The Legalization of Human Rights
Multidisciplinary perspectives on human rights and human rights law

Edited by Saladin Meckled-García and Başak Çali

Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group
LONDON AND NEW YORK
Contents

List of illustrations vii
List of contributors viii
Acknowledgements ix

Introduction: human rights legalized – defining, interpreting, and implementing an ideal 1
BAŞAK ÇALI AND SALADIN MECKLED-GARCÍA

PART I
The limits of law 9
1 Lost in translation: the human rights ideal and international human rights law 11
SALADIN MECKLED-GARCÍA AND BAŞAK ÇALI
2 The law cannot be enough: human rights and the limits of legalism 32
ANTHONY WOODIWISS
3 Putting law in its place: an interdisciplinary evaluation of national amnesty laws 49
MICHAEL FREEMAN

PART II
Law and its virtues 65
4 The virtues of legalization 67
JACK DONNELLY
5 Is the legalization of human rights really the problem? Genocide in the Guatemalan Historical Clarification Commission 81
RICHARD ASHBY WILSON
PART III
Human rights law in action

6 Revisioning the role of law in women’s human rights struggles
   RATNA KAPUR

7 The bureaucratic gaze of international human rights law
   DAVID CHANDLER

8 Verdictive discourses, shame and judicialization in pursuit of freedom of association rights
   EDWARD WEISBAND

PART IV
Interpretation and legal authority

9 From the theory of discovery to the theory of recognition of indigenous rights: conventional international law in search of homeopathy
   NATALIA ÁLVAREZ MOLINERO

10 Politics of reading human rights: inclusion and exclusion within the production of human rights
   UPENDRA BAXI

Index

201