The Mechanics and Regulation of Market Abuse

A Legal and Economic Analysis

EMILIOS AVGOLEAS
Dept of International and European Studies
University of Piraeus

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
I. ECONOMIC ANALYSIS

1. Introduction

1.1 The Importance of Open Markets Free of Abuse
   1.1.1 The Mechanics of Market Abuse 3
   1.1.2 Efficient Allocation of Resources and Legitimacy 4

1.2 A Modern Study of Market Abuse
   1.2.1 Is There a Need for a Modern Study of Market Abuse? 5
   1.2.2 The End of an Era 7
   1.2.3 Regulatory Reform 9

1.3 Scope and Structure
   1.3.1 Analysing and Reconceptualizing Market Abuse 11
   1.3.2 Structure 19

2. Modern Financial Markets and Finance Theory

2.1 Introduction

2.2 The Modern Market Landscape
   2.2.1 The Division and Function of Modern Financial Markets 23
   2.2.2 Securities Markets 25
   2.2.3 Commodity and Financial Futures Markets 42

2.3 Modern and ‘Post-modern’ Finance Theory
   2.3.1 Introduction 44
   2.3.2 The Rise and Fall of the Efficient Market Hypothesis: The ‘Story of a Death Foretold’? 45
   2.3.3 Behavioural Analysis, ‘Noise’, and ‘Chaos’ 56

2.4 Bubbles, Manias, Cognition, and Herding
   2.4.1 Introduction 63
   2.4.2 Bounded Rationality and ‘Rules of Thumb’ 65
   2.4.3 Overconfidence 66
   2.4.4 Bubbles and Rationality: ‘Herd in the Street’ 67

2.5 Concluding Remarks 71

3. Deconstructing and Reconceptualizing Market Abuse

3.1 Introduction 75

3.2 The Mechanics of Insider Dealing
   3.2.1 Introduction 76
   3.2.2 Economic Analysis 79
   3.2.3 The Impact of Insider Dealing on Market Efficiency and Outside Traders 80
3.3 Corporate Fraud, Governance Failures, Bubbles, and Market Abuse: Behavioural Transmissions and Causal Linkages 85
  3.3.1 Market Abuse and Corporate Fraud 85
  3.3.2 Bubbles and Market Manipulation 87
  3.3.3 Market Abuse and Corporate Governance 92
  3.3.4 Insider Dealing and Market Manipulation 96

3.4 Concluding Remarks 101

4. The Mechanics of Market Manipulation 103
  4.1 Introduction 103
  4.2 The Mechanics of Market Manipulation 104
    4.2.1 Defining Market Manipulation 104
    4.2.2 Effects-based Approach and Price Artificiality 108
    4.2.3 Reconceptualizing Market Manipulation 116
  4.3 Market Manipulation, Species, Devices, and Techniques 118
    4.3.1 Forms of Market Manipulation 118
    4.3.2 Information-based Manipulations 119
    4.3.3 Manipulations Based on Artificial Transactions 127
    4.3.4 Price Manipulations 131
  4.4 Concluding Remarks 154

5. The Regulation of Market Abuse 156
  5.1 Introduction 156
  5.2 Theories of Regulation and Financial Market Regulation 158
    5.2.1 Introduction 158
    5.2.2 Theories of Economic Regulation 160
    5.2.3 Forms of Government Regulation and Regulatory Instruments 164
    5.2.4 Financial Market Regulation 167
    5.2.5 Concluding Remarks 172
  5.3 Mandatory Disclosure 173
    5.3.1 The Origins of Mandatory Disclosure Regulation 173
    5.3.2 Mandatory Disclosure and Economic Analysis 176
    5.3.3 Concluding Remarks 183
  5.4 Market Transparency and the Liquidity Trade Off 190
    5.4.1 Defining Market Transparency 190
    5.4.2 The Welfare Effects of Market Transparency Rules 191
  5.5 Insider Dealing: Crime and Punishment? 194
    5.5.1 Different Aspects of the Regulatory Debate 194
    5.5.2 US Insider Dealing Jurisprudence 196
    5.5.3 The Case for the Deregulation of Insider Dealing 199
    5.5.4 The Case for the Regulation of Insider Dealing 201
    5.5.5 Concluding Remarks 205
  5.6 The Regulation (Prohibition) of Market Manipulation 210
    5.6.1 Introduction 210
    5.6.2 Economic Efficiency and Market Manipulation 211
    5.6.3 The Prohibition of Price Manipulation 218
Contents

