About the authors vii

1 Crime, deviance and the disembodied self: transcending the dangers of corporeality
  Yvonne Jewkes and Keith Sharp 1

2 Policing the Net: crime, regulation and surveillance in cyberspace
  Yvonne Jewkes 15

3 Cyberpunters and cyberwhores: prostitution on the Internet
  Keith Sharp and Sarah Earle 36

4 The electronic cloak: secret sexual deviance in cybersociety
  Heather DiMarco 53

5 Cyber-chattels: buying brides and babies on the Net
  Gayle Letherby and Jen Marchbank 68

6 What a tangled web we weave: identity theft and the Internet
  Emily Finch 86

7 Cyberstalking: an international perspective
  Janice Joseph 105
8  Maestros or misogynists? Gender and the social construction of hacking
   Paul A. Taylor  126

9  Digital counter-cultures and the nature of electronic social and political movements
   Rinella Cere  147

10 Investigating cybersociety: a consideration of the ethical and practical issues surrounding online research in chat rooms
   Andrew D. DiMarco and Heather DiMarco  164

References  180

Index  194