Contents

Chapter 1: International Antitrust and Diversity of Competition Cultures

Cultural Implications in the Framework of Basic Issues of Competition Policy
Kiminori Eguchi ........................................................................................................3

Comments by Wolfgang Fikentscher ................................................................. 9

Chapter 2: From Cooperation to a Common Law of Antitrust?

Evolving toward What? The Development of International Antitrust
Harry First ............................................................................................................. 23

Comments by Josef Drexl ...................................................................................53

Restraints of Competition as an Issue of International Trade Law:
Concentration and Co-operation Cases
Laurence Idot .......................................................................................................63

Comments by Ulrich Immenga .........................................................................81

What Is Harm to Competition? Antitrust, Exclusionary Practices, and the Elusive Notion of Anticompetitive Effect
Eleanor Fox .........................................................................................................87

Comments by Ulrich Ehricke ..........................................................................113

Chapter 3: New Issues of Competition Law

Antitrust Law and the Internet
Andreas Heinemann ............................................................................................131
Table of Contents

Comments by Theo Bodewig ........................................................................................................ 155

Hanns Ullrich ......................................................................................................................... 159

Comments by Andreas Fuchs .................................................................................................... 225

Chapter 4: Multilevel Antitrust Regulation and Enforcement

The Microsoft Litigation and Federalism in U.S. Antitrust Enforcement: Implications for International Competition Law
Warren Grimes ....................................................................................................................... 237

Comments by Clifford Jones and Mark Jamison ................................................................. 259

An International Multi-Level System of Competition Laws: Federalism in Antitrust
Wolfgang Kerber ..................................................................................................................... 269

Comments by Christian Kirchner ............................................................................................ 301

Do We Need “Courage” for International Antitrust Law? Choosing between Supranational and International Law Principles of Enforcement
Josef Drexl .............................................................................................................................. 311

Comments by Peter Behrens .................................................................................................... 343

Chapter 5: Outlook

Is It Time for an International Agreement on Antitrust?
Jean-François Pons ................................................................................................................. 349