Note: The papers in this volume were first presented in a workshop jointly Hosted by the Max Planck School for the Law of Non-Private Goods and the Computer Science and Telecommunications Board of the U.S. National Research Council. However, the views expressed by their authors are those of the authors alone, and do not necessarily represent those of the Computer Science and Telecommunications Board or the National Research Council. A final report, drawing in part on these papers, will be published in early 2001.