5.7 Market Manipulation and Exchange Self-Regulation: A Critical Evaluation

5.7.1 Introduction 226
5.7.2 The Costs and Benefits of Self-Regulation 227
5.7.3 Exchange Self-Regulation and the Deterrence of Market Manipulation 229

5.8 Concluding Remarks 234

II. THE EU AND UK MARKET ABUSE REGIMES

6. The Emerging EU Regime for the Regulation of Market Abuse

6.1 Introduction 239
6.2 The Evolution of EC Securities Regulation

6.2.1 The Principle of 'General Good' in the ECJ's Case Law 241
6.2.2 The First Financial Services Consensus and the Delors Commission: The Internal Market 'is not working' 242
6.2.3 The Second EU Consensus for Financial Services: The Implementation of the FSAP and the Reform of EC Financial Market Legislation 245
6.2.4 The Committee of the Wise Men and the 'Lamfalussy Process' 246

6.3 The Market Abuse Directive

6.3.1 The Need for a Market Abuse Directive 250
6.3.2 The Prohibition of Insider Dealing 251
6.3.3 Issuers' Continuing Disclosure Obligations 263
6.3.4 Prohibition of Selective Disclosure 265
6.3.5 Notification Duties Imposed on Issuers and their Managers 266
6.3.6 Investment Recommendations and Disclosure of Interests 267
6.3.7 Market Manipulation 276
6.3.8 Duty to Prevent Market Abuse 288
6.3.9 Supervisory Powers to Combat Market Abuse 290
6.3.10 Regulatory Cooperation under the Market Abuse Directive 291
6.3.11 Civil Liability for Market Abuse in EU Member States 292

6.4 The MiFID, the Prospectus, and the Transparency Directives as Part of the Emerging EU Regime for the Regulation of Market Abuse

6.4.1 The MiFID Rules Safeguarding Market Integrity in the EU 295
6.4.2 The Public Offers and Admissions Prospectus Directive 301
6.4.3 The Transparency Directive 304

6.5 Concluding Remarks 305

7. The Prohibition and Punishment of Market Abuse in the UK

7.1 Introduction 307
7.1.1 The Evolution of the UK's Market Abuse Regime 307
7.1.2 The Market Abuse Regime under FSMA 2000 and its Reform 310

7.2 Criminal Liability for Insider Dealing and Market Manipulation

7.2.1 Early Statutory Prohibitions 313
7.2.2 Misleading Statements and Dishonest Concealment 314
Contents

7.2.3 Misleading Practices and Conduct 316
7.2.4 Insider Dealing as a Criminal Law Offence 320
7.2.5 Other Statutory Offences 324
7.2.6 The Common Law Offences 328

7.3 The FSMA Offence of Market Abuse 332
7.3.1 Introduction 332
7.3.2 Definitions and Scope of the Offence of Market Abuse 333
7.3.3 COMAC Guidance on Market Practices Caught by the Offence of Market Abuse 341
7.3.4 The New Regime for Investment Research Recommendations, Disclosure of Inside Information, and Notification of Suspicious Transactions 359

7.4 Regulatory Remedies and Criminal Prosecution 368
7.4.1 Regulatory Investigations 368
7.4.2 Remedies 371
7.4.3 Criminal Prosecution and Trial 383

7.5 Concluding Remarks 387

8. Civil Liability for Market Abuse in the UK 389
8.1 Introduction 389
8.2 Civil Liability for Market Abuse: The FSMA Framework 391
8.2.1 Breaches of Section 118 391
8.2.2 Liability for Misrepresentations Relating to the Listing and Public Offer of Securities 395
8.2.3 Civil Liability for Unauthorized Investment Advertisements and Other Financial Promotions 404
8.2.4 Monetary Awards by the Financial Services Ombudsman Scheme 409
8.3 Claims in Tort and for Breach of Contract 411
8.3.1 Introduction 411
8.3.2 Claims in Tort 413
8.3.3 Remedies for Breach of Contract 426
8.4 Liability in Equity 430
8.4.1 Breach of Fiduciary Duties and Market Abuse 430
8.4.2 Duty of Care in Equity 431
8.4.3 Duty of Loyalty 431
8.4.4 Directors’ Duties 432
8.4.5 Equitable Remedies 434
8.5 Unjust Enrichment—Restitution 436
8.5.1 Introduction 436
8.5.2 Tracing at Common Law 436
8.5.3 Constructive/Resulting Trusts and Tracing in Equity 437
8.6 Concluding Remarks 445

III. MARKET ABUSE DETERRENCE

9. Market Abuse Deterrence Under a Civil Liability Regime 449
9.1 Introduction 449
9.2 Public and Private Enforcement of Market Abuse 452