CONTENTS

Acknowledgments ix
Foreword xi
MARK ROSENBERG

The Study of Cuba: About Heavenly, Social, and Epistemological Revolutions 1
DAMIÁN J. FERNÁNDEZ

Cuban Studies

Three Decades of Studies on the Cuban Revolution: Progress, Problems, and the Future 9
CARMELO MESA-LAGO

Commentary: Four Decades with Fidel 45
ANTHONY P. MAINGOT

History

History, Historiography, and Cuban Studies: Thirty Years Later 53
LOUIS A. PÉREZ, JR.

Commentary: Beyond Comparison and Case Study: Encounters between Historiographies 79
REBECCA J. SCOTT

Commentary: Cubans in the United States: Interpreting the Historical Literature 85
GERALD E. POYO
Political Science and International Relations

JORGE I. DOMÍNGUEZ
95

Commentary: Politics in Cuba, 1959–1989
MARIFELI PÉREZ-STABLE
119

Commentary: Politics in Cuba, 1959–1989
RHODA RABKIN
125

Commentary: The Study of Cuba’s International Relations: Some Postmodernist Challenges
DAMIÁN J. FERNÁNDEZ
134

Economics

Thinking about the Cuban Economy in the 1990s
JORGE F. PÉREZ-LÓPEZ
141

Commentary: Bases of Disagreements about Cuban Economic Performance: A Sociological Perspective
SUSAN ECKSTEIN
182

Commentary: What to Think about the Cuban Economy
SERGIO G. ROCA
188

Humanities

The Humanities and Cuban Studies, 1959–1989
ROBERTO GONZÁLEZ ECHEVARRÍA
199

Commentary: A Minor-Key Note on Cuban Studies
GUSTAVO PÉREZ-FIRMAT
216

Commentary: Notes on Afro-Cuban Religion and Cuban Linguistics
ISABEL CASTELLANOS
222
Contents vii

Cubans in Exile

SILVIA PEDRAZA

Commentary: Unique but Not Marginal: Cubans in Exile 258
LISANDRO PÉREZ

Appendixes

Cuban Bibliography 271
ROSA Q. MESA

Toward the Rectification of Shortfalls and Production Constraints Affecting Cuban Research: Bibliography for the Year 2000 284
PETER T. JOHNSON

Contributors 291

Index 295