Economic Globalization and Compliance with International Environmental Agreements

Edited by

Alexandre Kiss
President, European Council of Environmental Law, France

Dinah Shelton
Professor, Notre Dame Law School, U.S.A.

and

Kanami Ishibashi
Associate Professor, Faculty of Law, Kagawa University, Japan

in association with the International Center for Environmental Compliance Assessment, Kagawa University
Contents

Series Editors’ Preface
Foreword
Editors’ Preface
List of Contributors
List of Abbreviations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>I</th>
<th>The Concept and Challenges of Globalization</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| 1. | Economic Globalization and the Common Concern of Humanity
Alexandre Kiss
I. The Concept of the Common Concern of Humanity
II. The Common Concern of Humanity and Trade |
| 2. | Challenges Posed by Globalization and Synergistic Responses: Multilateral Institutions in Transition
Tatsuro Kunugi
I. The Many Faces of Globalization
A. Salient Trend I – Emergence of Global Problématiques
B. Salient Trend II – Transformation of Major Conferences
C. Salient Trend III – Co-operative Management through Partnership
II. Types and Characteristics of Codes
III. The Nature and Forms of Partnership
IV. Evolution of Multilateral Institutions
V. Two Equations on Environmentally Sustainable Development
Conclusion
Appendix |
| 3. | The Impact of Economic Globalization on Compliance
Dinah Shelton
I. Globalization
II. The Impact of Globalization on Compliance
III. Potential Responses to Enhance the Will and Capacity of States |

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>II</th>
<th>The Normative Framework</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| 4. | Treaties on Nature and Living Resources
Hiroji Isozaki
I. Measures to Control Movements of Biological Resources
II. The Place of Departure
1. CITES
2. ITTA |
Contents

III. The Place of Destination or Country of Import 49
   1. The Cartagena Protocol on Biosafety to the Convention on Biological Diversity 50
   2. Control Measures on Alien Species 55

5. Environmental Measures Restricting the Waste Trade 59
   Kanami Ishibashi
   Introduction 59
   I. Overview of the Existing Waste Trade Instruments and their Trends 61
      A. The Basel Convention 61
      B. The Bamako Convention 62
      C. The Lomé IV Convention and the Cotonou Convention 63
      D. Other Regional Instruments 64
   II. Conflicts between Waste MEAs and the Free Trade Regime? 68
   III. How to Solve the Conflicts between the MEAs and GATT/WTO 69
      A. Interpretational Methods 70
      B. Normative Methods 72
   IV. Amending GATT XX or Adopting New Guidance on State Sovereignty 73
   Conclusion 74

6. Regulating Trade in Dangerous Substances: Prior Informed Consent under the 1998 Rotterdam Convention 75
   Catherine Redgwell
   I. Introduction 75
   II. Background to the 1998 Rotterdam Convention 78
   IV. Prior Informed Consent and Free Trade 85
   V. Conclusion 87

7. Implications of the NAFTA Investment Chapter for Environmental Regulation 89
   Joseph Freedman
   I. Introduction to NAFTA 89
      A. Environmental Provisions 90
      B. NAFTA Side Agreements 91
      C. US Environmental Review Process 93
   II. Scope and Purpose of Investment Rules 93
   III. NAFTA Investment Provisions Relevant to Environmental Policy 94
      A. Environmental Provisions 94
      B. Non-discrimination 94
      C. Performance Requirements 96
D. Minimum Standard of Treatment 96
E. Expropriation 98

IV. The NAFTA Investor–State Dispute Settlement Process: Empowering Investors 100
A. Dispute Settlement 100
B. Subnational Measures 100
C. The Cause of Action 100
D. Procedure 101
Conclusion 103

Selected Readings and Websites 103

8. Can Regional Economic Integrity be Reconciled with Environmental Protection in Developing Countries? 105
_Ruosi Zhang_
I. Introduction 105
II. Environmental Protection in the Process of Regional Economic Integration among Developing Countries 106
1. ASEAN/AFTA 107
2. MERCOSUR 110
3. COMESA 113
4. APEC 115
III. Implications of the Trade and Environmental Issues from the Perspective of Developing Countries 117
IV. Conclusion 121

III. Enhancing Compliance with International Environmental Obligations

9. UNEP Initiatives to Promote Compliance with Multilateral Environmental Agreements 125
_Alexandre Timoshenko_
I. A Programmatic Approach 126
II. Activities 129
A. Administering and Co-ordinating Multilateral Environmental Agreements 130
B. Preparing International Guidelines 132
III. UNEP Conventions that Contain Trade Measures 134
A. CITES 134
B. The Montreal Protocol 134
C. The Basel Convention 135
Conclusion 136

10. The Environmental and Social Safeguard Policies of the World Bank and the Evolving Role of the Inspection Panel 139
_David Freestone_
I. Financing Sustainable Development 140
II. The Development of the Safeguard Policies 142
III. Benchmarking of Environmental and Social Requirements 144
IV. The Inspection Panel
   A. Composition 146
   B. The Powers of the Panel 147
   C. Overview of the Procedures 149
   D. The Eligibility Phase 150
   E. The Investigation 152
   F. Consideration of the Panel Report 154

