Contents

Table of treaties and declarations ............................... page ix
Table of cases .................................................. xiii
Table of other documents ........................................ xviii
List of abbreviations ............................................. xxvii

Introduction ................................................................ 1

PART 1 THE NORMATIVE GAP

1 Legal restraints on armed opposition groups as such .......................... 9
   Common Article 3 and Protocol II ..................................... 9
   Other rules of humanitarian law ..................................... 26
   Human rights law ...................................................... 38
   International criminal law .......................................... 55

2 Substantive obligations of armed opposition groups as such ................. 59
   Humane treatment of prisoners .................................... 59
   Protection of civilians .............................................. 75
   Underdevelopment of the law ....................................... 92

PART 2 THE ACCOUNTABILITY GAP

3 Accountability of group leaders ......................................... 97
   Crimes ..................................................................... 99
   Command responsibility of group leaders ......................... 111
   Criteria for accountability of group leaders ...................... 121
   Limited prospects for prosecution ................................. 131

4 Accountability of armed opposition groups as such ............................... 133
   Evidence for accountability of armed opposition groups ......... 134
CONTENTS

Attributing acts to armed opposition groups 152
Successful armed opposition groups 155
Finding a suitable forum 157

5 Accountability of the state for acts of armed opposition groups 164
Applicable law 166
The obligation of the state to take action 180
The pertinence of territorial control 207

6 The quest for accountability 220
Group versus individual accountability 220
Group versus state accountability 224
Conclusion 229

Bibliography 231
Index 242