
Public Opinion, Crime, and Criminal Justice

Julian V. Roberts
and Loretta J. Stalans

WestviewPress

A Division of HarperCollinsPublishers

Contents

Acknowledgments	xi
1 Introduction and Overview: Crime in the Public Eye	1
Public Concern About Crime, 1
Prime-Time Crime, 3
Public Opinion and Criminal Justice Policy-Making, 5
Going Beyond the Results of Polls, 7
Plan of the Book, 9
Crime Control Versus Due Process Models of Justice, 12
Consensus Versus Conflict, 12
Information Processing by the Public, 13
Research Methodologies, 14
Conclusions, 20
Notes, 21
2 Public Knowledge of Crime: Myths and Realities	23
Crime Rates and Patterns, 26
Criminal Recidivism Rates, 30
Conclusions, 32
Notes, 34
3 Legal Reforms and Criminal Justice Statistics: What Does the Public Really Know?	35
Knowledge of the Law and Legal Rights, 35
Knowledge of the Sentencing Process, 43
Conclusions, 51
Notes, 52
4 Crime Seriousness	53
Seriousness of Crime as a Social Problem, 54

Perceptions of the Relative Seriousness of Different Crimes, 56
Conclusions, 71
Notes, 72
5 Beyond Public Responses: The Hidden Effects of Context, Recall, and Stereotypes	75
Context, 76
Time Pressure and Answers to General Questions, 77
The Public as Pragmatic Decisionmaker, 81
People as Creative Storymakers, 89
Conclusions, 104
Notes, 106
6 Origins of Crime and Crime Prevention	107
Beliefs About Why Crimes Are Committed, 107
Schemata of Criminal Events, 110
Stereotypes of Offenders, 111
Crime Prevention, 123
Conclusions, 125
Notes, 125
7 Evaluating the Police and the Courts	127
Confidence Across Institutions and Clarification of Diffuse Support, 128
Evaluations of the Procedural Fairness of Courts, 140
Evaluations of Procedural Fairness: The Role of Direct Experience, 144
Relation Between Encounters with Authorities and Diffuse Support, 149
Conclusions, 152
Notes, 153
8 Legislative Definitions of Crimes and Law Enforcement Priorities	155
Public Definitions of Crimes and Defenses to Crimes, 156
Evaluations of Police Competence, 167
Conclusions, 176
Notes, 177

9 The Adversarial System and the Institution of the Jury	179
Desired Procedures to Resolve Disputes and Their Accuracy, 180
Fairness and Accuracy of Jury Verdicts, 186
Conclusions, 195
Notes, 196
10 Sentencing and Parole	197
Public Interest in Sentencing, 198
The Purposes of Sentencing and Imprisonment, 199
Proportionality in Public Views of Sentencing, 204
Criminal Record and the Sentencing Process, 205
Attitudes Toward Sentencing Severity, 207
Relative Punitiveness of the Public and the Courts, 209
Attitudes Toward Parole, 217
General Versus Specific Measures of Public Opinion, 218
Conclusions, 222
Notes, 223
11 The Death Penalty	225
Power of the Death Penalty as Cruel and Unusual Punishment, 225
Power of Instrumental Arguments to Change Death Penalty Attitudes, 238
Conclusions, 243
Notes, 244
12 Privacy and Free Speech	247
Public Versus Judicial View of Privacy, 248
Community Standards and Judgments of Obscene Materials, 258
Conclusions, 263
Notes, 264
13 Juvenile Crime and Juvenile Justice	265
Knowledge of Juvenile Justice Trends, 266
Sentencing Juvenile Offenders, 274

Conclusions, 276
Notes, 276
14 Gun Control	277
Possession and Ownership of Guns, 278
Views About Gun Control Laws, 279
Conclusions, 287
Notes, 289
15 Drawing Conclusions	291
Educating the Public, 291
Researching Public Opinion, 293
Educating Criminal Justice Professionals, 294
References	297
About the Book and Authors	337