Conclusion 154

11. Improving Compliance with Multilateral Environmental Agreements through Positive Measures: The Case of the Kyoto Protocol on Climate Change

Massimiliano Montini

Introduction: The Increase of Multilateral Environmental Agreements and Compliance 157

I. Enhancing Compliance 159
   A. Old and New Instruments to Ensure Compliance (from Sanctions to Economic Measures) 159
   B. The Decline of Traditional Dispute Settlement Procedures 161
   C. The Rise of New Dispute Avoidance Procedures (Non-compliance Procedures) 162
   D. Improving Compliance through Positive Measures 163

II. New Instruments to Improve Compliance: The Kyoto Protocol 170
   A. Introduction to the Kyoto Protocol 170
   B. The Kyoto Protocol and the Principle of Common but Differentiated Responsibilities 171
   C. The Flexibility Mechanisms Introduced by the Kyoto Protocol 173
   D. The Non-Compliance Procedure Approved by the Conference of the Parties 175

Conclusion 178

12. The Use of Unilateral Trade Measures to Protect the Environment

Laurence Boisson de Chazournes

Introduction 181
   I. Unilateral Measures as a Long-standing Practice 181
   II. Unilateral Trade Measures are increasingly Contentious 183
   III. The Increasing Visibility of Unilateral Measures 184
   IV. Emergence of the Precautionary Principle and the Resort to Unilateral Measures 186
   V. Unilateralism, Environmental Protection and the WTO: A Right to Resort to Unilateral Measures? 187
   VI. Concluding Remarks about the Legitimacy of Unilateral Measures 191

13. Environmental Information and Public Participation in Decision-making

Alexandre Kiss

Conclusion 193
I. International Recognition of the Right to Environment
   A. Transboundary Procedures
   B. Environmental Information, Participation and Access to Justice within States
   II. The Right to Environment and International Free Trade Regimes
      Conclusion

14. The Utility and Limits of Codes of Conduct for the Protection of the Environment
   Dinah Shelton
   Introduction
   I. The Emergence of Codes of Conduct
   II. The Present Context
   III. The Utility of Codes of Conduct
   IV. The Problem: Non-binding Norms without Enforcement
      Conclusion: An Alternative Regime
      Appendix A: The CERES Principles
      Appendix B: The ICC Business Charter for Sustainable Development
      Appendix C: The Caux Principles
      Appendix D: The United Nations Global Compact

15. Dispute Avoidance in International Environmental Law
   Francesco Francioni
   I. The Complexity of International Environmental Dispute Resolution
   II. Ex Ante Procedures Aimed at Providing Transparency and Confidence Building
   III. Fact Finding, Monitoring and Environmental Risk Management
   IV. Response Action and Non-Compliance Procedures
      Conclusion

16. WTO Dispute Settlement as a Model for International Governance
   Steve Charnovitz
   Introduction
   I. Overview of the WTO Dispute System
   II. Criticism of WTO Adjudication
   III. Criticism of WTO Remedies
   IV. Implications for Environmental Governance

17. Conflict Resolution and the Law of the Sea: Reconciling Interaction between the LOS Convention and Environmental Instruments
   Donald R. Rothwell
   Introduction
   I. The LOS Convention and Settlement of Disputes
      A. General Provisions for Dispute Settlement
Contents

B. Compulsory Means of Dispute Settlement 257
C. Limitations on Jurisdiction 258
D. Miscellaneous Provisions 259

II. Dispute Resolution Practice and the Law of the Sea 260

III. The International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea 262
   A. ITLOS Cases: 1996–2002 263
   B. The Southern Bluefin Tuna Cases 264
   C. ITLOS Provisional Measures 265
   D. Annex VII Arbitral Tribunal 266
       Developments in 2001 267

IV. Marine Environmental Disputes and the Law of the Sea 267
    Conclusion 268

18. Dispute Resolution in Environmental Law – Can the European Union be a Model? 271
   Ludwig Krämer

   Introduction 271
   I. The Community Constitutional Framework for Environmental Law-making 272
   II. Institutions to Monitor Applications 273
   III. EU Compliance Mechanisms 273
       A. Monitoring Compliance 273
       B. Proceedings 275
   IV. Assessment of the System 277
       A. Positive Features 277
       B. Weaknesses 278
   V. Lessons to Learn for International Environmental Conventions? 279

   Armand de Mestral

   Introduction 283
   I. Creation of the Commission on Environmental Cooperation 283
   II. Status of the CEC in NAFTA 287
   III. Structure of the CEC 287
   IV. CEC and Formal Settlement of Disputes 289
   V. CEC and the Avoidance of Disputes 290
   VI. The NAAEC in Operation – Examples of Articles 13 & 14 Proceedings 291
   VII. The NAFTA Commission on Environmental Cooperation – A Voice Speaking for the North American Environment 296

Conclusions 299

Index 303