Land and sustainable livelihood in Latin America
Table of contents

Contributors 5

List of tables, figures and maps 9

Preface 11

1 Introduction: linking land to livelihood 13
   Annelies Zoomers

2 Land and livelihood: what do we know, and what are the issues? 23
   Kirsten Appendini

Livelihood and multifunctional land-use in a transnational space: international migration

3 No land stands alone: social and environmental interdependency in a Bolivian watershed 39
   Susan Paulson

4 Rooted migrants: land and rural development in the Valle Alto of Cochabamba, Bolivia 59
   Geneviève Cortes

5 What's in the land? The multiple meanings of land in a transnationalized Mexican village 71
   Monique Nuijten

6 Institutional flexibility in a transnational community: managing collective natural resources in Mexico 93
   Kirsten Appendini, Raúl García Barrios, and Beatriz G. de la Tejera

7 Debating property: property relations and the cultural construction of community in Usibamba, Central Andes of Peru 107
   Pieter de Vries and José Manuel Gilvonio

Livelihood and land-use in a context of land privatization

8 Land reform and technology in Puno, Peru 125
   Arthur Morris

9 Conflict over natural resources and conservation in the indigenous community of Cuzalapa, Western Mexico 139
   Peter R.W. Gerritsen and Nancy R. Forster

10 Land reform, rural organization, and agrarian incomes in Nicaragua 157
   Ruerd Ruben, Luis Rodríguez and Orlando Cortez
11 Income generation strategies among Nicaraguan agricultural producers
Benjamin Davis, Calogero Carletto, and Norman Piccioni

Livelihood and land-use in a global competitive sphere

12 Globalization and survival of the smallholder producer: a case study of land-use change in Tingambato, Mexico
Laura Paulson

13 Economic strategies of rural producers: a comparison of ejido and Mennonite agriculture in Mexico
Ute Schüren

14 Agro-export production and agricultural communities: land tenure and social change in the Guatulame Valley, Chile
Anna Bee

Final reflections

15 Land and sustainable livelihood: issues for debate
Annelies Zoomers