Contents

List of illustrations ix
Acknowledgements x
Author biographical sketches xi

Introduction: The healing dimension of restorative justice: a one-world body 1
Dennis Sullivan and Larry Tifft

Section I: Restorative justice processes and practices 17

1 The recent history of restorative justice: mediation, circles, and conferencing 23
Paul McCold

2 Victim offender mediation: an evolving evidence-based practice 52
Mark S. Umbreit, Robert B. Coates and Betty Vos

3 Victim offender mediation and restorative justice: the European landscape 63
Christa Pelikan and Thomas Trenczek

4 Conferencing and restorative justice 91
Gabrielle Maxwell, Allison Morris and Hennessey Hayes

5 Restorative justice and recidivism: promises made, promises kept? 108
James Bonta, Rebecca Jesseean, Tanya Rugge and Robert Connier

6 Peacemaking circles: reflections on principal features and primary outcomes 121
Barry Stuart and Kay Pranis

7 The limits of restorative justice 134
Kathleen Daly
Section II: The foundations of restorative justice

8 Navajo peacemaking: original dispute resolution and a life way
James W. Zion and Robert Yazzie

9 The African concept of ubuntu and restorative justice
Dirk J. Louw

10 Spiritual foundations of restorative justice
Michael L. Hadley

11 Empathy and restoration
Hal Pepinsky

12 Sanctuary as a refuge from state justice
Peter Cordella

Section III: The needs of victims and the healing process

13 Responding to the needs of victims: what was promised, what has been delivered
Mary Achilles and Lorraine Stutzman-Amstutz

14 Restoration of the assumptive world as an act of justice
Jeffrey Kauffman

15 Murder victims' families for reconciliation: story-telling for healing, as witness, and in public policy
Judith W. Kay

16 Hearing the victim's voice amidst the cry for capital punishment
James R. Acker

17 The other victims: the families of those punished by the state
Judith Brink

Section IV: Making things right: extending restorative justice

18 Changing boundaries of the 'victim' in restorative justice: so who is the victim now?
Sandra Walklate

19 Stopping domestic violence or protecting children? Contributions from restorative justice
Joan Pennell
20 Are there limits to restorative justice? The case of child sexual abuse
    Anne-Marie McAlinden

21 Restoring justice through forgiveness: the case of children in Northern Ireland
    Anthony C. Holter, Joseph Martin, and Robert D. Enright

22 Restorative justice in transition: ownership, leadership, and ‘bottom-up’ human rights
    Kieran McEvoy and Anna Eriksson

Section V: Gross human rights violations and transitional justice

23 Essential elements of healing after massive trauma: complex needs voiced by victims/survivors
    Yael Danieli

24 Exploring the relationship between reparations, the gross violation of human rights, and restorative justice
    Chris Cunneen

25 Truth and reconciliation in Serbia
    Vesna Nikolic-Ristanovic

26 Transitional justice, restoration, and prosecution
    Charles Villa-Vicencio

27 Restorative justice and the governance of security in the Southwest Pacific
    Sinclair Dinnen

28 Rwanda's failing experiment in restorative justice
    Lars Waldorf

Section VI: Critical commentaries on restorative justice

29 Restorative justice and the criminological enterprise
    David O. Friedrichs

30 Shame, sharing and restorative justice: a critical appraisal
    Nathan Harris and Shadd Maruna

31 Community justice versus restorative justice: contrasts in family of value
    Todd R. Clear

32 Postmodernism's challenges to restorative justice
    Bruce A. Arrigo
CONTENTS

33 A feminist vision of justice? The problems and possibilities of restorative justice for girls and women
Emily Gaarder and Lois Presser

Section VII: Transformative justice and structural change

34 Toward a ‘radical’ paradigm of restorative justice
David G. Gil

35 Environmental policy and management in Costa Rica: sustainable development and deliberative democracy
Edward J. Martin

36 Reaching toward a structurally responsive training and practice of restorative justice
David Dyck

37 The Good Samaritan or the person in the ditch? An attempt to live a restorative justice lifestyle
Fred Boehrer

38 Transformative justice: the transformation of restorative justice
M. Kay Harris

Index