Contents

Foreword  Theory Out of Bounds Series Editors  vii

Chapter 1. Constituent Power: The Concept of a Crisis  1
  On the Juridical Concept of Constituent Power  1
  Absolute Procedure, Constitution, Revolution  2
  From Structure to the Subject  25

Chapter 2. Virtue and Fortune: The Machiavellian Paradigm  37
  The Logic of Time and the Prince’s Indecision  37
  Democracy as Absolute Government and the Reform of the Renaissance  61
  Critical Ontology of the Constituent Principle  81

Chapter 3. The Atlantic Model and the Theory of Counterpower  99
  Mutatio and Anakyclosis  99
  Harrington: Constituent Power as Counterpower  111
  The Constituent Motor and the Constitutionalist Obstacle  128

Chapter 4. Political Emancipation in the American Constitution  141
  Constituent Power and the “Frontier” of Freedom  141
  Homo Politicus and the Republican Machine  155
  Crisis of the Event and Inversion of the Tendency  175

Chapter 5. The Revolution and the Constitution of Labor  193
  Rousseau’s Enigma and the Time of the Sansculottes  193
  The Constitution of Labor  212
  To Terminate the Revolution  230

Chapter 6. Communist Desire and the Dialectic Restored  251
  Constituent Power in Revolutionary Materialism  251
  Lenin and the Soviets: The Institutional Compromise  268
  Socialism and Enterprise  292
Chapter 7. The Constitution of Strength 303

"Multitudo et Potentia": The Problem 303
Constitutive Disutopia 313
Beyond Modernity 324

Notes 337

Index 365