Contents

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction: Toward a Comparative Political Theory 1
Fred Dallmayr

1. Mapping Modernities, “Islamic” and “Western” 11
   Roxanne L. Euben

2. Eastern Veiling, Western Freedom? 39
   Nancy J. Hirschmann

3. Islamic Constitutionalism and the Concept of Democracy 61
   Azizah Y. al-Hibri

4. Rewriting Contemporary Muslim Politics:
   A Twentieth-Century Periodization 89
   Ahmet Davutoglu

5. Symbolic and Utilitarian Value of a Tradition:
   Martyrdom in the Iranian Political Culture 119
   Manochehr Dorraj

6. Radical Islam and Nonviolence: A Case Study of Religious Empowerment and Constraint 145
   Robert C. Johansen

7. Indian Secularism and Its Critics: Some Reflections 173
   Thomas Pantham
8. Confucianism and Communitarianism in a Liberal Democratic World
Russell Arben Fox

9. Confucianism with a Liberal Face: Democratic Politics in Postcolonial Taiwan
L. H. M. Ling and Chih-yu Shih

10. Beyond “East and West”: Nishida’s Universalism and Postcolonial Critique
Yoko Arisaka

11. Taoist Politics: An Other Way?
John J. Clarke

12. Postmodernity, Eurocentrism, and the Future of Political Philosophy
Hwa Yol Jung

Index

About the Contributors