THE DECLARATORY JUDGMENT

Third Edition

by

The Rt. Hon. The Lord Woolf
Lord Chief Justice of England and Wales
Bencher of the Inner Temple
Fellow of University College, London and

Jeremy Woolf, B.A., LL.M.
Barrister-at-law of the Inner Temple and Pump Court Tax Chambers

with a section on the Declarator in Scotland

by

The Hon. Lord Clyde
The Rt. Hon. The Lord Clyde, formerly a
Lord of Appeal in Ordinary and Senator of the College of Justice in Scotland

LONDON
SWEET & MAXWELL
2002
Contents

Preface v
Table of Cases xv
Table of Statutes xxxiii
Table of Statutory Instruments xxxvii
Table of EC Treaties and European Conventions xxxix
Table of Civil Procedure Rules xli

CHAPTER 1
INTRODUCTION

1. The Nature of the Declaratory Judgment 1.02
2. The Effectiveness of Declaratory Relief 1.05
3. Advantages of Declaratory Proceedings 1.09
4. Expansions of Declaratory Relief 1.14

CHAPTER 2
THE HISTORY AND THE DEVELOPMENT

1. The Declaratory Judgment as a General Remedy 2.01
   The initial reluctance of the courts to exercise a declaratory power 2.01
   The first statutes providing for declaratory relief 2.05
   The growth in scope 2.14
   A cause of action need not exist 2.16
   The development of the scope of declaratory relief 2.18
   The vires of Order 25, rule 5 2.23
   The Civil Procedure Rules 2.25
   Statutory provisions 2.26
   The circumstances where declaratory relief will still not be granted 2.27
2. The Declaratory Judgment as a remedy against the Crown 2.28
   The petition of right 2.28
   The bill 2.29
   The differences between a petition of rights and a bill 2.30
In ordinary proceedings 2.32

3. The Declaration and Judicial Review 2.40
   The Procedural changes of 1977 and 1980 2.45

4. When do Applications have to be made by Judicial Review? 2.53

5. The grounds on which the court can intervene 2.57
   The future 2.59

CHAPTER 3
JURISDICTION

1. Introduction 3.001

2. High Court 3.002
   The general scope of the jurisdiction 3.002
   The dual nature of the courts' primary jurisdiction—original and supervisory 3.004
   The nature of the jurisdiction 3.005
   The difference between the extent of the supervisory and original jurisdiction 3.008
   The appellate jurisdiction 3.024
   Restrictions on jurisdiction 3.026
   Parties and jurisdiction 3.029
   Jurisdiction to declare facts 3.030
   The role of legislation in conferring jurisdiction on the courts 3.031

3. County Court 3.036
   The general jurisdiction under the County Court Act 1984 3.036
   Other legislation 3.042

4. The Court of Justice of the European Communities 3.045
   Actions for annulment and actions for the failure to act under articles 230 and 232 of the EC Treaty 3.045
   Preliminary rulings under Article 234 of the Treaty 3.046
   Actions for damages under Article 235 of the Treaty 3.049
   Actions against Member States under Article 226 of the Treaty 3.050
   Other heads of jurisdiction 3.050

5. Excluding the jurisdiction of the English Courts 3.052
   Statutory exclusion of the courts' jurisdiction to grant declaratory relief 3.056
   The effect of legislation expressly conferring jurisdiction upon the High Court on its powers to grant declaratory relief 3.079
   Exclusion of the declaratory jurisdiction because alternative forms of relief are available 3.083
Exclusion of jurisdiction due to the existence of non-statutory remedies 3.085
Exclusion of jurisdiction by agreement 3.086
Exclusion of jurisdiction by a settlor or a testator 3.091

6. Interlocutory and Interim Declarations 3.094
In civil proceedings 3.094

7. Status 3.100
   Declarations as to marital status 3.102
   Declarations of parentage, legitimacy or legitimation 3.103
   Declarations as to adoptions 3.104
   Membership of organisations 3.106

8. Human Rights 3.107

   Parliamentary privilege 3.111
   Parliamentary legislation and resolutions 3.112
   Legislation by national assemblies and local authorities 3.121

10. Governmental Powers 3.122
    The sources of governmental power 3.122
    Areas of the exercise of the prerogative which the courts will not review 3.125

11. Foreign Element 3.130

CHAPTER 4
DISCRETION

1. Introduction 4.001
   The importance of a declaration being a discretionary remedy 4.001
   The discretion is that of the trial judge 4.004
   The development of principles as to the exercise of Discretion 4.006
   The comparison with the discretion exercised on the grant of injunctions 4.010
   The terms of the declaration 4.011
   The relevance of the claim being by the Attorney-General 4.012
   The general approach of the courts 4.013

