade and Corruption</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1. The Classical Normative System of the State</td>
<td>342</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. The Normative System of the Lex Mercatoria</td>
<td>342</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. The Normative System of Corrupt Relations</td>
<td>343</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IV. The Prohibition of Corruption and Dual Intentionality in Arbitration</td>
<td>345</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. The Degree of Proliferation of Corruption and Arbitration</td>
<td>344</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B. Intermediation in Arbitration</td>
<td>348</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C. Dual intentionality in Arbitration</td>
<td>349</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>i. The a posteriori Legitimation of Intermediation</td>
<td>350</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ii. The a priori Legality of Intermediation</td>
<td>351</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>V. Concluding Remarks</td>
<td>353</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Chapter 8: The Sanction of Corruption

I. Nullity of Corrupt Relations 355
   A. Absolute Nullity 355
   B. Who Invokes Nullity? 357
      i. The Party Instigating Corruption 357
      ii. The Party Driven to the Corrupt Scheme 358
         a. The Briber Subject to Extortion 358
         b. The Case of Bona Fide Principals 358
            1. Illegality Arising During Performance 359
            2. Illegality Arising Upon Contract Conclusion 361
      iii. The Arbitral Tribunal 361
         a. Allusions to Bribery Nourishing Repression 362
         b. Allusions to Bribery Producing Indifference 362
      iv. The State Whose Official is Bribed 364
   C. The Effect of Nullity 366
      i. The Effect of Nullity in Non-Performed Contracts 366
TABLE OF CONTENTS

ii. The Effect of Nullity on Partially Performed Contracts 366
   a. Recovery of the Things Paid 366
   b. Exclusion of Recovery 367
      1. Definition 367
      2. The Resulting Paradox 367
   c. Exclusion of Recovery In Contextual Perspective 368
      1. The Case of Intermediary Instigating Corruption 369
      2. The Case of Principal Instigating Corruption 370
      3. The Paradox Unbroken 371
iii. The Exclusion of Recovery in the Arbritral Practice 371
   a. The Strict Application of the Principle of Non-Recovery 372
   b. The Pragmatic Approach 373

II. Alternative Sanctions of Corruption 376

A. Ascertaining Absence of Services 376
   i. The Theoretical Proposition 376
   ii. The Practice 378

B. Invoking the Intermediary’s Fraudulent Presentation of Evidence 380
   i. The Theoretical Proposition 380
   ii. The Practice 381
      a. False testimony 381
      b. Presentation of Forged Document 383
      c. Fraudulent Maneuvers Affecting the Presentation of a Whole Case 387

III. Concluding Remarks 388

Chapter 9: Corruption, Public Policy and Judicial Review of Awards 391
I. Balancing Award Finality and Public Policy 391
II. Minimal Judicial Review 394
   A. Overview 394
      i. The Case of Switzerland 394
      ii. The Case of the United States 396
   B. Minimal Judicial Review and Corruption 397
      i. Judicial Review and Corruption in Switzerland 397
         a. Westinghouse 397
         b. Frontier AG. v. Thomson 399
         c. Westacre in Switzerland 401
      ii. Judicial Review and Corruption in the United States:
         Northrop v. Triad 402
      iii. The Problems of Surface Review 404

III. Maximal Judicial Review 405
   A. Overview: The Case of France 408
   B. Maximal Judicial Review and Corruption 405
i. Westman 408
ii. Frontier AG v. Thomson CSF 410

IV. The Contextual Approach to Judicial Review 412
   A. Contextual Review: The Case of England 412
   B. Contextual Judicial Review and Corruption 413
      i. Act One: Westacre Before the Queen's Bench Division 413
      ii. Act Two: Soleimany v. Soleimany 414
      iii. Act Three: Westacre Before the Court of Appeal 416
      iv. Act Four: Hilmarton Before the Queen’s Bench Division 419

IV. Concluding Remarks 420

Conclusion 423

Bibliography 429

I. Case Law 429
   1. Arbitral Awards 429
   2. National Case Law 430
      2.1. American Case Law 430
      2.2. Belgian Case Law 430
      2.3. English Case Law 431
      2.4. French Case Law 431
      2.5. German Case Law 432
      2.6. Swiss Case Law 432
      2.7 Miscellaneous 432

II. National Law Materials 432
   1. National Laws Pertaining to Corruption 432
   2. National Documents 435

III. International Documents 436
   1. United Nations 436
   2. OECD 438
   3. Council of Europe 438
   4. World Bank and International Monetary Fund 439
   5. World Trade Organization 441
   6. Organization of American States 441
   7. Transparency International 441
   8. International Chamber of Commerce 442
   9. International Law Association 442
   10. Miscellaneous 442

IV. Institute of International Law 442

V. Courses at the Hague Academy of International Law 443

VI. Collective Works 443

VII. Books 446

VIII. Articles 452

Subject Index 471

Index of Arbitration Cases Dealing with Corruption 483