A Holy Alliance?

THE CHURCH AND THE LEFT IN COSTA RICA, 1932-1948

Eugene D. Miller

M.E. Sharpe
Armonk, New York
London, England
1996
Contents

List of Tables and Maps
Acknowledgments
List of Abbreviations for Archival Sources

Introduction

Part I: Consolidation and Domestic Alliance, 1934-1943

1. In the Democratic Tradition:
   The Founding of the Partido Comunista de Costa Rica
   15

2. The Strikes of 1934
   34

3. Consolidation and Contradictions: The State, the CPCR, and the Formation of the Confederación de Trabajadores de Costa Rica
   52

Part II: Schism and Foreign Affiliation, 1943-1948

4. The Wartime Alliance and the 1943 Labor Code
   83

5. Confederación Costarricense de Trabajadores
   Rerum Novarum and the Church, 1943-1945
   109

6. The Partido Vanguardia Popular and the Fall of the Ruling Alliance
   131

   157

8. Conclusion
   183

Appendix A. Discussion of the 1943 Labor Code
   193

Appendix B. Synopsis of Oscar Barahona Streber's Letter on the Proposed Guatemalan Labor Code: To Juan José Arévalo and Geraldo Gordillo Barrios, January 15, 1947
   199

Appendix C. The Structure of the Partido Vanguardia Popular, 1944-1947
   201

Bibliographic Essay
   204