

Fascism

Richard Thurlow

The University of Sheffield

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

|          |  |           |
|----------|--|-----------|
| 1 | What is fascism?                          | 1  |
|          | Interpretations of fascism                       | 1         |
|          | Theories of generic fascism                      | 2         |
|          | Fascism as an 'alternative revolution'           | 6         |
|          | Document case study                       | 10        |
|          | Notes and references                      | 11        |
| 2 | The origins of fascism                    | 12 |
|          | The deepest roots of fascism                     | 12        |
|          | The impact of the First World War                | 15        |
|          | The emergence of fascism                         | 16        |
|          | Fascism: the 'third way'?                        | 19        |
|          | Document case study                       | 20        |
|          | Notes and references                      | 20        |
| 3 | Mussolini and Italian Fascism             | 21 |
|          | The origins of Fascism                           | 22        |
|          | The rise of Fascism                              | 24        |
|          | The Fascist state                                | 28        |
|          | Mussolini's foreign policy                       | 33        |
|          | The Second World War and the collapse of Fascism | 35        |
|          | Document case study                       | 36        |
|          | Notes and references                      | 38        |
| 4 | Hitler and Nazism                         | 39 |
|          | The rise of Nazism                               | 39        |
|          | The Hitler state                                 | 47        |
|          | The meaning of Nazism                            | 54        |
|          | The impact of Nazism                             | 58        |
|          | Document case study                       | 59        |
|          | Notes and references                      | 61        |

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| 5 Other forms of fascism               | 62 |
| Fascism: the stillborn revolution             | 62        |
| The failure of fascism                        | 67        |
| Fascism re-evaluated                          | 68        |
| Document case study                    | 69        |
| Notes and references                   | 70        |
| 6 Anti-fascism                         | 71 |
| The united and popular fronts against fascism | 73        |
| The Spanish Civil War                         | 76        |
| Document case study                    | 79        |
| 7 The Nazi 'new order'                 | 81 |
| The 'rebirth' of Europe                       | 82        |
| Racial war                                    | 86        |
| Hitler's vision for the east                  | 88        |
| Document case study                    | 89        |
| Notes and references                   | 90        |
| 8 The end of fascism?                  | 91 |
| The unconditional surrender of Germany        | 92        |
| Fascism in post-war Italy and Germany         | 94        |
| Crypto-fascism in southern Europe             | 95        |
| Other manifestations of neo-fascism           | 95        |
| 'Euro-fascism'                                | 96        |
| The 'Holocaust denial'                        | 96        |
| The new racism                                | 97        |
| The future of fascism                         | 99        |
| Document case study                    | 100       |
| Select bibliography                           | 102       |
| Chronology                                    | 104       |
| Glossary                                      | 108       |
| Index   | 112       |