THE STATE AND GLOBAL CHANGE

The Political Economy of Transition in the Middle East and North Africa

Edited by

Hassan Hakimian

and

Ziba Moshaver

CURZON
Contents

Preface ix

Notes on the Contributors xi

1. Introduction 1

Part I: Logic of and Strategies for Transformation

John Page and Linda Van Gelder

3. Structural Obstacles to Economic Adjustment in the MENA Region: The International Trade Aspects 59
Massoud Karshenas

4. From MENA to East Asia and Back: Lessons of Globalization, Crisis and Economic Reform 80
Hassan Hakimian

Part II: Processes and Outcomes

5. The Politics of Economic Liberalization: Comparing Egypt and Syria 111
Raymond Hinnebusch

6. Economic Reform and the State in Tunisia 135
Emma C. Murphy
Contents

7. International and Regional Environments and State Transformation in Some Arab Countries
   Mustapha Al-Sayyid  156

8. Restructuring the Public Sector in Post-1980 Turkey: An Assessment
   Oktar Türel  178

Part III: Rethinking the State and Global Change

9. States, Elites and the 'Management of Change'
   Charles Tripp  211

10. The Middle Eastern State: Repositioning not Retreat?
    Roger Owen  232

11. Global Change, Interdependence and State Autonomy: A View from the MENA Region
    Ziba Moshaver  248

Index  264