CONTENTS

Acknowledgments xi

A. INTRODUCTION TO SEMIOTICS AND THE LAW

Chapter 1. Introduction 3

Chapter 2. Legal Semiotics 19

  i. Introduction 19
  II. Sources of Semiotics 28
  III. Conclusion 79

B. TERRORISM

Chapter 3. A Semiotic Approach to a Legal Definition of Terrorism 83

  i. Introduction 83
  II. Elements of the Crime of Terrorism 87
  III. The Many Definitions of Terrorism 89
  IV. What is the Difference Between International and Domestic Terrorism? 108
  V. Terrorism is not only a Crime but a Method to Achieve Self-Determination 109
  VI. International Crimes are also Methods of Committing Terrorism 111
  VII. If Terrorism is not only a Crime, but a Method or an Act of War, Then What Court Should Try International Terrorists? 113
  VIII. The Paradoxes Inherent in the Meaning of Terrorism 113
  IX. Literary and Cinematographic Representations of Terrorism 114
  X. Conclusion 125

Chapter 4. State-Sponsored Terrorism, the Laws of War, and the Role of Storytelling as a Self-Help Remedy: Law, Literature, and Semiotics 127

  i. Introduction 127
  II. The Legitimacy of an Interdisciplinary Method 133
C. CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE

Chapter 5. Deconstructing Civil Disobedience: A Semiotic Definition 169

I. Introduction 169
II. The Deep Structure of Civil Disobedience 175
III. Civil Disobedience and Terrorism 178
IV. Arguments for and Against Civil Disobedience 181
V. Civil Disobedience is not Protected by the Constitutional Right to Dissent or Free Speech 185
VI. Conclusion and the Delicate Balance 189

Chapter 6. Semiotics and Martin Luther King's Letter from Birmingham Jail 191

I. Introduction: The Letter 191
II. Semiotics 193
III. Role of the Reader 196
IV. Genre of the Letter 199
V. Intertextuality and the Letter: Biblical Allusions 200
VI. Biblical Underpinnings of Martin Luther King's Anti-Law Stance 201
VII. Plato's Allegory of the Cave 202
VIII. Historical and Legal Context of the Letter 203
IX. Narrative Structure of the Letter 205
X. The Notion of Difference and "Différance" 211
XI. Natural Law Theory and Civil Disobedience 213
XII. For and Against Civil Disobedience: Dworkin and Bork 216
XIII. Conclusion 220

Chapter 7. On Civil Disobedience, Jurisprudence, Feminism, and the Law in the Antigones of Sophocles and Anouilh 221

I. Introduction 221
II. What is Civil Disobedience? 223
III. Civil Disobedience and Jurisprudence 228
IV. Hegel's Reading of Sophocles' Antigone 239
v. Antigone and Feminism 242
vi. Civil Disobedience in Sophocles' Antigone 244
vii. Civil Disobedience and Jean Anouilh's Antigone: A Parody 251
viii. Conclusion 258

D. WOMEN'S HUMAN RIGHTS

Chapter 8. The Semiotics of Women's Human Rights in Iran 263

1. Introduction 263
2. History of Women's Rights in Iran 265
3. Semiotics of Hejab, the Veil, and Women's Dress Code 280
4. Signs of Women's Rights in Iran as Represented in the Humanities 294
5. Iranian Family Laws: Then and Now 321
vii. Conclusion 341

Chapter 9. Gendercide and the Cultural Context of Sex Trafficking in China 347

1. Introduction 347
2. Laws Protecting Women in China From Trafficking 354
3. Sex Trafficking in China 364
IV. Root Causes of Trafficking 369
5. Changing Role of Women in Chinese Society 383
6. Policy Suggestions to Combat Sex Trafficking in China 387
vii. Lisa See, Snow Flower and the Secret Fan 389
viii. Conclusion 393

E. CHILDREN'S HUMAN RIGHTS

Chapter 10. The Culture of Violence: Child Soldiers, Slavery, and the Trafficking of Children 397

1. Introduction 397
2. The Root Causes of the Use of Child Soldiers 405
3. Laws Relating to the Use of Child Soldiers 412
4. Literary Representations of Child Soldiers 436
5. Conclusion and Proposals for Solutions 450
F. CULTURE AND SEMIOTICS

   1. Introduction 459
   11. Text 463
   111. Context 479
   11v. Subtext 492
   1vii. Pretext 519
   1viii. Conclusion 522

Chapter 12. The Impact of Culture on the Semiotics of Treaty Interpretation: How Pirates Read and Misread the Berne Convention 527
   1. Introduction 527
   11. Hermeneutics and Reader-Response Theory 530
   111. Arguments for and Against Protecting Authors' Rights 531
   11v. Piracy, The Berne Convention and Dramatic Irony 533
   1vi. History of Copyright 535
   1vii. Copyright Theories and the Berne Convention 536
   1viii. Clashes of Culture 540
   1viii. Berne Convention: Underlying Principles and Rights Theories 541
   1x. U.S. and Chinese Compliance with the Berne Convention's Minimum Standards 542
   1x. U.S. Responses to the Berne Convention 543
   1xi. How the United States Reads the Berne Convention 545
   1xii. China's Responses to the Berne Convention 547
   1xiii. Hermeneutics and Cultural Difference 549
   1xiv. How China Reads the Berne Convention 550
   1xv. U.S. Views on Piracy of Patented Inventions as Expressed in Film: Flash of Genius 552
   1xvi. Conclusion 553

G. CONCLUSION

Index 559