Introduction to Computer Law

Second Edition

David I. Bainbridge  BSc, LLB, PhD, CEng, MBCS, MICE
Lecturer in Law, Aston University
Contents

Preface x
Preface to Second Edition xi
Table of Cases xiii
Table of Statutes xvi
Glossary of computer terms xx

Chapter 1 Introduction 1

PART I COMPUTERS AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

Chapter 2 Overview of intellectual property rights 7
- Copyright law 7
- Patent law 8
- The law of confidence 9
- The law relating to designs 9
- Trade marks and passing-off 9
- Semiconductor regulations 10

Chapter 3 Copyright basics 12
- Fundamentals 12
- Remedies for infringement of copyright 14
- Moral rights 15
- Dealing with copyright 16

Chapter 4 Computer software and copyright 18
- Computer programs 19
- Originality and storage 20
- Preparatory and ancillary materials 21
- Restricted acts for computer programs 22
- Idea/expression and non-literal copying 24
- Exceptions to copyright infringement 30
- Employees and freelance programmers 34
- Programming languages and instruction sets 36
- Databases 38
- Devices to overcome copy-protection 41
Contents

Chapter 5 Computer-generated works 43
  Works created using a computer 44
  Works created by a computer 44
  Intermediate works 46

Chapter 6 The law of confidence 49
  Quality of confidence 50
  Obligation of confidence 51
  Remedies for breach of confidence 55

Chapter 7 Patent law 57
  Basic requirements 59
  New invention 59
  Inventive step 60
  Industrial application 61
  Exclusions from patentability 62
  Infringement, defences and remedies 65
  Miscellaneous 67

Chapter 8 Trade marks and passing-off 69
  Trade marks 69
  What is a trade mark? 70
  The requirements for registering a trade mark 70
  Obstacles and objections to registration 71
  Infringement 72
  Passing-off 73
  Basic requirements for a passing-off action 74
  The misrepresentation 75
  Common fields of activity 75
  Remedies for passing-off 76
  Trade libel 76

Chapter 9 Designs 78
  Registered designs 79
  The design right 80

Chapter 10 Semiconductor products 84
  Semiconductor design right 84
  Remedies for infringement 88

Chapter 11 International implications and summary 89
  International implications 89
  European Community law and intellectual property 90
  Summary 92
  Practical suggestions 93
PART II  COMPUTER CONTRACTS

Chapter 12  Introduction to computer contracts  99

Chapter 13  Fundamentals of computer contracts  102
  Nature of the contract  102
  Breach of contract  107
  Misrepresentation  110
  Non-contractual liability for defects  112
  Exemption clauses  118

Chapter 14  Contracts for writing software  122
  Definitions  122
  Licence agreement  123
  The contract price  124
  Specification  125
  Time for completion  128
  Maintenance of and enhancements to the software  129
  Escrow  130
  Copyright and other intellectual property rights  131
  Liability  133
  Arbitration  133
  Other terms  134
  Independent professional supervision  135

Chapter 15  Licence agreements for "off-the-shelf" software  136
  Contractual status of agreement  136
  Misrepresentation and dealers' promises  137
  Back-up copies of programs  138
  Integration and upgrades  139
  Training and support  139

Chapter 16  Contract between software author and publisher  140
  Payment  140
  Training, maintenance and defects  141
  Confidentiality  141
  Liability  141

Chapter 17  Hardware contracts  143
  Performance  143
  Maintenance and upgrades  144
  Legal controls  145

Chapter 18  Summary and checklist  147
PART III COMPUTERS AND CRIME

Chapter 19 Introduction 153
- The scale and nature of computer crime 154
- The prosecution of criminal offences 155

Chapter 20 Computer fraud 157
- Types of computer fraud 157
- Fraud offences 160
- Obtaining by deception 160
- Conspiracy to defraud 162
- Attempts 163
- Computer fraud as theft 164
- Other offences involving fraud 166

Chapter 21 Hacking - Unauthorized access to computer material 168
- The problem in perspective 168
- The case of R v Gold 169
- The basic hacking offence 170
- The ulterior intent offence 171
- Jurisdiction 172
- Other offences associated with hacking 173
- Communications offences 175
- Data Protection Act 1984 176

Chapter 22 Unauthorized modification of computer programs or data 177
- The law before the 1990 Act 177
- Current position under the Criminal Damage Act 1971 178
- Unauthorized modification under the Computer Misuse Act 1990 178
- Computer viruses 179
- Blackmail 180

Chapter 23 Miscellaneous offences 182
- Copyright law 182
- Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 185
- Trade Descriptions Act 1968 186
- Section 25 of the Theft Act 1968 187

Chapter 24 Computer crime - concluding remarks 188
- Suggestions to prevent or minimize criminal activities 188
- Audit commission recommendations 190
- Summary 191