

Popular Justice in Europe (18th-19th Centuries)

edited by

Émilie Delivré / Emmanuel Berger

Società editrice il Mulino
Bologna

Duncker & Humblot
Berlin

Contents

Introduction, by Emmanuel Berger and Émilie Delivré	p.	7
I. JUSTICES OF THE PEACE
The «Juges de Paix» of Napoleonic Europe, by Michael Broers		25
Popular Justice in Europe. The Justice of the Peace, a «popular» French Magistracy in the Kingdom of Naples, by Giuseppina D'Antuono		47
II. «JURÉS» AND LAYMEN
The Criminal Jury in England and France in the Late 18th Century. Historiographical Issues and Research Perspectives of Popular Justice, by Emmanuel Berger		71
«Le fruit du terroir?». The Debate on Trial by Jury in the United Kingdom of the Netherlands (1814-1831), by Bram Delbecke		89
Introducing the Participation of Laymen into the Judicial System of 19th-Century Germany. The Example of Bavaria, by Martin Löhnig		115
III. PRACTICES OF POPULAR JUSTICE
«Left to the Mercy of the Mob». Ducking, Popular Justice, and the Magistrates in Britain (1750-1890), by David Churchill and Peter King		135
«Rüegerichte» as Popular Justice, by Émilie Delivré		169

Further Reading and Resources	p. 189
Index	201
Authors	211