

Ute Collier/Jonathan Golub/Alexander Kreher (eds.)

Subsidiarity and Shared Responsibility:
New Challenges for EU Environmental Policy

Nomos Verlagsgesellschaft
Baden-Baden

Contents

Preface	VII
The contributors	VIII
Introduction	1
I. Theoretical perspectives
The evolving arena of EU environmental policy: the impact of subsidiarity and shared responsibility Anthony R. Zito	11
Recasting EU environmental policy: subsidiarity and national sovereignty Jonathan Golub	35
Subsidiarity, division of responsibilities and the enforcement of EC environmental law Han Somsen	57
II. Implications for the regions
The Bavarian perspective on the subsidiarity principle - with particular reference to implications for EC environmental policy Clemens Lerche and Jörg Preusser	79
The meaning of the subsidiarity principle in European environmental policy from the perspective of the German Länder Richard Arnold	91
The Committee of the Regions and environmental policy Ulla Kalbfleisch-Kottsieper	99
Subsidiarity, shared responsibility and environmental policy in Spain Susana Aguilar	111

III. Policies and actors

Experiences and realities of participation in regional development Heather Corrie	135
Shared responsibility and the Community's structural funds: a legal perspective Joanne Scott	149
Industry, subsidiarity and shared responsibility Cornelius J. Lugtmeijer	169
Developing responses to the climate change issue in the EU: the role of subsidiarity and shared responsibility Ute Collier	177