Developing Countries and the Multilateral Trade Regime

The Failure and Promise of the WTO’s Development Mission

Donatella Alessandrini
INTRODUCTION - THE FAILURE AND THE PROMISE OF THE MULTILATERAL TRADING REGIME

I The 'Science of Development' and 'Capitalist Imperialism' 4
II Development as a 'Discourse' and Development as a 'Trap' 7
III Outline of the Chapters 10

1 THE BRETTON WOODS CONFERENCE: TRADE AND THE 'CIVILISING MISSION' IN THE POSTWAR INTERNATIONAL TRADING REGIME 14

I The Mandate System and 'the Science of Development' 16
   A Freedom of Transit and Equitable Treatment:
   The First Regulatory Attempt at a World Trade Order . . . 20
   B . . . and the Extension of Market Imperatives 22

II The Bretton Woods Conference and the Postwar International Economic Order 23
   A Grounding 'Non-Discrimination' and 'Equal Treatment' in Trade Relations 26
   B The Draft Charter and the London Conference:
   Of Rules and Exceptions 29
   C The Free-Trade Contradictions of the Charter:
   Structuring the International Division of Labour 31
   D The Investment Provisions: Protecting Capital Abroad 34
   E The Outcome of the ITO Negotiations 36

III The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) 37

Conclusions 38
2 THE 'SCIENCE OF DEVELOPMENT' AND THE GATT NORM

I The Emergence of the Development Enterprise
   A The ‘Professionalisation’ and ‘Institutionalisation’ of Development 45
   B Development Economics’ ‘Growth’ and ‘Progress’ 46
   C Development Economics’ Normative Assumptions 48
   D Reformist Dependency Theories and the Development Matrix: The Structuralist School of Thought 51

II The GATT Development Mission
   A The GATT First Review Session: Positing Developing Countries’ Failure 57
   B The Haberler Report and Committee III: Tracing Discrimination 58
   C The GATT Part IV: Discharging Responsibility 60
   D Enabling Non-Reciprocity 62
   E A ‘Differential and More Favourable Treatment’? 64
   F Assessing the GATT’s Flexibility 66

Conclusions 68

3 THE NEO-LIBERAL TRANSFORMATION OF DEVELOPMENT THINKING AND THE RENEWED MISSION OF THE MULTILATERAL TRADING REGIME

I The Neo-Liberal Conversion of Development Thinking
   A Rational Choice-Based Approach . . . 74
   B . . . and Failing Institutional Arrangements 76
   C Outward-Oriented Policies and Government Controls 77

II The Neo-Liberal Transformation of the International Trading Regime
   A The World Recession and the Restructuring of the International Economy 82
   B Towards a Trade-Service-Investment Driven Market Integration: Enter the ‘New Issues’ 85
   C Setting the Scene for the New Mandate 88
   D Punta del Este: A Divisive Strategy 90
Contents

III Developing Countries' Re-Alignment: Revisiting the Story 93
   A From the Oil and Debt Crisis to the Structural Adjustment Policies 94
   B The Challenge of Increasing Discrimination 97
   C The Pressure Tactic: Unilateralism/Bilateralism/Multilateralism 98

Conclusions 100

4 THE URUGUAY ROUND AND THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE NEW CONSENSUS 103
   I Old and New Issues on the Negotiating Table, Corporate Activism and the Single Undertaking Approach 105
   II The Rise of US Protectionism and the Consolidation of the Pressure Tactic 108
   III The Montreal/Geneva Mid-Term Review: Weakening the Opposition to a Broader Mandate 112
   IV Brussels Ministerial Meeting: Reintroducing Reciprocity 115
   V From Brussels to Marrakesh: Clinton's Aggressive Approach to Market Openness 119
   VI The Final Agreement: Towards an Equal Playing Field? 121
      A The New Issues . . . 121
      B . . . and the Same Old Ones 125

Conclusions 128

5 THE WORLD TRADE ORGANISATION: THE POWER OF TRANSNATIONAL CAPITAL AND THE REDUCTION OF DOMESTIC REGULATORY SPACE 130
   I Assessing the 'Trade Off': the Market Access Issues 132
      A Agriculture 133
      B Textiles and Clothing 134
      C Safeguards and Anti-Dumping 135
      D Implementation Costs 136
Contents

II Liberalisation Rhetoric and Practice: Opening Markets, Protecting Capital

A Investors' Rights in Historical Context
B The Changing Investment Climate of the 1980s and 1990s: Securing Protection Abroad
C The 'Modest' TRIMs Agreement
D The 'Flexible' General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS)
E The 'Balanced' TRIPs Agreement

Conclusions

6 OF FAILURES AND PROMISES: THE MANY LIVES OF THE DOHA DEVELOPMENT ROUND

I The Road to Doha: Reflecting on the UR Imbalances

II The Doha Agenda

A Principles and Objectives: Multilateralism, Free Trade, Development
B Work Programme: Towards a Softening of the WTO Neo-Liberal Agenda?

III From Cancun to Geneva: Emerging Oppositions

IV Reaction to Cancun: Silencing Dissent

V GATS 'Flexibility': Rhetoric and Negotiating Practice

A The Safeguard Mechanism and Liberalisation of GATS Mode 4: An Uncertain Future
B Targeting Non-Discriminatory Domestic Regulation: GATS Article VI
C Enter Specific Commitments: The Request-Offer Approach

VI TRIPs: Transfer of Technology v Investors' Rights

A Substantive TRIPs-plus Standards in Investment Agreements
B Investor-to-State Dispute Resolution
C Expropriation
Contents

VII From Hong Kong to Geneva: The Last Breath of the Doha Round? 197
  A The July Framework 198
  B The Hong Kong Ministerial Declaration 199
  C Suspension, Crisis, Resumption 201

Conclusions 202

CONCLUSIONS – THE DEVELOPMENT MISSION OF THE WTO 205

I The First Perspective: The Reform of the International Trading System 207
  A The GATS and the Financial Crisis 210
  B Addressing the Challenge, Strengthening the Mindset 213

II The Second Perspective: The WTO and its Civilising Mission 217

III The WTO’s Market-Access Mindset 220

IV The ‘Political Rationality’ of Development 224

Bibliography 228

Index 243