Political Development in Pacific Asia

David Martin Jones

Polity Press
Contents

Acknowledgements vii

Abbreviations viii

Note on Chinese Terms xi

Introduction 1

1 Political Culture and Political Development in Pacific Asia: The Evolution of the Developmental State 5
   • Classical Pacific Asian understandings of political identity 9
   • The metamorphoses of tradition in post-colonial political development 21
   • The reinvention of tradition and the problem of development 55

2 The State They're In: The Political Economy of Pacific Asia 58
   • The Japanese model 62
   • The political economy of Northeast Asia 68
   • A tale of two cities: Hong Kong and Singapore 87
   • Thailand, Malaysia and Indonesia: ersatz capitalism in Southeast Asia 100
   • The overseas Chinese and ersatz capitalism in Southeast Asia 128
   • The difficulty of Asia Pacific economic cooperation in the new world trading order 131
   • Conclusion: cooperation versus protectionism in the Pacific Basin 134
3 Democratization, Civil Society and the Pacific Asian Nouveaux Riches

- The middle-class culture of dependency in contemporary Pacific Asia
- Maintaining the balance: state strategy towards the illiberal middle class in Pacific Asia
- Conclusion: democratization and its discontents

4 Living in Interesting Times: International Relations in the Asia Pacific

- Pacific Asia and the Cold War, 1950–1992
- The problematic balance of power in Pacific Asia in the post-Cold War era
- Conclusion

Conclusion

Bibliography

Index