2. Equitable Principles 4.021
   Whether the declaration is an equitable remedy 4.021
   The nature of the declaratory remedy 4.029
   The position on an application for judicial review 4.030

3. Theoretical Issues 4.032
   Advisory Opinions 4.043
Classification of theoretical issues 4.053
Conclusion 4.092

4. Utility
The importance of a declaration serving a practical purpose 4.093
What is a practical purpose? 4.096
Legality of purpose 4.102
Public Policy 4.105
Termination of the dispute 4.113
Balance of convenience 4.119
Public interest 4.125

5. Future Rights
The significance of declarations as to future rights 4.128
Some of the more important uses of declarations of future rights 4.142

6. Negative Declarations
Identifying a negative declaration 4.150
Civil proceedings 4.158
Criminal proceedings 4.172

7. Alternative remedies
The approach to discretion 4.205

8. Alternative forms of relief
Injunction and specific performance as well as declarations 4.216
Monetary remedies and declarations 4.219
On an application for judicial review 4.222

9. Conclusion 4.225

Chapter 5
The Claimant and Standing to Bring Proceedings

1. Introduction
Why rules as to standing are needed 5.01
Is there a general rule? 5.01
The distinction between issues standing, jurisdiction and discretion 5.04

2. Private Law Proceedings
The need for rights to be infringed 5.08
Where there is a special instead of a contractual relationship 5.12
The orthodox approach 5.16
A possible effect on the claimant's rights suffices 5.18
No limit on the number of persons who can sue 5.26
The shortcomings of the present position 5.28
3. Private Law Proceedings to Enforce Rights in Public Law 5.31
   The general rule 5.31
   Exceptions to the general rule 5.32

4. The Effect of a Conflict Between the Parties as to the Factual Basis for Standing 5.41

5. Civil Proceedings relating to the Criminal Law 5.42

6. Proceedings involving the Attorney-General 5.44
   Ex officio actions 5.49
   Relator Actions 5.51

7. A Person Aggrieved 5.53

8. Standing in Public Law Proceedings on an Application for Judicial Review 5.54

9. The New Test under RSC Order 53 (Now CPR Part 54) for Judicial Review 5.55
   A threshold requirement 5.60
   The extent of the discretionary element on an application for judicial review 5.63
   The flexibility of the courts' approach 5.65
   The rules may differ according to the remedy claimed 5.66
   Conclusion 5.67

CHAPTER 6
THE DEFENDANT

1. Necessary Defendant 6.01
   The general approach 6.01
   Consequences of misjoinder or nonjoinder of defendants 6.17

2. The Crown and its Servants 6.18
   When is the Crown a necessary defendant? 6.23
   Proceedings against Crown servants for breach of contract and tort 6.30
   Proceedings against Crown servants in respect of other unlawful acts 6.33

CHAPTER 7
PROCEDURE

1. The High Court 7.02
   The different divisions of the High Court 7.02
   Methods of commencing proceedings 7.03
   Proceedings by Part 7 Claim Form 7.04
   Where concurrent remedies are claimed 7.06
   Liberty to apply 7.08
CONTENTS

Part 8 Claim Form 7.13
Costs 7.15

2. Judicial Review 7.16
   The application for permission 7.16
   Discovery and cross-examination, additional grounds and evidence 7.22
   The defendant and other parties 7.23
   The grant of declaratory relief 7.24
   The consequences of failure to choose the correct procedure 7.25

3. Final Declarations on Interlocutory Applications or on Applications for judgment in default 7.26
   Preliminary Issues 7.28
   Counterclaim 7.29

4. County Court 7.30

CHAPTER 8
THE ACTION OF DECLARATOR IN SCOTLAND

1. Introduction 8.01

2. History and Development 8.02
   A General Remedy 8.02
   Property 8.05
   Contract 8.06
   Trusts and Succession 8.07
   The actio popularis 8.08
   As a remedy against the Crown 8.09
   Declarators and Judicial Review 8.10
   When do applications have to be made by Judicial Review? 8.15
   Grounds of challenge 8.17

3. Jurisdiction 8.23
   Introduction 8.23
   The Court of Session 8.26
   The Sheriff Court 8.27
   The Court of Justice of the European Communities 8.28
   Exclusion of declaratory relief 8.29
   Interim declarator 8.31
   Status 8.32
   Parliamentary Proceedings 8.34
   Governmental Powers 8.35
   Foreign Element 8.36
   Extra-Legal Issues 8.37

4. Competency and Discretion 8.38
   Introduction 8.38