Nationalism and Internationalism in the Post-Cold War Era

Edited by Kjell Goldmann, Ulf Hannerz and Charles Westin
Contents

List of contributors xi
Acknowledgements xiv

Introduction: nationalism and internationalism in the post-Cold War era 1
Kjell Goldmann, Ulf Hannerz and Charles Westin

Programmes, conditions and processes 3
Multiple relations: religion, ethnicity, globalization 6
Primordialists and constructionists 12
The future of internationalism 16
The layout of this volume 18
Notes 19

PART I
Commitments and contexts: ethnicity and religion 23

1 Democracy, ethnic diversity and nationalism 25
Liah Greenfeld

The meaning of ‘ethnicity’ 25
‘Democracy’: definition 27
Nationalism and its general implications 29
Types of nationalism 31
The appeal of ethnic identity 34
Notes 36
2 Transnational ethnicity and subnational religion in Africa’s political experience

ALI A MAZRUI

Parochial religion and transnational ethnicity 37
Models of church–state relationships 40
Parochial ethnicity and transnationalizing religion 43
South Africa: the racial war that never was 46
Political violence: primary and secondary 47
Conclusion 49

3 Are Islamists nationalists or internationalists?

FREDRIK BARTH

Fundamentalism 51
Wellsprings 53
The Islamist constituency 56
Parameters for a political agenda 58
The shaping of political action 59
Conclusion 61
Notes 62

PART II

The Iron Curtain rising

4 From internationalism to nationalism?

Poland 1944–96

JERZY TOMASZEWSKI

The Communists and national traditions 67
Ideology and politics 69
The ambivalent propaganda 71
From internationalism to anti-Semitism 72
The opposition and minorities 77
What changed after 1989? 79
Contemporary Poland and the Jews 81
A legacy of the Communist system 84
Notes 85
5 Nationalism, internationalism and property in the post-Cold War era

KATHERINE VERDERY

What does the post-Cold War era mean? 87
Nationalism and internationalism: some Romanian examples 90
Romanians strategize into the post-Communist era 93
Property and identity 95
Socialist property and its restructuring 97
Acknowledgements 101
Notes 101

6 The little nation: minorities and majorities in the context of shifting geographies

SETENYE SHAMI

Introduction: latter-day nationalism 103
Majorities and minorities: the Caucasian experience 105
The Caucasus: the home front? 107
Jordan: the home front? 109
Inchoate nationalism 111
Globalization in the periphery 114
Omar and Hayrettin: martyrs of some sort? 115
Lena and Sveta: economics über alles 119
Conclusion: modernity unbound 124
Notes 126

PART III
Attachments and arrangements

7 The grounds of the nation-state: identity, violence and territory

ARJUN APPADURAI

Love of the nation 129
Full attachment 130
Predatory identities 132
Space and violence 134
Conclusion: globalization and governance 140
Notes 142
8 From Khartoum to Quebec: internationalism and nationalism within the multi-community state

KALEVI J. HOLSTI

Testing liberal internationalism: between states 145
Testing liberal internationalism: within the state 146
Framing the problem 147
Theories of the political community 148
The coming crisis of the civic state? 153
Within and between states: essential differences? 156
The birth of multi-community states 158
From Khartoum to Quebec: harbingers? 163
Conclusion 166
Notes 168

9 To be a European citizen: Eros and civilization

J. H. H. WEILER

Prologue 170
European citizenship: dilemmas and contradictions 171
The affective crisis of European citizenship 175
To be a European citizen: the official bread and circus vision 178
Towards the reconstruction of a European ethos 181
Towards a reconstruction of European citizenship: three views of multiple demoi 189
Democracy and European integration: to be a good European citizen 193
Note 194

PART IV
Images of world order

10 Nationalism and world order

STANLEY HOFFMANN

Defining terms 197
Political philosophies and nationalism 199
Is nationalism the enemy of world order? 203
World order in a world of nationalisms 209
Nationalism, liberalism, world order 213
Notes 215