Legal Knowledge and Information Systems

JURIX 2006: The Nineteenth Annual Conference

Edited by

Tom M. van Engers

University of Amsterdam, the Netherlands

IOS Press
Amsterdam • Berlin • Oxford • Tokyo • Washington, DC
Contents

Preface
  Tom M. van Engers v

Zeno Revisited: Representation of Persuasive Argument
  Katie Atkinson and Trevor Bench-Capon 1

Anchored Narratives in Reasoning About Evidence
  Floris Bex, Henry Prakken and Bart Verhey 11

Presumptions and Burdens of Proof
  Henry Prakken and Giovanni Sartor 21

Modelling State Intervention in Cases of Conflicting Interests
  Alison Chorley and Trevor Bench-Capon 31

Automated Detection of Reference Structures in Law
  Emile de Maat, Radboud Winkels and Tom van Engers 41

Improving Legal Document Summarization Using Graphical Models
  M. Saravanan, B. Ravindran and S. Raman 51

Thesaurus-Based Retrieval of Case Law
  Michel C.A. Klein, Wouter van Steenbergen, Elisabeth M. Uijtt enbroek,
  Arno R. Lodder and Frank van Harmelen 61

A Public Index of Case Law References – The End of Multiple and Complex
  Citations
  Marc van Oprijnen 71

Deterrence Under Uncertainty: A Case Study
  Bram Roth 81

Open and Closed Intermediaries in Normative Systems
  Lars Lindahl and Jan Odelstad 91

An OWL Ontology of Fundamental Legal Concepts
  Rossella Rubino, Antonino Rotolo and Giovanni Sartor 101

Discordance Detection in Regional Ordinance: Ontology-Based Validation
  Shingo Hagiwara and Satoshi Tojo 111

Family Mediator – Adding Notions of Fairness to Those of Interests
  John Zeleznikow and Emilia Bellucci 121

Handling Personal Injury Claims PICE
  Corry van Zeeland, Ronald Leenes, Jelle van Veenen and Janneke van der Linden 131
Application of Word Alignment for Supporting Translation of Japanese Statutes into English
   Katsuhiko Toyama, Yasuhiro Ogawa, Kazuhiro Imai and Yoshiharu Matsuura

AVER: Argument Visualization for Evidential Reasoning
   Susan W. van den Braak and Gerard A.W. Vreeswijk

An Action-Based Legal Model for Dynamic Digital Rights Expression
   Melanie Dulong de Rosnay

Disjunction of Causes and Disjunctive Cause: A Solution to the Paradox of Conditio Sine Qua Non Using Minimal Abduction
   Ken Satoh and Satoshi Tojo

Developing Content for LKIF: Ontologies and Frameworks for Legal Reasoning
   Joost Breuker, Alexander Boer, Rinke Hoekstra and Kasper van den Berg

Previous Publications by JURIX

Contact Information on JURIX

Author Index