Detailed Contents

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Preface</th>
<th>v</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Table of Cases</td>
<td>xvii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Table of Statutes</td>
<td>xx</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PART I  THE BACKGROUND TO CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM

1 The Project: Modernizing the UK Constitution

1. Does the UK have a Constitution? What does it consist of? 3
2. The Westminster model 4
   - A liberal interpretation of the Westminster model 7
   - Alternative narratives about the operation of the system: networks and governance 10
3. Pressure for reform of the Westminster model 14
4. The juridification of politics 16
   - Judicializing politics 18
   - Comity, trust, and juridification 19
5. The politico-legal debate 21
6. Towards constitutionalism? 25

2 Themes: Democracy and Citizenship

1. Democracy 28
   - Representative democracy and parliamentary sovereignty 29
   - Participatory and deliberative democracy 34
   - Criteria for evaluating democracy: can it be audited? 39
2. Citizenship 40
   - Citizenship and rights 41
   - The citizen as consumer? 43
   - Citizenship and responsibilities 44
   - Civil society and citizenship 44
3. Summary 46
3 Themes: Good Governance

Accountability

Political accountability
Public accountability
Legal accountability/Judicialization
Audit, inspection, and administrative accountability
Webs of accountability
In search of intelligent accountability
Maintaining an uncorrupt system
The Committee on Standards in Public Life
Formalizing the public service ethos?
Summary

4 The United Kingdom in the European Union

Background—the European Community and the European Union
Primacy and direct effect or European Community law
European institutions: Who and what do they represent? Are they democratic?
Law and law-making in the EU
Democracy in the EU?
Subsidiarity
Good governance in Europe
A ‘Europe of the regions’?
European citizenship and fundamental rights
Human Rights and the European Union Charter of Fundamental Rights
The Charter rights
The legal status of the Charter
Comments on the Charter
Towards a Constitution for the EU?
The United Kingdom’s membership of the Community
Sovereignty and the primacy and direct effect of European law in the United Kingdom
The UK Parliament’s role in relation to the EU matters
Devolution and Europe
Summary and conclusions
5 The Constitutional Role of the Courts

Judicial review
- The grounds for judicial review
- The scope of judicial review
- Is there a democratic justification for judicial review?

Towards constitutionalism?
- Human rights, fundamental rights, and constitutional rights
- Constitutional statutes
- Justifications for the judicial development of principles of constitutionalism

The courts and theories of democracy, citizenship, and good governance

Summary and conclusions

---

PART II CITIZEN-CENTRED REFORMS

6 Human Rights in the United Kingdom

The European Convention on Human Rights

The Human Rights Act 1998: a sketch
- Duty of compatible interpretation
- Declarations of incompatibility and remedial orders
- Vertical and horizontal effect
- Remedies
- Parliamentary safeguards for human rights
- Derogation

Democracy, citizenship, and good governance under the Human Rights Act

Majoritarianism v. human rights

Law, politics, and the Human Rights Act

Towards rights-based citizenship
- The Human Rights Act and good governance

Beyond the Human Rights Act
- Towards constitutional protection of social and economic rights?

Conclusions
7 Elections, Parties, and Referendums

Elections—general issues
- Legitimacy of elected bodies 131
- Votes for representatives, delegates, or policies? 132
- Turnout and the effective vote 133
- Candidates for election: how representative should they be? 135

Electoral systems
- First past the post 137
- Proportional representation systems: party lists and AMS 140
- Preferential voting: the single transferable vote and the alternative vote 142
- Electoral systems and one-party or coalition government 143
- General conclusions about electoral systems 146

The funding of political parties and election campaigns
- The Electoral Commission 149
- Election campaigns—candidates’ and third-party expenditure 150
- Election campaigns—the national parties 151
- Public funding for parliamentary activity and research 152
- Additional public funding for the parties? 153

Referendums
- The future reform agenda—unfinished business 156
- Electoral Commission projects 156
- Fixed-term Parliaments? 157

Conclusions 157

8 Freedom of Information

Why is open government a good thing? 160

Access to information in the UK—until 2005 161
- The Code of Practice on Access to Government Information 161
- Openness in local government 163

