Oasis of Dreams
Teaching and Learning Peace
in a Jewish-Palestinian Village in Israel

Grace Feuerverger

RoutledgeFalmer
New York    London
Contents

3

The Pedagogy of Peace: Language Awareness in the Neve Shalom/Wahat Al-Salam Elementary School 51

Emancipatory Discourse: "Border Crossing" and Peacemaking 51

Theoretical Considerations 52

Complexities of the Hebrew-Arabic Asymmetry 54

The Israeli Educational School System: A Brief Overview 56

The Language of Peace: A Reflective Look at the Teachers and Learners in the Village School 59

The Sociolinguistic Background 68

Language Awareness and Second Language Learning in Israel 69

The New Language Center in Neve Shalom/Wahat Al-Salam: Implications for Language Pedagogy 71

Implications for Multilingual Education 75

The Allure of English: A Language of Dominion 76

Insider-Outsiderness along the Sociolinguistic Border: A Personal Narrative 78

Ma Chère Langue Française: Escape from Despair 81

Concluding Remarks 84

Endnotes 84

4

Witnessing Trauma: The "School for Peace" 85

Introduction to an Interpretive Inquiry 85

Toward a Pedagogy of Hope: The Mystery of Mediation 90

The Three-Day Encounter 91

First Glimpse: Personal Musings 92

Border Dialogues: Language, "Otherness," and Exile 93

The First Day: Narratives of Vulnerability 96

The Second Day: Longing for Legitimacy 100

The Role of the Facilitators: Teaching Conflict Resolution 102

The Third Day: Deconstructing the Discourse of Victimhood 105

The Specter of the Holocaust Revisited: Reactions to the Persian Gulf War 108

Concluding Remarks 112

Endnotes 113