Religious Liberty in Western and Islamic Law

Toward a World Legal Tradition

Kristine Kalanges
CONTENTS

Author Biography xi
Preface xiii

1. Introduction 1
   I. Religious Liberty in Western and Islamic Law: Two Questions 6
   II. The Theoretical Challenge 8
      A. The New Haven School 10
      B. Legal Rules and International Society 12
      C. World Legal Tradition: Berman’s Comparative Integrative Jurisprudence 14
      D. Clarifying the Argument 22

2. Theological and Philosophical Origins of Religious Liberty in the U.S. Constitution 26
   I. The Protestant Reformation and the Early Modern Origins of Freedom of Religion 27
      A. Martin Luther and the Two Kingdoms 28
      B. John Calvin and Freedom of Conscience 32
      C. From Theological Doctrine to Democratic Form 35
   II. The Genesis of the American Constitutional Experiment in Religious Liberty 38
      A. The “Soul Liberty” of Roger Williams 42
      B. John Locke’s Separation Principle 44
      C. James Madison and Religious Freedom as an “Inalienable Right” 46
   III. Religious Freedom in the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution 47
      A. The Establishment Clause 49
      B. The Free Exercise Clause 51
6. Religious Liberty in Islamic International Law 140
   I. Islam and Human Rights—Origins of the Debate 141
   II. Religious Freedom in Islamic Human Rights Declarations 147
   III. Interpreting the Emergence of Contemporary Islamic International Law 151
   IV. Some Regional and Strategic Implications of the International Debate 156
7. Conclusion: Toward a World Legal Tradition 168

Index 183