The Freedom of Information Act 2000 164
- The prima facie right to access 164
- Absolute exemptions from the duty to disclose information 165
- Qualified or public interest exemptions 166
- Appeals and the ministerial veto 166

General comments and assessment 167
PART III INSTITUTIONAL REFORMS

9 Parliament: The House of Commons
   What is Parliament? 172
   The modernization of the House of Commons 174
      Reforming the legislative process 175
      The select committees 178
      A positive view of progress in Commons reform? 180
   Standards of conduct in the House of Commons 182
      Procedural problems 183
   Summary and conclusions on the 'modernization' of the House of Commons 186

10 Parliament: The Second Chamber
   Composition of the second chamber 188
   The role and functions of the second chamber 191
   The recommendations of the Royal Commission on Reform of the House of Lords 193
   Responses to the Royal Commission's recommendations 195
   Reform of the working practices of the House 196
   Issues for democracy, citizenship, and good governance in the reform of the second chamber 198
   Conclusions on the reform of Parliament 202

11 Government: Ministers
   The Crown and the state 203
      The legal status of the Crown and the royal prerogative 204
      The Carltona principle 207
      The Ram doctrine 208
      The Crown and the courts: the CCSU case 208
      Regulation inside government 211
      The Treasury and Public Service Agreements 212
      Ministers and Parliament: individual ministerial responsibility 213
      The Prime Minister's accountability to the House of Commons 217
   The public service ethos and standards of conduct in government 219
   Conclusions 220
CONTENTS

12 Government: The Civil Service
- New Public Management in the Civil Service
- From NPM to Next Steps agencies
- Accountability for agencies
- Steps since Next Steps
- The Citizen's Charter and Service First
- Civil Servants and Ministers
- Special Advisers
  - Spin and the press
  - Is reform possible?
- A Civil Service Act for the UK?
- Conclusions

13 Devolution: General Principles
- Arguments for devolution
  - Subsidiarity
- Options for reform
- The background and common features of the devolution arrangements
  - Maintaining the sovereignty of the UK Parliament
  - Limited competence of the devolved bodies
  - Inter-institutional relations
  - Finance
  - The Secretaries of State
- Regulation of conduct and procedure

14 Devolution: Scotland, Northern Ireland, and Wales
- Scotland
  - Scotland's Parliament
  - The Scottish executive
  - A Civic Forum
- Northern Ireland
  - The Belfast Agreement
  - The Northern Ireland Assembly
  - The Northern Ireland executive
  - A Civic Forum
  - Towards a Bill of Rights for Northern Ireland?
- Observations
CONTENTS

17 Quangos 315
Classifying quangos 316
Rationales for quangos 317
Accountability 318
Quangos and ombudsmen 319
Propriety and the public service ethos 320
Appointments 321
Connecting quangos with the public 323
Local and English regional quangos 324
A Democratic Audit of quango arrangements 325
Lessons from overseas 328
Conclusions 329

18 The Judiciary 330
Relationships between the judiciary, Parliament, and the Executive 330
Independence and impartiality: what do they mean? 332
The Lord Chancellor 335
Modernizing the office of Lord Chancellor? 338
The appointment of judges 338
Criteria for appointment 339
Parliamentary confirmation hearings? 342
A Judicial Appointments Commission? 343
A new Supreme Court? 345
Summary and conclusions 349

PART IV CONCLUSIONS 353

19 Modernization reviewed: Towards Democracy, Citizenship, and Good Governance? 354
Developing democracy 354
Sovereignty 354
Representation and representative democracy 357
Participatory democracy 360
Citizenship in the UK 363
Towards European citizenship? 364
The future of citizenship 365
20 The Political Constitution in Transition? 382

Cultural aspects of the political constitution 383
Towards constitutionalization? 385
The courts and constitutionalism 385
What kind of constitutionalism—liberal or . . . ? 386
Future prospects for the political constitution 387
A written Constitution for the UK? 387
Conclusions 388
And finally . . . two futures 389

Appendix Articles from the European Convention on Human Rights that have been incorporated into UK law by the Human Rights Act (taken from Schedule 1 to the Act). 392

List of Official Publications 398
References 403
Index 417