Patarata Pottery
Classic Period Ceramics of the South-central Gulf Coast, Veracruz, Mexico

Barbara L. Stark

THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA PRESS
TUCSON
1989
Contents

PREFACE

1. PREHISTORY IN SOUTH-CENTRAL VERACRUZ AND THE PATARATA RESEARCH
   - Issues in Central and Southern Veracruz Prehistory
   - History of the Patarata Research
   - Additional Test Pits

2. DESCRIPTIVE PROCEDURES FOR CERAMIC ANALYSIS
   - Classification and Counts
   - Organization of the Presentation

3. TYPE DESCRIPTIONS OF PATARATA POTTERY
   - Caliapan Resist, Brown-on-light
   - Caliapan Resist, White
   - Caliapan Resist, Orange
   - Caliapan Resist, Red
   - Caliapan Resist, Alvarado
   - Acula Red-orange, Monochrome
   - Acula Red-orange, Engraved
   - Acula Red-orange, Acula
   - Roja Red
   - Armas Unpainted, Brownish-black
   - Armas Unpainted, Armas
   - Papaloapan Plain
   - Prieto Grey-black
   - Mojarra Orange-grey
   - Mojarra Orange-grey, Negative
   - Escolleras Chalk
   - Tlacotalpan Orange
   - Tanare White
   - Mojarra Coarse
   - Patarata Coarse, Red-orange
   - Patarata Coarse, Plain
   - Patarata Coarse, Black
   - Patarata Coarse, Red
   - Miscellaneous Ceramics

4. CERAMIC TEMPORAL PATTERNS AND COMPARISONS
   - Characterization of Phases by Attributes and Design
   - Characterization of Phases by Pottery Type Frequencies
   - Temporal Analysis of Patarata Test Pits
   - Test Pit Chronology
   - Seriation
   - Comparisons with Other Sequences
     - El Tajin
     - Tula
     - Teotihuacan and the Valley of Mexico
     - Oaxaca
     - Tehuantepec
     - Chiapas
     - Tehuacan Valley
     - Tuxtla Mountains
   - Summary

5. POTTERY MANUFACTURE ON PATARATA
   - Specialized Pottery Production
   - Factors Affecting Production
   - Factors Affecting Distribution
   - Factors Affecting Consumption
   - A Synchronic Descriptive Model from Ethnohistory