Contents

List of figures xi
List of tables xii
Notes on contributors xiv
Series editor's preface xvii

1 Introduction 1
PAUL DEKKER AND ERIC M. USLANER

Social capital, political science and everyday life 1
Plan of the book 3
References 7

2 Social capital: the missing link? 9
CHRISTIAAN GROOTAERT

The concept of social capital 9
Measuring social capital and its impact 18
Role of donors 24
Notes 25
References 26

3 Social capital in a multicultural society:
the case of Canada 30
RICHARD JOHNSTON AND STUART N. SOROKA

The argument 30
The argument expanded 31
Data and measures 34
Results 37
Discussion 40
4 The different faces of social capital in NSW Australia

JENNY ONYX AND PAUL BULLEN

- Current issues concerning social capital 45
- The structure of social capital 47
  - Comparing communities 50
  - Comparing other groups with the five communities 52
- Social capital, economic capital and human capital 54
  - Some theoretical implications 55
  - References 57

5 Studying civic culture ethnographically and what it tells us about social capital: communities in the West of Ireland

RICCA EDMONDSON

- Introduction 59
- Cultures and their self-inhibition of investigation 60
- Communities in the West of Ireland: grounded participation 65
- Note 70
- References 71

6 Traditional communities, caste and democracy: the Indian mystery

HANS BLOMKVIST

- Traditional communities are good! 73
- Or are they bad? 75
- Caste in India’s democracy 76
- Caste and associations 78
- IS caste good for democracy? 81
- Conclusion: further research 84
- Notes 86
- References 86
7  Religion and volunteering in the Netherlands
   JOEP DE HART

   Introduction and problem definition 89
   Data and measuring instruments 91
   Results 93
   Conclusions 98
   Notes 101
   References 102

8  Volunteering and social capital: how trust and religion shape civic participation in the United States
   ERIC M. USLANER

   Particularized trust and civic engagement 107
   Civic engagement and social capital 112
   The basis of civic engagement 113
   Notes 115
   References 116

9  'Getting to trust': an analysis of the importance of institutions, families, personal experiences and group membership
   DIETLIND STOLLE

   Introduction 118
   Previous research 119
   Hypotheses 120
   Data 122
   Indicators 123
   Results 124
   Conclusion 129
   Notes 131
   References 132

10 Membership and democracy
    PER SELLE AND KRISTIN STRØMSNES

    Introduction 134
    The neo-Tocquevillian approach 135
    The changing role of membership in the voluntary sector 136
    Decline or evolution? 138